

"MY BLOOD IN FINE CONDITION"

Every sufferer from Blood Poison should read what Mrs. G. F. Medina, of Weidon, N. C., says of her experience: "I was a terrible sufferer from Blood Poison. If the skin would be broken, the flesh would become inflamed, itch and burn, and develop into sores. Before the birth of one of my children, my whole body became fearfully swollen, and I was in a serious condition generally. I used Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy and it cured me. My blood is in fine condition. I believe if it had not been for Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy I would have died. Its value is priceless."

Away back in the days of Moses it was said, "In the blood thereof is the life," and never were truer words spoken. This vital fluid is the essence of life and health, and when it becomes impure, impoverished and poisoned the result is debility, weakness, loss of vitality, energy and life itself. Without good blood, good health is impossible.

MRS. JOE PERSON'S REMEDY

is a sure specific for all troubles due to impure, impoverished and poisoned blood, such as Eczema, Old Sores, Scrofula, and the long train of attendant ailments, including Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Stomach Troubles, Nervousness, Rheumatism, Catarrh, Female Troubles, and general "run-down" conditions in both men and women. It feeds the blood, drives out every vestige of poison, tones up the nervous system, induces a sound and refreshing sleep, and brings the entire body back to its natural healthy condition.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy is scientifically prepared from purely vegetable ingredients. It positively contains no opiate or narcotic of any kind, no iodine or Potassium or other mineral—just a compound of helpful herbs, nature's own remedy for human ills.

As a Tonic, Alterative, Blood Purifier or Nervine, it has of late years been in demand for Nervous Prostration and Insomnia. We don't care how many doctors have said you couldn't be cured—Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy will cure you. Write us for testimonials from people who expected long to be dead, but are living today and glad to tell how the Remedy cured them.

In cases of external trouble, inflammation, ulceration or itching humor, our Wash should be used with the Remedy.

For sale by druggists, or supplied direct on receipt of price. $1.00 per bottle; 6 bottles for $5.00; 1 dozen by express prepaid for $10.00, by

CRUDE THOUGHTS FROM THE EDITORIAL PEN

ONE KIND OF MAN

Courtesy to women, old and young, should be a part of everybody's home training. Without it he is likely to be boorish and selfish; and a rude, overbearing brother and son is in danger of developing into an exacting, discourteous husband. He is likely to belong to the class of boys who come into the house and say to their sisters:

"Here, Mary, you've got the chair I always sit in, and Katie has the paper I want! Let me have them!"

He receives the chair and paper without a word of thanks, and then says:

"There's a button off my overcoat, and I want one of you girls to put it on before morning. Mary, run and get my slippers."

His hat, gloves and overcoat have been thrown down in different parts of the room for his mother or sisters to pick up and put away. His mother comes into the room and he says: "Mother isn't supper most ready? I am half starved!"

"It will be ready in a few minutes," his mother replies.

"Well I wish you'd hurry up."

At the table he is served first and always has the best of everything, a course well calculated to foster his selfishness and autocratic tendencies.

In his own home he is a sort of despot. He feels that his personal comfort should be the chief end and aim of his wife's life. A delayed meal or a broken off button brings on an acute attack of unforgivable offense, and a missing called sulks.

He is likely to be one of the men who keep their seats while ladies stand in the horse-cars, arguing while he does so that "women have just as much right to stand as men." Obtrusive discourtesy of this kind nearly has its origin in the early home life of the man who manifests it.

WHEN WOMEN SHOULD MARRY.

Probably the best time for the average woman to marry would be any age between twenty-four and thirty-five. It is not said that no woman should marry earlier or later than either of these ages; but youth and health and vigor are ordinarily at their highest perfection between these two periods. Early marriages are seldom desirable for girls and that for many reasons. The brain is immature the reason is feeble and the character is unformed. The consideration which would prompt a girl to marry at seventeen would in many cases have little weight with her at twenty-four. At seventeen she is a child, at twenty-four a woman.

Where a girl has intelligent parents, the seven years between seventeen and twenty four are the period when mind and body are most amenable to wise discipline and best repay the thought and toil devoted to their development. Before seventeen few girls have learned to understand what life is what duty is. They cannot value what is best either in the father's wisdom or in the mother's tenderness. When married at the childless period they are like young recruits taken fresh from the farm and the workshop and hurried off to a long campaign without any period of preliminary drill and training or like a school boy removed from school to a curacy without being sent to the university or to a theological hall.

Who can help grieving over a child-wife especially if she has children and a husband who is an experienced and possibly an exacting boy-man. The ardor of his love soon cools the visionary bliss of her poetical imagination; vanishes like the summer mist; there is nothing left but disappointment and wonder that what promised to be so beautiful and long a day should be clouded almost before sunrise.

Youth is sweet with its fiery enterprise and I suppose mature manhood will be just as much so, though in a more calmer way, and quieter still will have its own merits—the thing is only to do with life what we ought, and what is suited to each of its stages; do all, enjoy them—and I suppose these two rules amount to the same thing.

To die is a serious thing; to live is far more serious. Living, we accumulate the evidence that shall be used against us when we pass through death to the judgment. Learn to think seriously of life that you may think seriously of death.

Now that the ladies are so generally employed as stenographers and typewriter operators the columns of newspapers are burdened with coarse attempts at humor, in which the pretty amusements and her alleged flirtations with the business men are the inspiring theme. Perhaps these jokes, on account of their insipidity, are harmless and do not deserve the dignity of a remonstrance, but nevertheless, we enter our protest against any attempt to place in a ridiculous or improper light the honest and worthy occupation of a woman. All honor to the girl who has the energy pluck and determination to qualify herself to be sustaining and make herself useful in the great world of business and lighting, withering shame be his portion who would place the lightest straw in her way. There are enough actual follies, weaknesses and foibles of men to laugh about without making innocent women the subject of ridicule by making them figure in incidents entirely the product of an impure imagination. The shafts of ridicule should be aimed only at those who deserve punishment and there are enough of this class, God knows; and wit and humor lose their charm when indulged in at the expense of anything that is good and useful. A woman's reputation is too delicate to be roughly handled and any light treatment of her occupation injures her who is identified with it.

Why does Great Britain buy its oatmeal of us?

Certainly it seems like carrying coals to Newcastle to speak of exporting oatmeal to Scotland and yet, every year the Quaker Oats Company sends hundreds of thousands of cases of Quaker Oats to Great Britain and Europe.

The reason is simple; while the English and Scotch have for centuries eaten oatmeal in quantities and with a regularity that has made them the most rugged physically, and active mentally of all people, the American has been eating oatmeal and trying all the time to improve the methods of manufacture so that he might get that desirable foreign trade.

How well he has succeeded would be seen at a glance at the export reports on Quaker Oats. This brand is without a rival; it is packed in regular packages, and in hermetically sealed tins for hot climates.

headaches. The doctor's medicine brought me no relief and when I heard of the good work Doan's Kidney Pills were doing in cases like mine, I got a box. This remedy drove away my aches and pains and restored me to better health than I had enjoyed for years. (Statement given January 30, 1908.)

RE-ENDORSEMENT.

On December 2, 1910, Mrs. Jones added to the above: "I have not been troubled to any extent by my back or kidneys since I used Doan's Kidney Pills some years ago. I still take pleasure in recommending this preparation."
