

FRANKLINTON DEPARTMENT CONTINUED.

Linen Shower

On December 28th at the beautiful home of Mr. C. J. Ward, just out of town, Miss Grace Ward gave a linen shower in honor of Miss Nena Ballard, a bride-to-be. The guests were received by Miss Ward and were shown to the library where they participated in heart dice. Miss Catherine Ballard won the prize, which she presented to the guest of honor. After the game the guests were shown to the parlor where Miss Ballard, the bride-to-be, was seated under a huge stocking, which, when the ribbons were pulled, showered the bride-to-be with linen of every conceivable kind.

Miss Francis Winston was toast master and filled the position with great credit. The responses were interesting.

Punch was served by Miss Josephine Henley. Delicious refreshments were served in the dining room by Misses Henley and Moss. Music was furnished by the band during the evening.

The party dispersed and met with Mr. and Mrs. R. B. White at their home, where a sumptuous supper was given the bridal party. We were informed by those present that the entire affair was one to be remembered and Mr. and Mrs. White were accorded indeed charming host and hostess.

BRILLIANT MARRIAGE OF POPULAR COUPLE.

Miss Nena Parker Ballard becomes the bride of Mr. J. B. Cheatham, of Atlanta.

The marriage of Miss Nena Parker Ballard, daughter of Mr. B. W. Ballard, to Mr. J. B. Cheatham, of Atlanta, Ga., took place at four o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Methodist Episcopal church, the ceremony being performed by Rev. N. H. Wilson, of Laurinburg.

The church was artistically decorated for the occasion with palms, ferns, holly, cut flowers and running cedar. The windows were darkened and the church softly illuminated by many candles. While the assembled friends waited for the ceremony, Mr. Kimbrough Jones, of Raleigh, beautifully rendered a violin solo, accompanied on the organ by Miss Mabel Vann. To the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march, the bridal party entered the church as follows: the ushers, Mr. R. Bruce White and Mr. A. H. Vann, Mr. W. H. Nelms (of Atlanta), and Mr. D. C. McGehee (Mr. Richard Rogers, of Atlanta, and Mr. Wm. B. Ward, of Atlanta, entering the centre aisles in couples, followed by the maids of honor and the groomsmen entering with them from separate aisles. The bridesmaids wore dresses of white mull and carried bouquets of white carnations tied with white chiffon ribbon. These were Miss Grace Ward, of Richmond, Va., Miss Nellie Conway, Miss Kate Ballard, Miss Annie Glenn Cheatham, of Norfolk, Va. The groomsmen, Mr. W. J. Ballard, Mr. Donald Cheatham, of Norfolk, Mr. R. A. Winston.

The maid of honor, Miss Mattie H. Ballard, entered alone immediately preceding the bride. She was gowned in pink, carrying bridesmaid roses, tied with pink chiffon ribbon. The bride entered with her father. She was exquisitely gowned in white satin trimmed with duchesse lace and seeded pearls and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley, her tulle veil looped with the same flowers. She was happily met at the chancel by the groom, who entered from the choir door at the rear with the best man, his brother, Mr. E. J. Cheatham.

While the vows were being taken the beautiful strains of the violin in "Traumrie" made the ceremony sweet and impressive. Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as a recessional.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom left on a south-bound train for an extended tour through Florida.

The following out of town relatives and friends were present at the ceremony. Capt. Bole, of Townsville, Maj. Peck, of Warrenton, Mrs.

Fortune Telling

Does not take into consideration an essential to woman's happiness—womanly health. The woman who neglects her health is neglecting the very foundation of all good fortune. This Prescription has, for over 40 years, been doing delicate, weak, pain-wracked women, by the hundreds of thousands, and this too in the privacy of their homes without their having to submit to indelicate questioning and offensive gynecological examinations.
