

SEVERE PUNISHMENT

Of Mrs. Chappell, of Five Years' Standing, Relieved by Cardui.

Mt. Airy, N. C.—Mrs. Sarah M. Chappell of this town, says: "I suffered for five years with womanly troubles, also stomach troubles, and my punishment was more than any one could tell. I tried most every kind of medicine, but none did me any good. I read one day about Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I decided to try it. I had not taken but about six bottles until I was almost cured. It did me more good than all the other medicines I had tried, put together. My friends began asking me why I looked so well, and I told them about Cardui. Several are now taking it. Do you, lady reader, suffer from any of the ailments due to womanly trouble, such as headache, backache, sideache, sleeplessness, and that everlasting tired feeling? If so, let us urge you to give Cardui a trial. We feel confident it will help you, just as it has a million other women in the past half century. Begin taking Cardui to-day. You won't regret it. All druggists. Write to: Chattanooga Medicine Co., Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions on your case and 64-page book, 'Home Treatment for Women.' In plain wrapper. N. PREVENT AUTO ACCIDENTS

Law Concerning the Operating and Speed of Automobiles on Public Highways in This State.

It is all very well to gratify our children and even take a pride in their accomplishments, but there are entirely too many serious accidents, involving even loss of life. The following section 13 is taken from chapter 107, Public Laws 1913, and should be obeyed by all:

Section 13. That no person shall operate a motor vehicle upon the public highways of this State who is under the age of sixteen years, and no person shall operate a motor vehicle when intoxicated, or in a race, or on a bet or wager, or for the purpose of making a record; Provided, nothing herein contained shall prevent racing on private race courses or tracks.

The sheriffs and police officers are specially charged with its enforcement. Is it enforced? If not, why not?

GASOLINE

Guilty of Large Proportion of Deaths

A very large proportion of the deaths from fire in Kansas are due to carelessness with kerosene and gasoline, according to the statistics of the State fire marshal.

Both gasoline and kerosene are used extensively in cookstoves during the summer months, especially in those sections of the State that have no natural gas.

When properly used they are a wonderful boon to the housewife, especially on the farm where there is so much cooking to do and where neither natural nor artificial gas is available.

But carelessness with a gasoline or kerosene stove is almost criminal. It is the mother of the family who handles the stove. She cannot be spared. She owes it to her little ones to take care of herself.

The housewife in the summer is dressed in light cotton clothing. Such garments are intensely inflammable. Even a slight explosion of gasoline or kerosene is almost sure to end fatally.

If you use one of these stoves keep these "Never's" in mind:

Never fill the stove when it is lighted or when there is a flame of any sort close by.

Never fill a gasoline stove when there is an open light, fire or flame of any sort anywhere in the room.

Never allow dirt or litter such as burned matches or any traces of oil or grease to remain on or about the stove.

Never keep gasoline in the house. It is as powerful and more easily exploded than dynamite. Kerosene should also be kept outside if possible, especially if kept in any quantity.—Kansas Bulletin.

PERSONAL RESPONSIBILITY.

At the office of the chief fire warden it was said that the ordinance providing a fine for the violation of the provisions of the ordinances relating to fire prevention and making the owners of property liable for the expense of the fire department in extinguishing fires caused by negligence in respect to such ordinances and the rules and orders of the fire prevention bureau, has been a wonderful aid in the prevention work. The terms of this ordinance are printed on the back of the blanks used in giving owners or occupants of property notice to clean up or make repairs and their attention is called to this fact when such notices are presented. They usually hesitate only a short time when they understand the consequences of neglect, and it is not often necessary to go any further with the matter. A second inspection generally finds the premises in good shape.—Fire Protection.

DETAIL RATES.

The law now requires that when ever any property in the State is rated that a detail rating shall be furnished to the owner or his manager showing the basis rate, the deficiencies charged for, the credits given and the rate made. This enables the citizen to see what it is that makes up the rate on his property, and in many cases he can have the rate reduced by making corrections of deficiencies. Many agents in the State say that the people are paying very little attention to these detail ratings when they are given. It is just that this is not the case. The agent is also required to state upon the back of each policy the synopsis of the rate, showing the basis, total deficiencies, total credits and rate. Every citizen of the State is urged to examine his policy, see what he is charged for deficiencies, and find out if he cannot have these deficiencies removed.

ALMOST INCREDIBLE.

A fire which destroyed a house at Tar River and Helen streets, Oakes, Monday, a boy aged ten years and a girl of two were burned to death. The boy had been sent to fill a coal oil lamp. He carried a lighted candle, and an explosion of the oil can started the fire. The bodies of the children were sent to the morgue from the burning building.—Carter's Weekly Report.

SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson VII.—Third Quarter, For Aug. 13, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, II Cor. ix.—Memory Verses, 10, 11—Golden Text, Acts 20:35—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The topic of this lesson is "The Grace of Giving" and covers chapter VIII, as well as our lesson chapter, but we cannot refrain from a glance at the whole epistle even though we shall have another study in it in a few weeks. Second epistles are apt to have special reference to things future, and this one is no exception. Notice the resurrection, and the glory, and the things unseen and eternal of chapter IV, 14-18. The heart of the lesson is to me the last verse of our chapter, "Thanks be unto God for His unspeakable gift" (ix, 15), or as Weymouth has it, "His unspeakable precious gift." The word "unspeakable" is used only three times—here and chapter XII, 4; and I Pet. I, 8. In each place it is a different Greek word, and used only this once. If such a gift from such a God does not constrain us to be all that He would like us to be and do all that He would like us to do it is only another evidence of our blindness and hardness of heart. This letter is from Paul and Timothy and has a good deal in it concerning suffering and deliverance and comfort, but specially concerning comfort, as in I, 3, 4; II, 7; VII, 4, 6, 7, 13; XIII, 11.

The great adversary is mentioned as Satan, the God of this world, the serpent (II, 11; IV, 4; XI, 3). We are taken back to the first recorded words of God in the Bible, "Let there be light" and are taught to find there a foreshadowing of the light that shines into our souls when we are born again by receiving His word (IV, 6). Such love and grace as were seen in the Lord Jesus Christ becoming poor for us that we might share His riches constrained these people first to give their own selves to the Lord and then, in great affliction and deep poverty, prove the sincerity of their love by unusual liberality (chapters V, 14; VIII, 1-9). They were so enriched spiritually in everything—in faith, in utterance, in knowledge, in diligence, in love—that they abounded in giving to others, so that Paul wrote them that it was superfluous for him to say anything to them concerning ministering to the saints (I Cor. I, 4, 5; II Cor. VIII, 7; IX, 1, 11, 12). He encouraged them by saying that their zeal had provoked many to do likewise, and now he trusted that they would be on time with their gifts, so that his boasting might not seem in vain (IX, 2-5). There had been the readiness to do a full year ago, and now it only remained for them to perform the doing of it.

No one was to be burdened, and there was to be no anxious longing to do more than they were able, but all must remember that a willing mind was everything, and God only expected them to do that which He gave them the ability to do (chapter VIII, 10-12). Many waste time and breath talking of what they would do if they could, or if they had the time and money which some one else has, but I am constantly thankful that we are only responsible for the use of what God gives us either of time, or money, or talents, or ability of any kind.

All our service must be from the heart, unto the Lord and cheerfully willing, for God loveth a cheerful or hilarious giver (verse 7). God gives so bountifully, first His beloved Son and then with Him freely all things (John III, 16; Rom. VIII, 32). But our giving is not always on those lines, and we need to remember verse 6, with Prov. XI, 24: "He who soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly, and he who soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully." "There is that scattereth and yet increaseth, and there is that withholdeth more than is meat, but it tendeth to poverty." When the tabernacle of Moses was built the people gave so willingly that they had to be restrained from bringing, and the same spirit was manifest on the part of David and his people in the matter of gifts for the temple (Ex. XXXV, 21, 29; XXXVI, 5-7; I Chron. XXIX, 1-9, 17).

Ever since 1884 I have found pleasure and profit in giving to the Lord at least one-tenth of all that He sends me as an evidence that I recognize that all is His, and I have found much blessing in doing this and earnestly commend the plan to others. It is not Jewish, for it is at least as old as the time of Abraham. Neither is there any bondage in it, but the most perfect freedom. I have associated in my mind VIII, 9, and IX, 8, of these two chapters (the figures are easily remembered) and rejoice in the grace of Him who became poor that we might be rich and who is able to make all grace abound toward us, that we, having such all sufficiency, may abound to every good work. I have seen such cheerful giving on the part of my own congregation of less than 200 people, resulting in as much as $10,000 a year for missions, that I desire the same blessing for others. See my tract "Secret of Missionary Interest." Box 219, Harrisburg, Pa. And note that all this giving of $50,000 a year from my church and Bible classes is wholly on pre-millennial lines, according to I Cor. I, 7; IV, 5; XI, 24; XV, 50-52; XVI, 22; II Cor. IV, 14, 17; V, 10, the coming of Christ for His saints and then with us to set up His kingdom being the inspiration to let Him use us to the utmost to give the gospel to all.
