Look out for "All-Fools Day"—Tuesday, April first.

An Amendment has been accepted by the Peace Conference safeguarding the Monroe Doctrine.

It is expected that the 113th Artillery that paraded in Raleigh, will be discharged this week, or the first of next.

Attorney-General Manning has given out his opinion of the State Warehouse law as unconstitutional and it has been suggested that the Board may invite a test case early to get a ruling of the Supreme Court on same.

The government announces that all persons will be expected to turn their clocks up one hour on Monday night in compliance with the Daylight Saving act. Don't forget this, or you will be finding yourself one hour behind time in your engagements.

The trouble in Hungary, reported this week as a proclamation of war against the Allies, seems to have been only a temporary Bolshevik uprising. Press dispatches yesterday were without any information about conditions there.

It seems to have been definitely settled that there will be two candidates for Mayor of Louisburg this spring. The friends of both Mayor Joyner and Commissioner Williamson are already claiming the odds. They are both good men and the selection of either will be no mistake.

Gov. Bickett has appointed the State Highway Commission as provided under the new law. The appointments and their term of office follow: Lieut. Frank Page, of Aberdeen, Chairman, six years; John E. Cameron, of Kinston, four years; James K. Norfleet, of Winston-Salem, two years; James G. Strickleather, of Asheville, two years.

For some reason there has been no united agreement on "who shall be Commissioners for Louisburg next year. Quite a large number of mighty good men are being mentioned. Everybody seems to consider the job an encumbrance so why not shift the burden to younger men for a while? How have you served gratis long enough and it's nothing but fun and proper to respect older people.

In another column will be found the Amendments to the Franklin County Salary law, which reports represented as increasing the salaries. Under the changes it will not be necessary for any additional cost to the county as the officers had clerks heretofore sufficient to take the funds set aside for them. If the officers will be required to keep all the work done as it develops there will be no need for complaint.

BRIGHTER TONE IN COTTONSEED INDUSTRY

Barnes and Lucas Bring Back Optimistic Report From Conference at Washington—Mills That are Buying Seed to be Favored.

Raleigh, Mar. 25.—K. W. Barnes, secretary to State Board of Agriculture and John Paul Lucas, executive secretary of the Food Administration, returning from Washington yesterday brought an optimistic report from the conference of cotton oil refiners, cottonseed crushers, cottonseed dealers, farmers and Food Administration officials held at the Food Administration Office at Washington on Wednesday.

There has been rough sledding in the cottonseed industry during the last three months but it was the unanimous opinion of those in attendance at the Washington conference that the turning point has been reached and that from now on there will be a steady and increasing demand for crude oil and oil products. A brighter tone prevails throughout the industry.

There is still necessity for patience on the part of crushers, cottonseed dealers, ginners producers who have not been able to move their products as rapidly as they would like. According to Mr. Lucas the facts are clear and simple and are these:

(1) Crushers are not going to take cottonseed any faster than they can dispose of the oil from the seed.

(2) Refiners are not going to take crude from the crushers any faster than they can dispose of lard compound and refined oils.

Two days previous to the conference Mr. Hoover had sent an order for 22,500,000 pounds of lard compound. This huge order was all located among the various packers and refiners. The refiners and packers in turn are placing orders for crude oil with these oil mills which are in greatest distress and the oil mills in turn are purchasing additional seed. Mr. Hoover announced in his cable that other large orders would follow, this practically assuring a steady movement of oil products and complete relief to the industry, every factor of which, from the farmer to the refiner, has been under a burden of uncertainty and anxiety during the last few months.

Other significant and encouraging facts are these: Hog lard has advanced in price during the past two months from 22c to 28c per pound. Hog lard packers are sold up 60 days ahead and are quoting no hog lard for immediate delivery, and, in fact, they are temporarily urging the use of lard compound. Stocks of cheap imported soybean and peanut oil have been largely exhausted and Domestic bean and peanut oil have advanced rapidly in price during the past two weeks. Corn oil has advanced from 17c to 21c a pound in the past ten days and manufacturers of this product are overseas already.

