CRUDE THOUGHTS FROM THE EDITORIAL PEN

Habits of neatness, thrift, order and economy should be among the first lessons of life. Girls should never know that there is such a thing as habitual disorder. Comfortable system and well-considered prudence are among the gifts and graces that go to make up the useful and beautiful woman. A careless woman can never be wholly attractive. The eye rests at once upon some evidence of untidiness, and the charm is destroyed. Girls and boys, too, for that matter, should have the importance of personal tidiness and neatness early impressed upon them.

No matter where you go, you will always find those who belittle your endeavors, those who ridicule your honest efforts to succeed; those who prove great stumbling blocks to your progress, those who are continually predicting your failure; those who magnify your indiscretion; those who lie about you; those who "put up jobs" on you; those who discourage every effort you make; those who rejoice at your every failure; those who predict your inability to prosper, those who are envious jealous and cruel. You cannot escape these people; they lurk in every town and city—in every community, and, knowing this, there is then but one way to thrive, and that is to hustle. If you find not that which you seek in one spot—seek elsewhere. If clouds hang low and black, wait for them to roll by for the shining of the beautiful sun that is behind. If your pains miscarry, try again, do not be discouraged—hustle.

TRUE CHARACTER.

What we are, not what we seem to be, is the measure of our true worth. A base coin may be washed with pure metal and pass current for a time without detection; but sooner or later the thin veneering will wear through, and the spurious inside will be revealed; so a pure coin may be covered with base alloy, but though it tarnish for a time, it cannot change the value of what it conceals. So it is with human character.

Sham airs and graces and assumed virtues may win for a time and deceive the most penetrating, while virtue, loaded with calumny, is shunned by its kind; but sooner or later true worth will assert itself and all the world will discriminate between the gold and the dross.

Where gold is not, gold never can be found. Where true character is not, no sham or artifice can long support a semblance of it.

The principle that true worth is the captain who leads to victory in life's battles is one that should be early and constantly taught by those having the tutelage of youth.

CHILDREN'S RIGHTS.

In the home life never forget that the children have social rights, and the chief among these is the right to laugh when they are happy, to cry when they are unhappy, and to make a noise. A healthy child is always active. It must jump and scream, fall down, cry when it gets hurt, and jump up only to repeat the same thing. But to keep it still means unhappiness and nearly, if not quite, death. Let them be gay. This is their element. We always class children, birds and flowers together. And why? Because they should be equally beautiful, innocent and happy. We should never rob childhood of its ideal loveliness. Even old people should be gay and happy and good; too good to overcloud the children's horizon with angry eyes and lowering brows, nor turn their merriment to discord by continual fault-finding. Allow them all the freedom consistent with absolute safety. Let them play and be happy, but teach them self control. God's estimate of self control is this: He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty and he that ruleth his own spirit, than he who taketh a city." Condemn your children only when they are really wrong, and then as gently as possible, but be sure to commend when they do right. A little praise with a child goes a long way. A child may be very provoking but not wilfully bad. Attributing bad motives to a thoughtless child has ruined many a little lie. Just blame less and praise more and we shall have better children. Especially as most of their faults are copied from their parents we should exercise the strictest charity for verily "Charity doth cover a multitude of sins."

We all need to cultivate a depth of sympathy, a broadness of mind and a gentleness of heart, which will lead us on to charity when a fellow creature goes astray, for "let him who thinketh he standeth take heed lest he fall," and "with what measure ye mete it shall be measured to you again."

MY COUNTRY.

What is my country? Well, it is my own little world where I live. It is the dear little spot where my cottage stands. It is the sunshine over my head and the blue vault bounding my vision. This is my country. Again, my country includes the wondrous history of three hundred years, wrought out by heroic hands and loving hearts on American soil. It includes the shocks of battle and the pursuits of peace. We kneel at its sacred altars, sing its immortal songs. We see waving over it the beautiful banner of the stars, the dear old flag that is always and everywhere, the symbol of protection and hope and home. May this love of country be the satisfaction of our old men, and his strength of our youth until "The dawn of a brighter, whiter day Than ever blessed us with its ray A day before whose purer light All guilt and wrong shall flee away."
