Lesson I.—Second Quarter, For
April 2, 1911.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Kings v, 1-14.
Memory Verses, 13, 14—Golden Text, Isa. xiv, 22—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

It is a most interesting and profitable study to search out in the Old Testament all the people and the events which the Lord Jesus mentioned in His teaching and to remember that Jesus of the New Testament is none other than the Lord God of the prophets, whose goings forth have been from of old, from the days of eternity (Mic. v, 2, margin). In Luke iv, 27, He mentions both Naaman and Elisha, and of course that includes the little maid of Israel and all the other people and incidents of the story.

In chapter iv, 8, we read of a great woman, and now it is a great man and honorable, a deliverer and mighty man of valor, but a leper. He was a great man in the eyes of his fellows, but had he lived in Israel he would have had to live without the camp.

Leprosy is a wonderful type of sin, and, it matters not how great a man may be in other men's eyes, if he is an unsaved sinner he is a child of wrath, dead in sins, without Christ and without God (Eph. ii, 1, 3, 12), and those who die in that condition are forever shut out (Rev. xxi, 8, 27). In as seemingly strange ways as the Lord brought healing to Naaman He still wins sinners to Himself. He may use a captive maid, humble servants, waters of Jordan, etc., but He is always seeking to save the lost, not willing that any should perish (I Pet. iii, 9).

The little captive maid stolen away from her home might have so hated her captors as to wish them evil and be glad that Naaman was a leper, but she evidently had the spirit of Him who taught to love our enemies and to be subject even to perverse people (Matt. v, 44; I Pet. ii, 18). So she pitied Naaman and told of the prophet in Samaria, of whom she knew or had heard many wonderful things. From the slowness of believers to tell of the Lord Jesus and His wonderful redemption the world has a right to conclude that they have nothing wonderful to tell.

The result of the little maid's testimony was that the king of Syria sent Naaman to the king of Israel with a letter and a lot of silver and gold and raiment, asking from the king health for his servant. There was a double mistake in sending to the king instead of the prophet and in supposing that money could purchase heaven's gifts. The maid had spoken of the prophet in Samaria, not the king, and a true prophet is a spokesman for God. But royalty can only deal with royalty and, as a rule, has no use for poor men even if they are prophets.
Such pride must be laid low before God can help such people.

The king of Israel thought that the king of Syria was seeking a quarrel with him in making such a request, and he rent his clothes. Elisha, hearing of it, said to the king, "Let him come now to me, and he shall know that there is a prophet in Israel." So Naaman came in all his pomp and pride to the door of the house of Elisha, thinking that the prophet would make a display of his power and in some striking way give him health.
When the prophet did not deign even to come to the door, but sent a messenger, saying, "Go and wash in Jordan seven times, and thy flesh shall come again to thee, and thou shalt be clean." Naaman was so angry that he turned and went away in a rage.

When we remember that even Abraham's thoughts brought him trouble (Gen. xx, 11) and Mary's supposing gave her three days of sorrow (Luke ii, 44-46) we do not wonder so much at the result of Naaman's thoughts.
Simple faith in God and prompt obedience is the only safe way. Servants sometimes have more sense than their masters, and so it proved in this case, for, as they reasoned with Naaman that he would gladly have done some great thing, then why not do this simple thing? He went and did as Elisha had said, and his flesh became as the flesh of a little child, and he was clean.

There was no special value or efficacy in the waters of Jordan, but it was to Naaman a lesson in humility and obedience and submission to the true God. In the matter of salvation for the sinner there is only one way, one name, one sacrifice, one precious blood, and he who disdains it cannot be saved.
Naaman, being healed, returned to Elisha with a good confession, "Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the earth but in Israel" (Isa. xlv, 5) and he would fain have rewarded the prophet. How grand is the dignity of the soul that can turn down earth's silver and gold and say to such as Naaman, "As the Lord liveth—before whom I stand I will receive none." Compare Gen. xiv, 22-23; Dan. v, 17.
See also the rich young ruler who was told by our Lord to give all that he had to the poor (Luke xviii, 22) and then follow Jesus, thus revealing to him his own heart, and that his possessions were his god, and that he was breaking the first commandment. I expect that Judas Iscariot was troubled by our Lord's words to the rich ruler, and we are quite certain that Gehazi was troubled by Elisha's rejection of Naaman's wealth. Consider the result of his covetousness (verse 27) and remember the words of our Lord in Luke xii, 15, "Take heed and beware of covetousness, for a man's life consisteth not in the abundance of the things which he possesseth."

No doubt Postmaster-General Hitchcock would—if he could—double the postage on all insurgent Republican newspapers and magazines and to convert the political emergency in which his party is engaged he would consider it a favor if anyone would sell him his paper press the Democratic press.
