Asthma-Catarrh and Bronchitis

Can Be Greatly Relieved by the New External Vapor Treatment.

Don't take internal medicines or habit-forming drugs for these troubles. Vick's "Vap-O-Rub" Salve is applied externally and relieves by inhalation as a vapor and by absorption through the skin. For Asthma and Hay Fever, melt a little Vick's in a spoon and inhale the vapors, also rub well over the spinal column to relax the nervous tension. 25c, 50c, or $1.00.

VICK'S VAPOR SALVE

Saving Soil by Dynamite.

That the force of a high explosive may be used to save as well as destroy is shown by some recent experiments reported from Griffin, Ga., in a press bulletin issued by one of our powder companies. The enormous waste of fertile land that is taking place throughout large areas of the South and West by torrential washing may, it appears, be prevented, at least in some cases, by breaking a downward passage for the storm-water through an underlying crust. Most of the soil around Griffin, we are told, is rich and fertile, but washes badly, being overlaid with a red clay hardpan just below the worked surface. That water can not penetrate this impervious layer is the chief cause of all the trouble. Rain-water readily soaks into the open top-soil, but when it reaches this layer of tight red clay it can go no farther. As more water falls, it saturates the top-soil and runs off on the surface, taking the soil along with it. Left unchecked, a wash soon develops into a gully. How to get the water to run in instead of off is the problem. To quote the bulletin:

"An interesting experiment is now being conducted by an up-to-date farmer near Griffin to test out the value of dynamite in controlling this erosion."

The arm on which this experiment is located is of a rolling nature, and the soil is typical of this section. The farm buildings are built on a knoll, or slight elevation, and adjoining these is a large field that slopes away from them. In this field there were three bad washes. In the past it had been practically impossible to stop them, as much water washes on this field from the homestead lot.

"This experiment was started in October, 1915. Two of the three washes were subsided with dynamite, while the third one was let as a check. In blasting these washes charges consisting of one-half cartridge of red cross farm powder were placed every 12 or 15 feet to a depth of about 30 inches.
These were tamped tight, and exploded with cap and fuse. Two rows of charges, one on either side, were placed parallel to and along the entire length of each wash, about 8 or 7 feet back from it. They were so arranged that the charge on one side was not opposite the charge on the other side. Charges were placed in the wash themselves every 30 or 40 feet. In addition to this charges were placed at and above the source of each wash. Where the washes crossed a terrace the charges were placed very 15 feet for a considerable distance at right angles to them, and along back of the terrace just where the water would naturally settle.

"The idea in blasting along the sides of the wash and back of the terraces was to break up the hard sand so that the water would soak through it to the pervious stratum below instead of being obliged to run off on the surface.
In other words, the blasting was to effect vertical drainage. In blasting at the source, the thought was to get the water to run in before it ever reached the wash."

"After the blasting was done the entire field was worked in the same manner and seeded to wheat. Between seeding-time and the 20th of December there were three hard rains. The two old washes that had been dynamited showed no effect of the downpours, but the soil in the other one that was not dynamited by this time had started to wash away, carrying the wheat with it. The soil in the un-blasted wash continued to wash away all during the winter, but no erosion whatever was noted on the two blasted ones."

"All during the season the wheat on the blasted sections along the sites of the old wash and back of the terraces grew much better than that on any other part of the field. When it was cut, it was carefully estimated by several farmers that not only the wheat, but the straw as well, that was harvested from the blasted sections yielded fully 20 per cent. more than did the wheat and straw from the rest of the field.

"As soon as the wheat was harvested the stubble was turned under and the field seeded to cow-peas. From the very start the cow-peas on the blasted sections did exactly what the wheat had done—grew much more luxuriantly than anywhere else. . . .
The courses of the two old washes could be followed as far off, practically, as the field could be seen. This was due to the better crop growth on the blasted areas. Had it not been for this, the sites of the old washes could not have been told."

A CHILD GETS CROSS, SICK AND FEVERISH
WHEN CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated clean little liver and bowels.

If your little one's tongue is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally; if breath is bad stomach sour, system full of cells, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

Dolms Around Dickens.

We thought we would let the read-are still living around Dickens.

Miss Bessie Dickens, of Castalia, is Mr. Stephenson, of Winston-Salem, made a fine speech at White Level last Tuesday.

Most of the people in this section has had the Rozaola or have it now.

GIRLS! ITS YOUR STEP THAT ATTRACTS!

Says women pay too much heed to their face instead of their corns.

Watch your step! A brisk, lively step is what charms more than a lovely skin, but your high heels have caused corns and you limp a little. That's bad, girls, and you know it. Corns destroy beauty and grace, besides corns are very easy to remove.

Rid your feet of every corn by asking at any drug store for a quarter of an ounce of freezezone. This will cost little but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops applied directly upon a tender, touchy-corn relieves the sore-ness and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out without pain.

This freezezone is a gummy substance which dries instantly and simply shrels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding skin.

Women must keep in mind that ed-less feet create a youthful step while shapely feet detract from attractiveness.

Somebody should suggest to ball clubs that the exercise has in them at subjects to shoulder a ball ket. If not that, then the swing of ball club is not so very different that of a hoe.
