A Sermon

America has three big F's. They stand for farm, factory and finance. They cover the nation and make it what it is. You may be neither a farmer, a factory worker nor a financier but, if not, you are probably so dependent on one of the three groups that you are one with it, in thought and aim. There are exceptions, but the big F's tie in all of us but a small minority.

In the matter of stability, the three F's are as dependent on each other as the legs of a stool. If one goes down, they all topple. Neither of these big groups of people can enjoy prosperity long unless the others likewise prosper. And here is a wonder of all time: Why are these three classes suspicious of each other? Why do they so consistently work against each other?

Farmers' Markets
When is the agricultural industry prosperous? The answer is plain to any observing farmer: Farmers have a quick market for all they produce, at good prices, only when factory workers are very largely employed at good wages. Laborers constitute a big class and they work hard. When they have good jobs they eat well, cover their tables with the best of what farmers sell.

Here is where the preaching starts: Since farm prosperity depends on good wages at factories, it is in every farmer's interest to work for the healthy welfare of labor. Why then does the political Farm Bloc concern itself so avidly with class legislation instead of working for the thing that always helps the farmer—namely, labor's sound advancement?

The Workman's Pay
This is definitely a Christian teaching. The illustrious Paul, who wrote most of the New Testament, said, "Do not take account of your own interests, but the interests of others as well." Moreover the rule is not confined to the farm for its application. It is just as righteous and just as practical for the use of working men who want to improve their living standards. Thus: When do laborers enjoy steady work at high wages? Every thinking worker knows the answer. Labor prospers when men of wealth put out their money, expanding old businesses and building new ones.

Of course it is for their own gain but it pays the workers. Mystery! Why don't labor's leaders do their best to make investments attractive? Such strategy would pay rich and direct returns. It is the only way to higher and higher wages.

And Profits Too.
Returns to employers respond to the same rule. Factory owners sell 80% of all they make to laborers and farmers. These men wear good clothes, drive good cars and modernize their homes when they can afford it. Any financier, able to see which side of his bread is buttered, knows where profits come from. They come from prosperous, buying farmers and happy, well-paid workers.

If the three big F's would look out for one another; if employers never oppressed labor; if farmers did not envy capitalists; if workers never used intimidation, prosperity would certainly follow. It would be for us all. The code that Jesus upheld in the Sermon on the Mount 2,000 years ago is still good. Communism, envy, greed and violence can't live in the climate with applied Christianity.

Don't Shoot the Red-Head
School boys in this area are being asked to help save the red-head peckerwood from total extinction, it is stated in an appeal sent here by the Southern States Forestfire Commission, Inc.

"The peckerwood because of his red-head has been the target for millions of hunters, and unless shooting of this valuable wild bird is checked it will become extinct like the famed whistling swan. The peckerwood is one of the most valuable friends to timber growers, as he is like the sap-sucker, feeds on tree borers and other harmful insects", the statement avers. Furthermore, he is the most business-like and industrious of all the feathered friends. For instance, in digging a nest in an old tree, he is never late for his 'shift'.
"He uses his head in building his home and digging out the enemies of trees, but the red top on his crown gets the eye of careless shooters," the statement concludes.

Behind Your Bonds
Lies the Might of America

UNDEVELOPED WEALTH

Pennsylvania leads the Nation in the production of coal, coal tar, pig iron, ferro-alloys, sand, stone, cement, coke, slate and sulphuric acid. It has the largest aluminum producer and is first in machine shop products. Its legion of diversified factories will meet post-war needs, adding billions to the Nation's wealth in which all investors in Savings Bonds are shareholders.

YOUNG BRAZILIAN LIKES THE U.S. WAY OF LIFE

Francisco Oswald, handsome young Brazilian lawyer, who has just completed a year studying personnel and manufacturing methods at Western Electric Company under a scholarship established by the Inter-American Affairs Committee, has sampled many phases of American life and has found practically everything to his liking. He is impressed most of all by our war production. "What you have done and the speed and skill with which you do it knocks me down."

"I am also amazed by your educational system. I never expected to find so many well educated people in the plants and on the street. Everybody here can get a good education. In Brazil our colleges and universities are good. Our high schools in the big cities are good also, but in the country—no. It is the lack of transportation. You cannot have good schools in the country if you cannot get to the schools. It is too bad."

Francisco developed a great enthusiasm for our sports and food—he has gained fifteen pounds so far—and for our girls, who ask him first thing if he can dance the Samba, and he even learned to prefer our cigarettes and coffee to Brazilian brands.

In speaking of Brazilian-United States relations, Francisco says, "In my enthusiasm for the United States, I am typical of my generation. It is the dream of every Brazilian boy to visit North America some day. We read so much about it in our books and magazines and of course your movies have great influence."

"Lot of truth in that saying!"

Why is there a lot of truth in the slogan, "The Southern Serves the South"?

Because the rails of the 8,000-mile Southern Railway System reach into every state, except West Virginia, in all that vast area east of the Mississippi and south of the Ohio and Potomac Rivers.

And because serve means "to work for; to promote the interest of; and to aid."

The Southern works for the South...by providing a permanent, efficient, economical mass transportation service that can be relied upon...in all kinds of weather...to meet the transport needs of the South's people, and of its industry, commerce and agriculture.

It promotes the interests of the South...by encouraging new industries, homeseekers, and vacationists to come here to work and live and play.

It aids the South...by providing steady work for 50,000 men and women; by paying huge sums in taxes that help support schools and other public services; and by stimulating trade through its large-scale purchases of local products.

So, there is a lot of truth in that saying. Proudly...and gladly...the "Southern Serves the South."
