LET'S step inside the money booth, at a moving picture show, and join the girl who sells the tickets there. Let's get an inkling of the truth of what this girl must know of men who see the afternoon affair. Where do these fellows come from and, just why are they free to spend their time and money at a show, when other men are working, say, for instance, you and me? That's just the point that I would like to know. We eye a dapper fellow who is buying just one seat. He pulls a roll of money from his jeans. Perhaps his dad is wealthy and is paying for the treat while son admires the moving picture queens. Another man approaches and he looks from left to right. When in his seat he is the man who squirms. Perhaps he's one of many who dislike to go at night and, afterwards, steal worktime from their firms. And still another fellow, rather old but, yet quite spry, will purchase tickets for himself and wife. The world can know he's loafing and the world can pass on by, for he's retired and now's enjoying life. And so we watch the men folks who are long on matinees. It may, or not be truth that we've unfurled. But, just the same, a lot of folks are filled with funny ways. It takes these kind of folks to make a world

The Profitable Way to Keep Hens Only One Feed to Buy

Many people claim that it costs more to feed poultry than they return in meat and eggs. This is largely due to the use of an unbalanced feed. Grains and scratch feeds made from grains are not a balanced feed.
No flock, large or small, will ever pay a profit on an unbalanced feed. While on a balanced feed, which costs but little more, the same fowls will furnish enough eggs and meat to liberally reward their owners.
Using two different feeds—one a scratch made of grains—the other a mash of concentrates, was the usual way of balancing the rations, but it is too troublesome for the average person. It doesn't balance the ration for every hen, consequently it is used by only a few. The two-in-one method, a mash and scratch all in one, a feed that can be fed like wheat or corn, is the real solution for the average man. Gubernut Laying Feed is just such a feed—a perfectly balanced feed. Many users call it a real discovery. The longer you use it, the better you like it—those who have fed it constantly for a year or more are its greatest boosters. Ask the person who has fed it, or order a sack and be convinced. Money back if not satisfied.

ON Saturday a man will rise and eat; then rush away. To hurry down to work he's wise, for coming is his pay.
On Sunday morn a man will wake, with Father Time he'll jest. In rising, lots of time he'll take for 'tis his day of rest.
On Monday morn, alas, a lack, a man feels full of shirk, and yet he has to hustle back and buckle down to work.
The other days the week brings rounds are mentioned all in one, for always they seem just the same in playtime or in fun.
With life, it seems, we always will the same old story sing. For man considers every day by what that day will bring.
