Strike—At Whom?

Financial reports make interesting reading to people who know even a little bit about what they mean. To some, they look drab because they are printed mainly in figures; many students never have learned to enjoy studying figures. Just the same, dull old numerals tell the truth in a romantic way to those who love cold facts of struggle and adventure.

Late in May it was my good fortune to have with me an annual report of one of America's largest corporations when I had to spend three hours on a day train. In the back of my mind as I rode along, was a lurking fear that I might reach home a day (maybe a week) late because of labor troubles, just then coiling to strike. My dread threw a dread light on the figures in hand.

Division of Wealth

The company about which I was reading plays an important part in the lives of more than a quarter of a million people: 100,000 employees and 150,000 stockholders. Two out of every five of these people drew wages while three out of five received dividends. The average share owner got less than $500 a year. The average employee took home more than $2,500 a year.

Daily newspapers for days had reported threats of strikes in the plants of the firm I was studying, also on the lines of the railroad I was riding, and in many other industries. Question: If all the employees of all the companies strike for what they want and get it, who will pay the difference? How will they pay it? These questions have answers and they're not secrets.

Enter Apple Conductor

The train stopped for a few minutes under the sheds of a big town station and a railway newsboy came through with fresh afternoon papers. On page one, under Washington date-line, a wire story told how OPA would grant higher prices on automobiles. Nearby was another item about a 10% boost in shoe prices. Then I remembered that bread and milk and meat all had gone up recently.

Whether you ride or walk or only eat, the price gains catch you. Wages are inside the cost of every manufactured thing, and the consumer pays. It is too obvious to deserve proof. Not long ago officialdom was sounding off freely about how wages in Detroit could be boosted without charging higher prices for automobiles but it didn't work out that way. Why?

It is because strikes are not tools. The official theory was right: Wages can go up without boosting prices but production has to be increased if it happens, and strikes don't increase production. Sudden wage increases of 18% to 30% have to come from somewhere, but where? A stockholder drawing $500 a year can't offer much of a boon to a $2,500 wage earner.

Strikes can't take something from the owners of a company that the owners don't get. That leaves nobody to pay the higher wages but Mr. Consumer whose family drives the car, wears the shoes and eats the food. A large majority of consumers are themselves workers. In the absence of increased production, a strike is a boomerang. It hits the consumer who is the worker himself.

See 'Spray-Packing' of Use in Farm Storage

A new quartermaster method of storing weather-sensitive machinery holds promise of application to agriculture machinery which farmers are forced to leave in the open during long winter months. The procedure, known as "spray packing," consists of enveloping machines in a cheaper weather resistant material resembling leather and then subjecting it to four spraying operations.

To form the cover or envelope over the machinery, frame or network is built around the object. When the object is completely caged, the first spray, called the "webbing agent," is applied with a spray gun held parallel to the cage.

When the web has been formed, the first coating spray is then applied with the gun pointing directly at the surface. The spray for this operation is dyed yellow so that it can be readily ascertained that the entire surface has been covered. When the object is completely covered with the four applications, it is practically hermetically sealed within a tough, resilient container that will last, exposed to the weather, from 5 to 10 years, but which may be easily cut with a knife and readily stripped from the object.

Sketches Of Business and Professional Leaders In Greensboro, Who Have Played An Important Part In The Sales Of United States Savings Bonds. Buy Bonds To Your Limit.

Greensboro is noted for its outstanding business leaders, but none rank higher than F. H. Church, manager of the Bond Finance Company, auto loan agents, with offices located at 300 North Green street in Greensboro, for his kindness and consideration of others has set a noble example worthy of emulation.

The Bond Finance Company has always been the seat of hospitality, and visitors or strangers or friends are received with that cordiality and welcome which springs only from the warmest feelings of the heart. Mr. Church is a valuable auto loan man to the people of Greensboro and throughout this area and is a able and accomplished business leader. He is an outstanding individual in community affairs and one of the few men whom all the people seem to look to for leadership in any civic project.

Being at the head of an organization the size of the Turner Sign Company, who offers the people of this area signs of all kinds, both commercial and Neon, being the largest sign company operating in the S. E. States, located at corner of Walker avenue and Spring street, Greensboro, requires an order of ability not possessed by the average man. But E. V. (Ed) Turner, the owner of this prominent sign concern, loves the responsibility which it carries.

Any city grows and prospers by reason of the public spirited men and women who take an active interest in its development. Greensboro has its share of these civic minded people, and one who is deserving of special mention in the columns of today's issue is none other than Ed Turner.

Mr. Turner's executive ability and personality have been the major factors

Greensboro is famed for the sons who have served her well regardless of the personal loss or gain. But R. A. Gibbs, the owner of the Gibbs Machine Company, located at 1023 West Lee street in Greensboro, is one to receive a little praise which is actually due him. Out of the large circle of people in the state who are privileged to call him friend, there are only a few who know how big his actual accomplishments are.

Mr. Gibbs' success has been well earned through his constant efforts and by his fair and square dealings with his associates and many patrons of this concern. After stepping into this position, he straightway set about to make the most of the position, not in the sense of personal gain or aggrandizement, but he made the most of it for the interest of the many patrons of this concern, and there is no doubt in the writer's mind that Mr.

