THE HOME CIRCLE COLUMN.

Pleasant Evening Reveries. — A Column Dedicated to Tired Mothers as They Join the Home Circle at Evening Tide

RUDE THOUGHTS FROM THE EDITORIAL PEN

If you think a house should have only one head, and that be yours, postpone your wedding indefinitely.

There is an old saying to the effect that an untidy mother has disobedient children, and, while neither parents or children may realize the why or wherefore of it, yet there is always a lack of respect and an indifference to the authority of a mother who takes no pride in her personal appearance.

The meanest men in the world are those who have allowed themselves to drift away from their mothers and forget all about them. The best and bravest men in the world are those who have never been so proud as when doing something pleasant for the kind old mother.

Who does not feel more cheerful and contented for receiving a polite bow, a genial "good morning," a hearty shake of the hand? Who does not make himself the happier by these little expressions of fellow-feeling and good will? Silence and a stiff, unbending reserve are especially a fish and essentially vulgar.

There is a certain species of reptile found in all parts of the known world; its home is not so much in the jungles and wilderness, as one might suppose. This serpent frequents the haunts of men, showing by this that it is of a social character, cities, villages, and the sparsely populated neighborhood, each and all claims its attention. The name of this serpent is slander. We hope it has no abiding place in the home of any of our readers. The home circle column department is the best antidote yet discovered for this vile reptile, and seldom fails to drive it from the home with weekly visits.

The woman whose life book has love written on every page; who makes a home for a man, a home in a house and in a heart, a home that he is sure of, a home that is full of love presided over by one whose price is above rubies. She is the model wife.

Parents make their great mistakes in their training of children, by not recognizing their individuality. Each child has peculiarities in mind, temperament, disposition and character which makes it an individual problem. Mothers in lamenting the failure of home discipline sometimes say, "I am sure I cannot understand it; I have always tried to do my duty by them, and have always treated my children exactly alike." There lies the very secret of her failure; she has not realized their individuality; she has made the mistake of using the same formula for different problems; she has sought to move distinctly different locks by the same key. The same sun melts wax and hardens clay.

Of all the evils prevailing among young men we know of none more blighting in its moral effects than the tendency to speak slightly of the virtue of women. Nor is there anything in which young men are so thoroughly mistaken as the low estimate they form of the integrity of women—not of their own mothers and sisters, thank God, but of others who, they forget, are somebody else's mothers and sisters.

There is no question that a child can seriously and fairly ask that cannot be as seriously and fairly answered. To tell a child or to lead it to infer that it is "too little" to know anything more on any subject about which it already knows enough to frame a question, is to deny its capacity for further growth. It is to thrust the child's mind into a dungeon, instead of opening it to the light.

We do not know why any one should object to a wife calling her husband by his first name when among friends, but it is seldom regarded as good form to do so excepting in the presence of relatives. No one, however, can object to Mr. Smith or Mr. White. And don't say "Smith" for "Mr. Smith." If you want to call your husband "Darling" or "Love," pray do so as often as you like, but always in the privacy and seclusion of your own homes. The people who "Love" and "Dove" and "Darling" each other in company are often the very ones who call each other by strangely different names when at home.

Success is never obtained in a country like this without effort. If you fail once, try again. If you fall down, get up. If it is dark strike a light. If you are in the shade move around; if there is shade on one side there is sure to be sunshine on the other. It takes longer to skin an elephant than a mouse, but then the skin is worth something. Never be content with doing what another has done—excel him.

5 Strong Reasons for Fall Painting

1. The wood is thoroughly dry. Summer's sun has removed all moisture.
2. Paint penetrates deeper into dry wood. The deeper it goes the better it holds.
3. Fall weather is warm, dry and dependable. Little danger of cold, damp, rainy days, which endanger the durability of the paint.
4. Wet weather decays and destroys unprotected surfaces. Lack of paint means unsightly and less valuable property.
5. Fall painting keeps out winter moisture. The greatest enemy to the life and beauty of all structures.

Cole's Hot Blast Heater on top of the fire burns the coal from the top—burns the gas, which is wasted with all other stoves. The force of this down draft forces the heat to the base which is made of steel—cannot burn out—and heats the floor. Thousands of testimonials have been written regarding the base heating qualities of

Cole's Original Hot Blast Heater

The ideal heating stove is one which radiates all the heat thrown off from the fuel—into the room—instead of letting it go up the chimney. The durable heater is the one which will withstand the severe use, year after year, which a heating stove is necessarily subjected to. Sheet steel is the quickest radiator of heat and is used as radiating surface only in Cole's Hot Blast heater. Wherever the fuel comes in contact with the flueings—only first quality gray cast iron is used. Cast iron withstands the wear of the heat from active combustion better than any other material, and the large, sensitive, sheet metal body and base radiate all the heat into the rooms. Burns Soft Coal, Slack, Lignite, Hard Coal, Wood and lighter fuel. Make your selection now.
