

Presidential Omen
Neither political party in the 60-year period has reflected its candidate for the presidency immediately after losing an off-year election.

Dielectric Value
Because of their high dielectric value, coatings based on phenolic resins have found large usage for electrical insulation. The reddish brown coating on motor armature windings is phenolic.

SOME short while back, one of the leaders in college football asked your correspondent to name the 15 leading coaches in the country. The only answer we could think of in a given time limit was this: "The 15 coaches who have the best material."
There is little questioning the fact that for the season of 1946, Red Blaik of Army deserved his award, due largely to the fact that Red and his staff carried Army three years without a defeat.
Time and again we have been asked to rank the coaches in order. This is an impossible job. Look over just a few from the list—Neyland of Tennessee, Blaik of Army, Harlow of Harvard, Little of Columbia, Crisler of Michigan, Thomas of Alabama, Leahy of Notre Dame, McMillin of Indiana, Neely of Rice, Butts of Georgia, McKeever of Cornell, Wade of Duke, Snavely of North Carolina, Odell of Yale, LeBrucherie of U.C.L.A., Bierman of Minnesota—but why keep on? This is only a partial list, where, if given the same material and the same schedules, luck would have to write the story.
I can say this. There is no bunch connected with sport that gives as much time, thought, worry and complete concentration as football coaches give. They brood by day and night. An ankle, a shoulder, a knee or a back can make all the difference in the world. Those in front figure they must stay there. The losers must win a game or two. There is a big difference in material from time to time but the old grads and the public at large never consider this. They look only to the final scores. Such coaches as Red Drew of Mississippi, Red Sanders of Vanderbilt and Paul Bryant of Kentucky may be unknown nationally, but they are as good as the best with what they have.

Bierman

'A Coaches' Coach'
There may be a better coach than Dick Harlow of Harvard—but who is he? Neyland of Tennessee can keep pace with anyone. Jock Sutherland was the coaches' coach in college until he came over to pro ranks. Spend a few days with Steve Owen and Greasy Neale, in or out of season—and you get part of the answer—fall, winter, spring and summer—they're always talking and thinking football, still playing over games they lost.
Lonnie Stagg at 84 was still in harness this last season, reluctant to retire. Lonnie was a star at Yale, 60 years ago. With all the tears they shed and all the moaning they give the world, it is almost impossible to shake them loose without using a grenade.
Your correspondent more than once has ducked the opportunity of picking or trying to pick the 10 best coaches of all time. Looking back to something over 40 years we'd say that four of the best were Pop Warner, Knute Rockne, Hurry-up Yost and Percy Haughton.
Pop Warner gave football more on the technical side than anyone else, including the single and double wing, a system still just as effective as the T.

Colorful Yost
Yost gave football its first flare of coaching color and Michigan its first great college football record—56 victories in five years, blemished only by a tie with Minnesota, before Chicago broke the string in 1905. Knute Rockne brought to football its greatest combination of coaching ability, human interest and personality. Rock, in addition to being a great coach, was also the game's star personal contribution when it came to human contact.
Bob Zuppke of Illinois brought to football coaching the added gifts of philosophy and humor. Zup had more color than two rainbows. One of his best friends was the late Howard Jones of Yale and Southern California. No two men were ever further apart as human beings. But they were fine coaches and close pals.
Haughton of Harvard today is a greatly underrated coach. Cold, hard, austere, he was one of the greatest. A star tactician and technician, Haughton was probably the best of all in discipline. As Tack Hardwick told me once, "If Haughton told Harvard to jump off a 100 foot cliff and he would catch us—we'd all jump. And Percy would catch us."

Character Builders
The thousand, at least a thousand, football coaches we've met and known in the last 40 odd years, have made an almost unbelievable contribution, not only to sport, but also to the good of the nation at large. Not all of them, of course. But the big majority have turned out a great job in the way of training, instruction, discipline and, if you'll pardon the phrase, "character building."
Did you ever know Dan McGugh or Lonnie Stagg? Ask their players, many of them now gray or bald.

To prevent windows from sticking, rub a little floor wax in the window sash groove.
To remove the metal base of an electric light bulb that has broken in the socket, push a cork into the base and turn it.
Winter window washing is made a lot easier by adding denatured alcohol to the water to prevent freezing. Wipe quickly with crushed tissue paper.
Fish Net with Arm Holes
For arctic wear, to keep out the bitter cold, the regular army has adopted a string vest devised by Norwegian fishermen to provide an air space between the body and outside clothing. The G.I.s have dubbed it "a fish net with arm holes."

Fact Finding
Mother—More pudding, Jimmy? Your eyes are bigger than your stomach, child.
Jimmy—That doesn't seem reasonable, mother. Let us experiment and either establish or disprove the assertion definitely.
Half In, Half Out
Woman (on telephone)—I sent my little boy to your store for two pounds of plums and I got only a pound. Your scales must be wrong.
Fruit Dealer—My scales are all right, madam. Have you tried weighing your little boy?

Solid Advice
Psychiatrist—the thing for you to do is to forget about your troubles and bury yourself in your work.
Man—Gosh, and me a concrete mixer.

Practical Instruction For the Home Nurse

ALONG with her countless other duties, Mother frequently must serve as home nurse. Whether it's treating baby's colic or sponge-bathing a feverish patient, she has to know all the answers.