The attempt to catalog the various and important Marble and Tile men throughout the city of Greensboro and surrounding area, calling into service the technical skill of a leader would require columns. But suffice it to say that no man has ever acquitted himself of the arduous duties connected with the Marble and Tile business in a more admirable manner than can be truthfully said of C. D. Tedder, owner of The Greensboro Marble and Tile Co., located at 1593 West Lee street, Greensboro.

Mr. Tedder is a man with years of experience and practical training that took time and effort to acquire. He has been a hard worker and never calls the day ended until the problems at hand have been finished or else put into tangible shape for the next day's work. He has held various posts but

No two men ever arrive at success by the same route. Were it a cut and dried rule, applicable in every case, then it would be easy for us all. But notwithstanding the divergence of approaches, there are certain fundamental principles in which the average man must make a part of himself before he can essay the first turning. These are judgment, integrity, perseverance and honesty.

C. E. "Bud" Lanford, the manager of the Atlantic Insulation Company, dealers in Johns Manville Blown Rock Wool, located at 1324 Westover Terrace, Greensboro, offering the home owners expert service on their insulation problems, and about whom this article is written, is one of the most valuable citizens and outstanding business leaders. He is known as an expert.

His useful and varied service during the time he has served the people in this area cannot be enumerated here. But suffice it to say, as an Auto Loan leader, he holds a high position of solidity of judgment, enlightened knowledge of public interest. Faithful devotion to the duty of caring for the many hundred customers he has in this area.

The Bond Finance Company, in recent years, has gained a reputation that has spread far and wide for highest class service and courtesy. Every good cause has found him an earnest, efficient friend and advocate. We feel that Mr. Church has been a great benefactor to the people of this area. This writer congratulates him upon his record and wishes for him many more years of successful business as he has enjoyed in the past number of years.

In his maintaining this position of vital importance in the business life of Greensboro and North Carolina. He is the type of man who makes friends and friendships once formed with him is never broken by an unfriendly act on his part. He spares no effort that the services of this prominent concern to the people throughout the city and all this area shall be unexcelled.

Mr. Turner has never been known to inject himself into a situation for the mere purpose of gaining publicity. He proceeds in a calm, unostentatious manner, and accomplishes his objective with a quiet dignity. For the reason the true estimate of his worth is sometimes missed. We do not hesitate to recommend Mr. Turner to our friends and readers as a true example of American citizenship. This writer sincerely subscribes to the estimates of Mr. Turner's worth.

Gibbs is one of the most valuable citizens of Greensboro, and out for any endeavor that will benefit the state as a whole.

The success and confidence which Mr. Gibbs has gained from the people of Greensboro did not come by accident, but it is a direct result of having done so well by the people of the state, after serving the people of Greensboro and surrounding area for the past number of years.

It is with pride that we can mention in the columns of this issue the accomplishments of Mr. Gibbs, one of the most respected citizens, who can be counted upon to share his part in the responsibilities in making North Carolina the prosperous state which it is today.

Greensboro can never have too many sons of Mr. Gibbs' type in business, as every citizen is benefited by his service.

none that has ever given him more scope of exercise of his natural abilities than since he has been in the Marble and Tile business.

Mr. Tedder is a man broad of vision, forceful and energetic, always willing to co-operate with other business leaders of Greensboro in the welfare of their city and its trading area, and he merits recognition for his performance in the part he has played in making Greensboro the metropolitan city it is.

Conscientious, to the last degree, Mr. Tedder has won the esteem of the business people in Greensboro and its trading area and his excellent work and business methods has not gone unnoticed. It is such business leaders as C. D. Tedder who well merits recognition and we prophesy a steady continuance of his success.

pert with a scrupulous fidelity and distinguished ability. Few men have been so eminently successful as has Mr. Lanford.

Mr. Lanford's past bears every indication that he is fully gifted with all the knowledge that it takes to make a successful business leader. He works with unflinching zeal to bring about results that are constructive and satisfying and he is always on hand to answer a call when needed to further the growth and development of our city and state.

The production of cheese is the earliest form of dairy manufacturing. Recognizing the strength-giving properties of cheese, the Jews and the Romans fed it to their armies, and the Greeks gave it to wrestlers to increase their endurance.

Deep Sea Fish

Fish will not burst or blow apart when they come to the surface but most fish, if they get in shallow water, will die because their air bladders and abdominal cavities collapse from pressure of air without pressure of water.

NOTICE

STOPPING THE SALE OF THE SEIZED SUGAR

This is to notify all persons that the Sale of the Seized Sugar which was advertised for sale on the 2nd day of August, 1946, has been stopped and will not be held due to the complete change of O. P. A. Law since the 19th day of July when the same was advertised and the lack of O. P. A. regulations under the new law. The sugar was duly advertised for sale heretofore under and in accordance with the State Law made applicable to all property seized by Enforcement Officers in the performance of their duty and after and in cooperation with the O. P. A. Office under the regulations in force at the time of the advertisement. But since that time the whole O. P. A. Law has been changed and time has not been sufficient to secure the regulations that may be necessary and deeming it necessary to be fully informed as to these changes in order that all laws, State and Federal, may be complied with, the said sale has been stopped and this Public Notice is given.

This, the 29th day of July, 1946.
E. L. IVEY,
Sheriff of Alamance County.
