TO OUR PATRONS.

It has become necessary that we again call your attention to the fact that we need money to run our business. This is the time of year that you will have more money than at any other season. If you owe us don't you think it your duty to come in and pay us? We are honestly in need of money and must raise some some way and we sincerely hope that you will come in in the next few days and pay us what you owe, and you will have our best wishes and appreciation.

EDITOR

Has R. A. P. Cooley retired from the race? We have not heard from him recently.

A MAN who will enter the primaries and then bolt the ticket places his honor at stake.

BUTLER says he will explain away that advertisement in Raleigh tonight. Possibly so, but it will be only to his own satisfaction.

EAT and drink what you can get today with joy, and make merry, for tomorrow—if the Republicans should win—prices may go up again.

Don't forget to go out to the polls and vote Tuesday. It is your duty and if you fail to do so you have committed a crime against yourself and family.

It is the duty of every man who took a part in the Democratic primaries last spring to go out to the polls and vote the straight Democratic ticket Tuesday.

REMEMBER Maine, where the Democrats won a glorious victory because but few Democrats failed to vote. To get your vote in is the final test of your Democracy.

SPEAKER Cannon asks that Republicans stand up and be counted. That's all right, uncle Joe, but a good many declare they won't stand up, and lots want to be counted on the Democratic side.

MARION Butler has been shouting himself hoarse to the effect that the democrats were afraid to meet him. He evidently ran across one man in Concord, who was not afraid to face him.—Raleigh Times.

SINCE the Colonel has turned his attention to partisan politics the nature fakirs are getting active again. We hear of another living toad embedded in rock, and of an eagle carrying off a sleeping infant to its nest.

The followers of the Colonel are beseeching him: "Lead, Kindly Light, Amid the Encircling Gloom." The Colonel, tudging along at the head of the Insurgent procession, calls out of the fog: "I can't, I've lost my way!"

Boss Penrose's candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, John K. Tener, has not taken the opportunity to explain his participation in the National Public Utilities Corporation swindle, and yet the Republican machine will count him in unless the majority against him is over 100,000.

A most terrific political indictment—because true—of a statesman or politician was published about Mr. Roosevelt in the New York World of October 20th. Every citizen who is a tax payer and a voter should read it and see what Rooseveltism has cost him in the last few years.

It now looks as if Butler made a regular business of advertising for those carpet bag bonds. Other advertisements of the same nature of the one taken from the New York Evening Post in our last issue, has been found in another New York paper in October 1901.

THE Republican confidence men and fake spellbinders are working overtime trying to take advantage of the human nature that is natural to us all. But as Lincoln said: "You can fool some of the people all of the time, all of the people some of the time, but you can't fool all of the people all of the time."

It seems almost too much to expect that partisan Republicans will do the square thing, although the census should be entirely non-partisan. The census frauds are so widespread that they must have been organized from some political center, and nearly all the frauds that have been exposed are in Republican states. Turn the rascals out!

MR. ROOSEVELT, when President, was good to the bosses; he faithfully shook the federal plum tree for Aldrich, Cannon, Quay, Penrose, Platt, and even Addicks. But now that he is out of office, Mr. Roosevelt is trying to tickle the public palate by denouncing the bosses who are not on his side; however, he still snuggles up to some of them.

If, in consequence of the high cost of living, you cannot afford to buy real wool clothing for yourself, wife and little ones this winter, and you altogether with cold, remember that a Republican Congress refused to reduce the high tariff rates of the wool schedule which allows the Woolen Trust to charge about double price for its products, and did nothing that resulted in lowering the price of other necessities of life.

LET every Democrat in Franklin county be present at the polls Tuesday and cast his vote. Also let every Republican who does not feel himself on an equal with Marion Butler and T. H. Whitaker vote the straight Democratic ticket. There is no doubt but that the Democrats are going to win, so get on the winning side and let's roll up a big majority.

NO DOUBT Marion Butler wished he was back in Washington before the preacher got through with him. And what that preacher would have done to him, and we believe he would have done himself credit had Butler not apologized, would not have been a circumstance to what the democrats are going to do to him next Tuesday.—Times, Raleigh.
