USE OF THREE COMPANIES WILL COST STATE $7,000

Over seven thousand dollars the State of North Carolina will have to pay for sending three companies of the North Carolina National Guard to Concord and Kannapolis to attend the opening of cotton mills there after a strike of cotton mill workers, in protest against a 40 per cent cut in wages. Under the new law, it is said, the State must pay the bill. Formerly the county calling for the troops paid. The estimate of the cost of the use of troops is figured on a basis of $5 per man for transportation, food and pay. There are 175 officers and men on duty and most of them have been on duty eight days.

One can say "Don't be in a hurry" in such a way that in three minutes the guest is gone.
