THE SMILE BOX

If I knew the box where the smiles are kept, No matter how large the key, Or strong the bolt, I would try so hard, It would open, I know, for me. Then, over the land and sea, broadcast, I'd scatter the smiles to play, So that careworn people might hold them fast For many and many a day.

If I knew a box that was large enough To hold all the frowns I meet, I would like to gather them, every one From nursery, school, and street; Then, folding and holding, I'd pack them in, And turning the monster key, I'd hire a giant to drop the box To the depth of the deep, deep sea.

NEVER MIND ABOUT YOUR NEIGHBOR

Watchong to see what your neighbor is doing is a mighty good thing to do at times. Some of our most helpful ideas of how to improve our farms come from the things the neighbor has done. Right now, however, don't you worry about your neighbor's business, but just set yourself straight. Your neighbor might not be willing to reduce his cotton acreage, but that is his mistake. He may not see the necessity of keeping out of debt, but don't let that influence you to buy your supplies at time prices. You may regret that your neighbor is so foolish but as for you and your family, grow your own food and feed at home. With the aid of a garden, a cow and chickens any farmer who has meat in the smoke-house and corn in the crib can go through this year, if he will, without giving a lien on his crop for supplies bought on a credit. As for you, just face the fact that there is already more cotton in the world than can be used and that adding more cotton will bring the price lower. The probabilities are that you will have sufficient number of foolish neighbors who will not recognize this to produce a much bigger crop of cotton than they can possibly sell to an advantage. For your part, therefore, limit your cotton production to a small part of what you ordinarily grow and use your time and labor in producing things that will put your farm on the independent list so that you can carry the few bales of cotton you do make just as long as you please while you wait for normal times. It is not your neighbor who must pay your bills or who will grieve over a year of mispent labor or be depressed because your barns and store houses are not filled with everything you and your family and your stock will need to supply wants during the winter and the coming year.

COMMUNITY CLUB WORK

There has been much said about community club work, but there is but one way to do it, that is to organize and go to work. I pay tribute to the woman's club of Popes in their splendid work during the illness of Mr. and Mrs. Mario. They are both old and afflicted and needed help while sick with influenza. The woman's club visited them and carried supplies such as eggs, coffee, sugar, meal, potatoes, chickens, lemons, cake, pickles, custard and other things such as was needed and the little sum of $5.25. This is some of their work. Kindness of this kind will never be forgotten. Presenting the thought of the good Samaritan. The woman's club of Popes is to be congratulated for their good community work. May a double portion of blessings be upon them. Respectfully submitted, BONNIE P. HINTON, R 2, Youngsville, N. C.

WOMAN'S CLUB OF POPES

The Woman's Club of Popes met at its regular meeting Thursday after the Fourth Sunday, March 1st, with Miss Bordeaux acting as President-protem in charge. The line of work in this meeting was basketry, demonstrated by Miss Bordeaux. The order of business was taken up as follows: After a short talk by Miss Bordeaux and remarks by other members. Suggestions and plans were made for community work. Mrs. B. P. Hinton was elected president for the ensuing year. Miss Zelma Holmes, Miss Marjorie Moore, and Mrs. B. P. Hinton were elected as programme committee. Our club is working fine, cooperating with each other in community work, planning that our community may stand the test of the standard of excellence, as community workers. Our slogan for next meeting "Every one bring one." Our motto, we resolve to do the right with Christian love and fellowship. Reporter.
