Uncle Sam Says

Sixty-three years ago this month, Americans discovered a new way of joshing a neighbor who invested his money wisely: "Go buy yourself Brooklyn Bridge." Brooklyn Bridge had just been opened. Some people actually turned over their savings to confidence men who sold them the great New York span. I could say to you today: "Go buy yourself a bridge, and I would be giving you sound advice. The bridge I have in mind consists of United States Savings Bonds... a bridge between the present and your future."

Hostess at White House Dolly Madison was the first White House hostess to hold that honor for more than eight years, as she was the official hostess for Pres. Thomas Jefferson, a widower, when her husband, James Madison, was secretary of state, and was hostess for the eight years in which Madison was President.

FORCAST STORMS FROM MIDGET QUAKES

Little Extra Investment in Roof Is Well Worth the Outlay

By W. WADSWORTH WOOD

THE roof is one of the most important features of the house, not only because of its appearance factor, but also because of the vital part it plays in providing protection from the weather. It is never wise to attempt to economize on the choice of roofing material; a little extra money will be well invested here. After you study the types of roofing available, and decide which is the most appropriate to your needs, it should be purchased from a reliable dealer.

Roofs of slate or tile are durable and extremely handsome, but the matter of weight is of primary importance in considering a roof of this type. Tile roofs are particularly appropriate to the Spanish mission style house, and are available in two shapes; the barrel tile, or half-round Spanish tile, and the flat tile.

A recent development in roofing is the insulating roof which comes in large rigid pieces and is laid directly over the rafters, eliminating the roof boards. As peacetime production is resumed, it is expected widely available in galvanized iron, that low-cost metal roofing will be plain or lead-coated copper, zinc and aluminum. Metal roofs are applied in sheets with standing seams, creating an interesting shadow pattern.

The manufacturers of roofing materials offer illustrated literature describing the variety and use of their products, and a study of these folders will prove both informative and helpful to a prospective home builder. Your local lumber dealer is always glad to show you samples, and may even have complete roof sections on display in a variety of styles and colors.

Companion Trees Since apple trees depend upon "companion" or pollinator varieties for good pollination, the trees of any one variety should not be planted in large solid blocks. Where such blocks are established, grafting and the use of bouquets from suitable trees at blossoming time, are suggested as temporary remedial measures.

FASCINATING STORY OF MOTHER CABRINI Diminutive in size but gigantic in her record of achievements, the "Little Saint," first American woman to be canonized, is credited with many miracles. Read the story of this remarkable woman in the June 16th issue of THE AMERICAN WEEKLY.
