The Ranch or the Man.

Pretty Molly Perkins took a homestead in the West; Her quarter of a section was the loveliest and best, And proudly did her heart beat in Molly Perkins' breast. Pretty Molly Perkins lived alone upon her claim. But the men for miles about her soon heard about this dame. And then they called at Molly's homestead with marriage as their aim. And there was one among them—his name was just plain Jim— But he was tall and handsome, and wondrous strong of limb, And Molly soon admitted that she thought a heap of him.

But Jim would have a wedding without four years' delay, Which meant that Molly's homestead must be just thrown away. And Molly thought about it for many a troubled day. So pretty Molly Perkins just thought and thought and thought. And she grew more undecided, the more her hand was sought— And that's the situation, the last word that we caught. —Arthur Chapman, in Denver Republican.

AND Congress still holds on.

THE Commissioners did not take action in regard to the Superintendent's salary.

THE good road work in this township is moving off in pretty good shape.

WE can't say what the trouble is, but the city water now is not holding out as good in quality as it should.

THE little Senatorial whirlwind has just about passed. Let us hope it may not be resurrected again in sometime.

A REPORT comes from Dunn giving that progressive town the credit of having within its borders a four-legged rooster.

WE are blessed with a good supply of water, but for some cause every once in a while it gets in pretty bad shape.

If any of the friends of the editor thinks he doesn't like watermelons, cantaloupes, etc., they should just try him and see.

GOV. KITCHIN is to be congratulated upon revoking the pardon of Wiley Black, the notorious law breaker of Asheville.

If our County Commissioners are not going give us a new court house they should at least make some repairs to the old one.

He is evidently a poor judge of a good thing.

FRANKLIN Superior Court will convene in Louisburg on Monday, August 21st, 1911—just one week Monday. This however is a criminal court only and will hold for only one week.

If circumstances remain favorable many of the citizens of this township, in the eastern part can have the privilege of hauling their products to the market this year over a good road.

It now looks as if the Daughters of the Confederacy will soon begin the erection of a Confederate monument in Louisburg. On Tuesday the Board of County Commissioners denied to this cause $1,000, which raises their fund to about $2,000.

It seems as if the town ordinance prohibiting the erection of posts on the sidewalks for the purpose of suspending signs and awnings has been lost. This is to be regretted as it means that our streets will be filled with these unsightly obstacles and the tearing up in many cases the pavement we have been so long in getting.

RAILROAD wrecks are becoming very common of late—three having occurred with the past ten days. The last happened Monday morning between Norlina and Petersburg on the Seaboard and killed an engineer and fireman. It was the night passenger train that was wrecked and was caused by being turned into a siding where a freight was standing—the switch being left open.

SOME have suggested that as so many towns were erecting Confederate monuments, why not Louisburg erect one to the memory of the raising of the first Confederate flag. By changing it around in this way would make it no less a Confederate monument, but at the same time would be a matter of more interest owing to the fact that there would be only one of them in existence.

OUR city authorities should instruct the Clerk to deduct one-third from the bills showing that the minimum has not been used or such amount as may be equitable from the electric light bills for the month of July. It will be recalled that there was ten days of July no current could be gotten on account of a break down. This however will not effect the man who has used above the minimum, but does effect the one whose bill never reaches the minimum. In this case the latter is entitled to one-third off.

Parsons pond, near Morven, for the first time in the memory of the oldest inhabitant, has nearly dried up. C. C. Moore, of Wadesboro, was at the pond Tuesday and reports that he saw a bushel and a half of fish dead in one hole that had dried up. In all it is supposed that some four or five bushels of fish have died in the pond where they were caught when the water evaporated.

East bound passenger train number 22, on the Southern Railway, running from Asheville to Goldsboro, was derailed five miles west of Salisbury Friday afternoon and twenty passengers injured six of whom were seriously hurt. Elder L. H. Hardy, who was convicted of contempt of court by Recorder Humphries, of the Heidsville recorders court, some time ago, sentence upon whom was suspended, appealed to the Superior court and the case was tried before Judge Lyon Wednesday. Judge
