 Several communications were received the past week that had to be thrown out on account of not having the name of the writer and being received too late. We hope our correspondents will bear in mind and confine themselves to reporting items of interest more, instead of so many neighborhood personal.

While other people are reporting so many large hogs, Mr. J. W. Wester one of Cedar Rock township's most substantial citizens, reports the making of fifty one and one-half barrels of corn on five acres. He says he used practically no fertilizer to get the result. This is a splendid yield but he doesn't want the people to think he will not make any meat, so has promised to furnish us with a list of porkers when he makes his killing.
 T. W. Wheelers reports having a well bored at his home in a spot where several unsuccessful attempts had been made. He says that they bored through 85 feet of the hardest kind of rock, making a total depth of 107 1-2 feet, and is getting a full supply of excellent water.

A very delightful Thanksgiving entertainment was given in the school on Tuesday night by the pupils of the primary grades. Though the weather was quite unfavorable, the exercises were enjoyed by a good sized crowd. About ten dollars was derived from the small admission fee charged, this amount to be used in supplying the primary department with a much needed supplementary library.

Professor J. H. Highsmith, of Wake Forest College, was present with us on last Friday night and delivered a splendid address. The Widenning Scope of Education, a subject well handled and full of good practical truths that held the interested attention of a large crowd. Prof. Highsmith also spoke briefly to the Junior Order Council on the principles of the order.

Thanksgiving day was appropriately observed here. An afternoon service was held in the schoolhouse under the auspices of the Junior Order of this place. The sermon was preached by Rev. G. M. Duke, the occasion one of general thanksgiving. The high school closed on Thursday and Friday to enable the teachers to attend the Teachers Assembly which met in Raleigh on those days.

To many, winter is a season of trouble. The frost-bitten toes and fingers chapped hands and lips, chilblain, cold-sores, red and rough skins prove this. Schloss Slush

Having promised the editor more slush so many times, here we are with such as it is:

Mr. Herbert Ayscue and bride, of Ingleside, passed through last week to spend a happy Thanksgiving with Mr. Ayscue's parents in Warren. Mr. Greenwood Hill lead the way to Schloss and Mr. Clyde Grissom and Miss Ruby Collins accompanied them to Mr. Ayscue's, all returning the next day.

Mrs. J. S. Williams and Mrs. George Manning spent Saturday and Sunday in Louisburg, blending business with pleasure, and seemed to enjoy both. Each was accompanied by her youngest daughter, Miss Elizabeth Manning and little bitny Hattie Hill Williams.

Miss Tempie Williams, of Warren, is visiting the family of her brother, Mr. J. S. Williams, this week. Miss Tempie is always a pleasant and welcome visitor to the quiet town of Schlossburg.

Thanksgiving was generally observed down here as a holiday. Some went hunting, some went a courting and others remained at home.

Miss Margie Mason, of Louisburg, who is teaching at the Alston school house, attended the North Carolina Teachers Assembly in Raleigh last Thursday, returned Monday in time to call the school to order. She reports a very good time at the great educational meeting.

How's this for prophecy fulfilled: Soon shall thy arm, unconquered, steam afar, Drag the slow barge or drive the rapid car; Or on wide waving wings expanded bear The flying chariot through the fields of air. —Erasmus Darwin, 1731-1802

Look out little children, St. Nicholas is on the way. He will soon be here to bring you something nice if you will be good. I hope none will be disappointed.

Mr. J. J. Murray has conducted a prayer meeting service in the school house near here every third Sunday afternoon for the past three or four months. The meetings are well attended, which shows that the efforts of our good neighbor, in behalf of the spiritual welfare of the community, are appreciated.

We are having quite a touch of winter, enough to make one step lively or sit close to the fire these mornings and evenings.
