Old clothing has been worn to shreds. In some sections a month's wages for a skilled workman will not buy sufficient garments to keep a child warm. Millions of homes were stripped bare of every comfort in exchange for clothing. Now there is nothing more to exchange, not comfort in exchange for clothing. Now there is nothing more to exchange, not a stick of furniture left to sell. Fuel meet the third Sunday afternoon after meet the sunday afternoon after

Is there any Louisburg nome hat has Sunday school and we are expecting a fine program.

We also have a ball game at Centerrive? Reports from abroad by repre-Friends Service Committee urge us that the need is far greater than even our utmost generosity can meet. But if we act immediately we may save a multitude of homes from a winter of extreme misery.

The appeal is chiefly for secondhand warm garments that are wearable; for warm but serviceable shoes, especially those which are broad and with low heels; for baby clothes of every description and material from which infants' garments may be quickly made; for knitted things and for woolen yarn to be knit by European mothers.

Be sure that all garments are strong and serviceable, carefully mended, with buttons on, etc., and only ship those garments that are worth the freight charges. If we are to help these people, we must send good cloth es. Remember they have no sewing materials, and no time, and in many cases no strength left to mend. The National Red Cross organization and the American Friends Service committee have made elaborate provision to assemble and ship the clothing that is donated. The want is so urgent that the greater promptness will mean the greater mercy. We know that the people of Louisburg will respond with their usual generosity to this appeal. Send all donations to the home of Mrs. J. A. Turner before August 18th as his is the shipping date. If it is not convenient for you to send, let Mrs.

splendid gift was made by R. Wright, of Durham, in memory of his sister, Miss Pattie Julia Wright, who attended Louisburg College years ago. Miss Wright left some manuscripts in prose and verse which her brother edited and had published, not for distri-bution through the channels of trade, but for private distribution among friends and loved ones. Mr. Wright has kindly sent a copy to place in the library, and the gift is greatly appreciated.

This contribution comes in the form of a scholarship foundation, and the proceeds of it are to be used to help needy and worthy girls to secure an education. It is really a gift to the poor but ambitious girls or North Carolina who are struggling against fi-nancial odds to secure an education, and he has made Louisburg College the trustee of this fund. It is a res-ponsibility which the college will seek to administer with a due appreciation of the purpose that was in the mindof the donor, and many a girl through coming years will gratefully member this kind benerattor for the timely assistance which he had thus rendered.
