FRIDAY, March 28th, 1913

EASTAS was a lovely day and enjoyed by many.

SUNDAY is getting to be about the "liveliest" day we have.

To our minds the Doctors of New York are giving Dr. Friedman a raw deal.

THE shooting Sunday was the nominal result of the laxity of the public sentiment against blind tigers.

THE whipping post has been suggested for the white slave traffickers. Better yet would be the guillotine.

JOHNSON GREENSON, negro, accused of the murder of Samuel McClure, was lynched at Union City, Tenn. Friday.

Ma. Willis L. Moore, Chief of the Weather Bureau at Washington resigned that position on Saturday, effective July 31st.

Saturday press reports say that National Chairman W. F. McCombs, has declined to accept the appointment of Ambassador to France.

The several railroads in North Carolina have agreed on a revised freight rate for lines to be used on the form. This rate is about one third of the old rate.

TO-DAY is the day set apart for the electrocution of Claude S. Allen and his father at Richmond. They have exhausted every known means to escape the chair.

THE young man by the name of Stokely who was being tried at Elizabeth City last week for the murder of his sister's seducer, was acquitted. The verdict is generally recognized to be a just one.

THE voters of Louisburg should contend for the single ballot in the coming primary. This way of voting for a number of men on a single ticket is a never prove satisfactory. If tickets are not provided to suit you then write your own tickets.

THE fact that Dr. Fleming promises the people of Louisburg to tell them the condition of the town in detail is sufficient to commend his candidacy, for a position on the Board of Town Commissioners, to the serious consideration of every voter in the town.

Col. W. H. Osborn, of Greensboro, has been given the appointment of Internal Revenue Commissioner. This brings a great deal of satisfaction to his many friends. It is said to be quite a nice position having connected with it a neat salary and a large number of appointments.

THE floods in Ohio and Indiana are assuming large proportions and causing great destruction to both lives and property. Between 500 and 5000 people were drowned in one city and in some instances water was from 20 to 40 feet deep in the streets. A cloudburst visited Cincinnati.

THE verdict in the trial of the young men for the killing of young Rand at University last year by hanging, was to confine the prisoners in jail for four months. The judge allowed the commissioners to hire them out. Their term is to start April 15th. It is understood that their parents will hire them, as under the law they have a right to do.

What Louisburg wants now is a set of commissioners who will meet and attend to business, but first of all a set who will cause a statement of the town's conditions to be made public that each citizen might know just where his money is going. This does not mean that the members of the old board did anything wrong, but it is a requirement that should be met. The people ought to know where their money is going.

WITH the record of one policeman shot, and now another one attacked by the lawless negro element on the South side of the river it looks to us it is time for the city government to "bust" up such settlements even should it be necessary to call in the services of a regiment of troops to do it. The feeling that they are bigger than the law when across the river should be broken up and that with no provisions attached to it. Let the Commissioners or the Mayor take such action as may be necessary to put a stop to it now.

The action of the Coroners jury in completely exonerating Chief of Police

Tucker for shooting Freddie Green Sunday was entirely right. It has gotten to the point where the negroes on the south side of the river think no officer has a right to interfere with their lawlessness. The officials should devise some plan whereby such violations as is practiced in this part of town could be broken up and especially so much of this Sunday drinking, fighting and shooting. It is not only dangerous for people in that section but the Sunday conditions are a disgrace to any community.

If the sentiment of the people of Louisburg and vicinity will get behind the officers in the way it should do so, to assist the officers in breaking up so much of this blind tiger business there will be a great change noticed in the negro settlements. But the officers can't do anything so long as the negroes are furnished bond and money to fight the cases, and at last have their cause pleaded with the judge for their release. Gentlemen things of this kind will ruin any community. When you allow the prohibition law to be broken and assist the criminal in getting clear either by actions or silent consent. You are assisting in contributing a violator of other laws to the community. It is time Franklin county people were waking up to the enormity of this blind tiger proposition. The next thing will be some of our women will be insulted on the streets.

In Memoriam

Mrs Sarah Adeline Collier, wife of our esteemed countryman, Mr. Thomas S. Collier, died Feb. 22 1913 at her home in Cedar Rock township. She had lived long and well and died the death of the righteous. She was a daughter of the late James Baker, a well known and highly respected citizen of Franklin county, and one of a large family of brothers and sisters, all of whom, save one brother preceded her to the spirit land.

She was twice married. Her first husband, Mr. Penson Nichols, died during the civil war leaving her with the burden of the family on her shoulders at a time when the losses entailed by the war made doubly hard to bear. Several years afterward she was married to Mr. Collier, and together they have for twenty years blessed the community in which they lived.

Looking backward through the years time would fail us to recount the numerous deeds of neighborly kindness, generosity, and self sacrifice which pass in review on memory's page as characterizing the life of this good woman.

Always quiet and unassuming in manner and somewhat reticent in speech, only those who lived in closest touch with her, fully understood and appreciated the deeper emotions and warm throbbing of her sympathetic heart.

As a friend she was preeminently true and loyal, as wife and mother, the personification of unselfish devotion to the interests of those she served, as a Christian unblamable in her daily walk, being a consistent and worthy member of the Baptist church.

Leaning on the everlasting arms in quiet faith she won many victories the world knew not of and having finished her course, leaves to her husband children and grandchildren the rich heritage of a pure unstained life, may they too gain the victory over sin and death and wear with her a crown of righteousness which the Lord the righteous judge shall give to all them "that love his appearing."

This little tribute is but a slight estimate of her life as it appeared to one who from childhood had the privilege of association with her and is offered to her memory of the abiding love of A FRIEND
