Mr. D. E. McKinne Dead.

The death of Mr. David E. McKinne of Princeton, North Carolina, on July 6th caused a great loss to not only the community in which he had been identified for eighteen or twenty years, but to wide territory surrounding it. He was a type of Johnson County's best citizenship and was always found on the right side of every move-ent and fearless advocate of what was for the best interests of his county and state. His life was gentle and its influences will not be bound in that community with the years, but will go on down through generations to come. Never was a man held in higher esteem and more loved in a community than he 1913. was in his home town and county; and lags.

when his death came painlessly on beautiful Sunday morning at 7.20 A. M. beautiful Sunday morning at 7.20 K. M., he literally "Fell on Sleep," and went thoroughly prepared to meet his Creator whom he had "Remembered in the days of his youth," and all his life, this love and devotion was shown by flocking of his frieuds to the bereaved home from Selma, Smithfield, Trocky Mount, Goldsboro, Lousburg and other communities, to nay their tribute of communities, to pay their tribute of love and respect. Owing to the sud-den stroke of heart disease which car-ried him from this life, none of his children could reach the bedside, but all soon gathered to the wife and mother, whose bereavement cannot be measured by that of others or by mere words, to give all aid and love which devoted children could render. Mesers. F. B. McKinne, D. F. McKinne at Malcolm McKinne, and Mrs. D. F. Mc-Kinne went at once from Louisburg Mrs. F. B. McKinne went from Statesville and reached the home in a few hours, and Mrs. Edgar L. Hart, of Wilmington, the only daughter, was then in the mountains near Waynesville, went as rapidly as transportati could be had. The funeral was held in the Methodist church at Princ Rev. Mr. Daniel, pastor, and Rev. J. H. Hall, Presiding Elder, officiating, at 1 P. M. Monday, the 7th., and the grief of the community gathered there was a tribute to his worth and life in that community never to be forgotten. The people white and black manifested a genuine grief that spoke volumes for the life he had given to that community, and showed that he had been the friend and wise counseller for all. Men twenty years his senior said that Mr. McKinne had "Been a father to them," and the grief of the old; and young negroes was touching to all beholders. The interment was in the family lot in beautiful "Willow Dale Cemetery" .Goldsboro, and to the many friends from Princeton and other towns, who attended, was added a large gathering of Goldsboro's leading citizen's lifelong friends of the deceased, The floral offerings were beautiful in design and so profuse in quantity that the grave could not hold them all. From Louisburg went Messrs T. W.

Watson, Wm. Jackson, H. A. Hodges, George Walker, Cleveland Foster, Wm. H. Ruffin, and Wm. H. Ruffin. Jr., and all of the children of the deceased who were in Louisburg at the time of his death. Mrs. Me lcolm McKinne was visiting her father in Chicago and could not attend.

Mr. Dayed E. McKinne, was a ratio of Wayne County, North Carolina, of Seetch decent and possessing all the best characteristics of that sturdy race. He was a Confederate sollder, and after the close of the war, in common with others of that noble army, had life to begin anew; but his courage was undaunted, and by untiring energy, scrupulously fair dealing and the strictest integrity he accumulated a large estate. And it is a proud heritage to his descendants that no man in that or any other community can be found to say that he ever did them wrong. From his early manhood he was a member of the Methodist church, and his love and devotion to his church in all its works, with his personal services and means, was one of the most beautiful characteristics of his full rounded life. Truly may it be said of such a life; that for him it "Is not death to die," loves of those who knew loved him which cannot be filled.

To Build Road.

Mr. F. W. Justice was in town Mon day in the interest of working the old Raleigh Road from the Louisburg township line to the Wake county line. Save Insanity to be Found. The negro settlement of Louisburg known as slab town—that portion lying on the old river road just across the branch or in front of old uncle Calvin Yarborough's home place was thrown into great excitement early Wednesday morning when for some unknown rea-son Arthur Williams, son of Phil Williams, shot and killed, Fenner McDowell, son of Humphrey McDowell. Both the boys were negroes and were about twenty years old. After killing Mc-Dowell, Williams went to his home not far from the scene, remained a few minutes and returned. When within about fifty yards of the scene of the murder he had committed and seeing the large sanity for some time but no one had given any thought to the fact that he might be dangerous. The two boys were the best of friends so we learn and the parents of each accept the tragedy as an unvoidable occurence.

Since putting the above in type it has been learned that Arthur told his mother he had killed two men, whereupon a search was instituted. It was learned that he left Bunn on Tuesday afternoon with Cleophus Pettiford, and had been seen in town with him that night but no trace could be found of Cleophus next day. Finally about 6:30 o'clock in the evening his body was found in the woods just above the Colonial Pine Company's plant with two bullet holes through it. This bearing out the suicides statement no further investigation was had.

WALKER - WOLSLAGEL MEET. INGS INCREASE IN POWER.

Far Reaching in Influence-Great Mass Meeting for Men and Women-Sunday 4:30 P.M.-"Rag Time Religion Discussed."

The revival meeting now in progres at the Louisburg Baptist church gathers momentum at each service, and its influence is now being felt far and wide throughout the surrounding country. Notwithstanding the extremely busy season, there are many present from the country at every meeting

The mass meeting for men only last Sunday afternoon drew a large crowd of men, not only from town, but from nany sections of the county.

Dr. Walker's sermon on "Short Beds and Narrow Covers" was a masterpiece and many of the men went away feeling that the things in which they had been depending for salvation. were like the old king's bed and cover, too short and narrow to furnish comfort and protection in the crucial hour.

Throughout the week Dr. Walker has been preaching an unusually strong series of sermons along lines that are most vital and practical.

The one thing that characterizes all of his sermons is clearness. The children can understand him even when he is discussing great fundamental doc trines, and they come in great numbers to hear him.

The music is always a very fine feature. Prof. Wolslagel is singing the thirteen at eleven o'clock, Louisburg, Harris-J. B. King, D. E. Harris, J. gospel with wonderful effect. It is a rare treat to have him. His solo work has been par excellence, and the people hear him with keenest delight. His chorus work is equally fine. Quite a number of new members have

The meeting Sunday afternoon will be in the nature of a mass meeting for both men and women. The subject will be "Rag Time Religion." This is one of Dr. Walker's best sermons and deals with some most important and fundamental truths.