The entire afternoon session of the conference was devoted to discussion of the matter of allocating orders for lard compound and other oil products among refiners and packers, and of crude oil among crushers. The discussion hinged upon the following resolutions which was introduced at the beginning of the session by Mr. Lucas: "Resolved that it is the sense of this Conference:

"(1) That the United States Food Administration in allocating orders for lard compound and refined oils should place such order, insofar as possible, only with those concerns which are actively in the market for crude cottonseed oil or who will agree to purchase crude cottonseed oil sufficient to replace the stocks sold; or with those who by their records can show that they have already shouldered their share of the burden.

"(2) That in allocating orders for crude oil the refiners should place orders only with those crushers actively in the market for cottonseed or who will agree to purchase seed sufficient to replace stocks sold if seed are offered for sale in territory; or with those who can show by their records that they have already assumed their share of the load."

The resolution as introduced by Mr. Lucas was finally adopted with a committee of all interests represented endorsing the course the Food Administration has pursued with regard to the cottonseed industry up to date and expressing confidence in its ability and purpose to carry out the stabilization program.

It might be stated incidentally that in a preliminary report from the Bureau of the Census which was read at the Conference that the crushers of North Carolina showed up to better advantage in proportion of cottonseed they have handled than the crushers of any other State.

North Carolina crushers had purchased up to March 1st, 304,995 tons of cottonseed against purchase of 285,369 tons on the same date last year. They had crushed up to March 1st 248,497 tons against 183,902 tons on the same date last year. They had on hand March 1st 53,063 tons against 33,325 tons last year. It is estimated that from 25,000 to 40,000 tons of cottonseed remain in the hands of dealers, ginners and farmers today in North Carolina, this being from six to ten per cent of the crop in North Carolina available for crushing.

Chickens and Gardens.

A subscriber writing of the daylight saving plan as a means of aiding garden production says the public would be helped a great deal more by some plan to stop the depredations of the neighbor's chickens.

True enough, but the government can easily get action on its daylight saving plan, while it hardly could take up the problem of legislating against chicken depredations.

The chicken is every bit of as big and vexatious a problem as the dog problem. We are not so sure but that every community ought to forbid either vegetable-growing or chicken-farming. The two activities seem altogether incompatible.

But while adequate legislation is being waited for on this matter, would it not be well for every chicken raiser to try to put himself in the place of the gardener and imagine how it would feel to have one's seeds and young plants plucked up by a neighbor's chickens?

A little undiluted Christianity is the sovereign panacea. Cannot every community cultivate it on an increasing scale?—News-Observer.

KHAKI SOLDIERS DID NOT LET UP

And the Nation Will Show That It Stands Behind Them in the Victory Liberty Loan Drive.

More than a million of Uncle Sam's boys are "over there" looking after the common good of the world. And they will have to stay upon the job until it is done; until things are righted again; until order is brought out of chaos.

While they are overseas they must be taken care of adequately; they must be clothed and fed and lodged comfortably. Uncle Sam estimates that it costs $423.27 a year to equip and maintain a soldier in Europe.

Part of the proceeds from the coming Victory Liberty Loan will be devoted to caring for the "doughboys." Part of it will go into the rehabilitation fund for putting the injured soldiers back upon their feet. Part of it will go for insurance claims. The rest of it will go to meet the hundred and one other demands for this greatest of world emergencies since the dawn of civilization.

Every mother's son of them did his part, helped insure liberty and justice for the world at large and restore Uncle Sam to his rightful position in the estimation of the nations of earth.

They did their duty fully, these boys who won. They fought to the end, through fire and flood. They never talked about letting up.

This is no time for Americans to think of letting up. The nation must stand by its guns, by its records; by Uncle Sam and must make the next loan another big success.
