

French Sailors Join Soldiers
On Guard in the Ruhr

SHOWN here is a detachment of French men-o-war's men, just arrived at Dusseldorf to join the Gallic soldiers in occupation of the Ruhr. These reinforcements are France's answer to those who insist that she made a mistake in trying to hasten payment of war damages by a seizure of German territory.

Here Is the Women's "Bloc" in Sixty-Seventh Congress

THE women included among the members of the House of Representatives during the closing weeks of the Sixty-seventh Congress didn't, as a matter of actual fact, officially form a "bloc," but they were three strong and might have done so. Shown here, from left to right, they are Mrs. Winifred Mason Huck of Illinois and Miss M. E. Nolan of California, who were elected to fill vacancies, and Miss Alice Robertson of Nebraska, who, defeated for another term, goes back to restaurant work in Muskogee.

French Soldiering in the Ruhr Looks Like Hard Work

When the French invaded Germany's coal region, the Ruhr, the nation's resources have nearly all struck. So, as they came after coal, the French soldiers are taking their own. A detail is shown "requisitioning" a carload of fuel. It isn't called "confiscation," though it looks like much the same thing.

STEADY INCREASE
BY TOBACCO CO-OP
Association Added 345 Members Nearly 1 1-2 Million Pounds Last Month

The farmers in three states are steadily joining the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association. The addition of 345 new members and the sign-up of 1,417,440 pounds of tobacco to the increasing favor with which the growers regard their big selling organization.

The payment to South Carolina growers of 105 per cent of the loan value of their tobacco to date, has brought in new members from all parts of the South Carolina belt. Some of the cooperative growers in South Carolina have made phenomenally high averages and are now looking forward to their fourth and final payment.

Among happy co-ops in the Palmetto State are J. H. Joyner, of Lake City, who averaged 45 cents per pound on 3,033 pounds. George Singletary, of Cowards, who has already drawn $1,201 from one and seven-eighths acres of tobacco from his first three advances. C. R. Floyd and J. N. Floyd, of Lake City, have so far averaged over 50c a pound on their crops which ran over five acres apiece. J. N. Floyd having received $788.89 on one load weighing 1300 pounds.

More than $30,000 has been collected by the Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association through its force of collectors who have taken the field at the request of the loyal membership who insist that all contract breakers of their communities pay the damages of 5c a pound for tobacco delivered outside of the association.

The three tobacco cooperative associations of the Carolina, Virginia and Kentucky have now gained a combined membership of 220,000 farmers, and according to estimate have secured $100,000,000 more for the southern tobacco crop in the last two years than would have been made without cooperative marketing.
