KENTUCKY BREAKS HER CO-OP RECORD

Virginia Carolina Growers Celebrate Association's Birthday This Week.

The complete success of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association was made clear this week by dispatches which state that in its first year's operation 89 per cent of the Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Tennessee growers have organized and have sold their entire deliveries for $21.98, an average of $9.98 higher than for their 1920 crop. According to the latest news from Kentucky, the 1920 crops of 220,000,000 pounds sold for an average of 12 cents bringing a total of $26,400,000. The 1921 crop amounted to approximately 180,000,000 pounds and sold for an average both in the association and out, of around 21 cents bringing a total of $37,800,000. The 1922 crop estimated at approximately 240,000,000 pounds at 31 cents per pound will bring a total of $74,000,000. President James C. Stone of the Burley Association states that in the first two years' operation of the association there will be between $45,000,000 and $50,000,000 more money distributed among the growers in the Burley section than would have reached them had the association not been organized.

The Virginia Carolina tobacco farmers in the first year of cooperative marketing will receive at least $40,000,000 more for their tobacco than it brought them last year, according to official crop statistics and in spite of greatly increased production.

George W. Kolner, commissioner of Agriculture for Virginia, in reviewing the benefits of cooperative marketing for one year in that state, declared in a letter to Raleigh headquarters: "Never in the history of tobacco growing in the section covered by your association have prices been so high with full crop to sell. I believe the association has saved millions for our farmers and its usefulness is in its infancy compared to what the association can and will accomplish in the future with the solid backing of all tobacco growers."

The South Carolina farmers started celebrations of the birthday of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association early this week when Governor T. G. McLeod addressed a great gathering of association members at Darlington, S. C. last Monday. As the date of the third payment approaches enthusiasm is reaching white heat throughout the South Carolina belt where members of the cooperative are expected to bring hundreds of new contracts to the Association warehouses as they come to collect their third cash payment. This third payment to the organized tobacco farmers of South Carolina will be more than a half of their last payment and will be followed by a fourth payment, according to their directors.

Many local units of the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association are holding special programs this week in both Virginia and North Carolina, barbecues and picnics being planned for by a number of local and county associations. Southall Farrar, district agent of Virginia, who will be the Virginia speaker at the series of meetings held in Darlington, Florence, Kingstree and Marion, S. C. this week will address the county meeting of tobacco growers from cooperative locals to be held in Bedford next Saturday, February 10th.

NEWS FROM CEDAR ROCK

Mr. Editor:—If you are not weary of items from Cedar Rock you may insert the following in your valuable paper.

Everything is moving on very nicely on the Rock excusing right much sickness and several deaths. After an illness of about two months Mr. T. H. Collier passed away Sunday p. m., Jan. 28. Mr. Collier would have been seventy-eight years old in Feb. He was an old soldier and a great old man, a regular old time Southerner. Was respected by the whole community which was manifested by the large crowd attending his burial. Mr. Collier lived in the home of the late Rev. J. W. Sledge twenty-three years, and in the home of the writer three years. Therefore he seemed almost as a member of the family, and was regarded as such. We will greatly miss him, he was truly a good hearted old man. A servant to humanity. We thank those who so kindly helped us to lay him away and especially the few who so faithfully helped us to administer unto his needs while sick, your kindness will be long remembered.

Miss Viola Bobbitt, of Littleton, is spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. J. O. Sledge.

We are proud of the progress of our high school this year, and while the price may seem high when we go to pay our tax especially to those who are not in reality living in the age of progress, but when such is the case, visit the nice brick school building, have the teachers march the youngsters out in the sunshine and look into the faces of about 175 boys and girls, and then think of the comparison of money and citizenship.

By the spring we hope to enjoy our new highway which costs us nothing in the form of tax except for a tin tag to put on Tin Lizzie which we will forget the first mile on our new road.

We are sorry for the scribe in our community who painted such a dark picture in his article last week. And if the unjust, unfair, biased and prejudiced criticism he made of my work for the State Highway Commission was of any relief to him and likely to awaken his bitterness against progress to any extent; then I am glad to hear it, but I thought the Colonel saw his error last June. Wonder what will be blame when he doesn't have to pay any tax. Get in the boat of progress, it rides better.

J. O. SLEDGE.

Shoe Repairing That Wears Longer

All of the repairs on Shoes at our shop is done in a most intelligent and workmanlike manner. The stitches are removed from the old shoes by hand and the new work sewed in the original holes. This of course necessitates more labor, and gives greater life to your shoes by not having the leather cut to pieces by new holes every time they are repaired. However our prices are not any higher on this class of good work than is prevailing on cheaper workmanship.
