Pleasant Evening Reveries.—A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tides

CRUDE THOUGHTS FROM THE EDITORIAL PEN

We often wonder why it is that people, if they know any good of their neighbor, seem to think it their duty to keep the fact a secret, never to be divulged until their neighbor has passed away and is laid in his grave, and then to be brought to light when it can be of no earthly benefit to him. It is not so with their faults, which all take more or less pleasure in magnifying before the public. Many a man has been driven to the dogs for the want of a little encouragement and a just recognition of his honest efforts to do right, that are not appreciated by his fellow men. If people would take one hair the trouble to encourage others in well doing, that they do to circulate everything they hear derogatory of them the world would be much better and many a man saved from becoming a criminal. Men whose good deeds are ignored by society and whose slightest fault is continually harped upon and magnified, soon lose all self respect and care nothing for society, because society cares nothing for them. They may know they do wrong; but if it is no credit to do right what encouragement have they to do better. One-half of the criminals in our jails and penitentiaries have been made such, in all probabilities by the unkindness of their fellow men, who have always stood ready to condemn every little offence, without stopping to inquire into the circumstances that may have caused the party to do wrong. We should put ourselves in our neighbor's place surrounded by the same circumstances, then we would be better able to judge and not have to wait till they are dead before we could say something good about them.

The articles of this department have been the very cream and essence of thought, the very best thing as tersely and beautiful expressed as can be coined out of the English language and coming to you every week, if saved up for a year, you would have a batch of the choicest gems of literature and we believe, the very best and purest things that can be said in behalf of the home. This is the only county paper that gives you something especially for the home every week, and has now followed it up for years. It is perfectly right and legitimate that you should commend a good thing.

Hard words, unkind acts may be forgiven, but they may never be effaced from memory. An injustice that wrongs or injures or pains a brother, sister or friend stands there forever. You may atone for it, repent of it, try to repair it, make double or treble compensation for it, but you cannot recall it; it is done and can never be helped, though it might have been prevented before it happened. Many a hasty, inconsiderate act has led to a life of sorrow; many an act, even trivial, has been the occasion of frequent bitter memories for a long lifetime; whereas an act of kindness and forgiveness, which it would have been better and wiser and easier to do, would have rewarded the doers with a glow of graceful pride and pleasure, every time in after years it came to mind.

THE BOYS SHADOW

Recently the mother of a boy who is about twelve years of age made complaint before a judge that her son was unruly and she feared he was associating with company that in the end would bring disgrace to him and her. The judge told the son to stop near him, and in a pleasant tone of voice said, pointing to the parent, "Boy, there is the only true friend you have; obey her. Let me impress this on your mind; think of it, remember it. Whatever shadow you cast in life will follow you as long as you live and always keep up to you. That is your repa-tion. It is always in sight and just your size exactly, and how proud and happy it will make your fond mother if you will stop going with bad youths and stand in such a position in the sunlight of heaven that your shadow will always be on the side of honesty and respectability. Go home this time with your mother and turn over a new leaf and prevent the law from sending you to the reform school." Golden words. No more pertinent truth was ever spoken; no wiser counsel ever proffered by mortal lips. Your reputation in your community is your shadow. It is exactly your size, and you can never get away from it; though you may see a thousand miles of a cloudy day, the moment you show yourself in public your shadow is at your side. Your habits and modes of thought have left their imprint upon your features, unconsciously controlling your speech and action, and dissembling as much as you may, are constantly signaling from behind the mask that you are not what you pretend to be.

"Let us find our sweetest comfort.

In the blessings of May."

Tomorrow may not bring us flowers so if today we find a blossom in the way, let us cherish it.

Tomorrow's sky may be clouded, but if today the earth is golden with sunshine, let us take thought of the brightest and be glad.

Every day brings some gladness. It may be; and often is, a very little piece, but it is all there is for us, so we may "make the most of it."

If the pleasantness of a little ride come to you, educate your eyes and mind to enjoy it. See the grace of the bending grasses and green branches. If there are flowers smiling anywhere, see them. If they do not bloom find others to care for. If you have a restful hour in the sunny pleasant home-corner with a helpful book or the company of a friend, be glad enough of it, make the most of it. There may be no quiet hours tomorrow. If there are you are so much the better off, and if not, you have had the rest and the gladness of this.
