Every time the business men of Louisburg get together in the interest of the town something good comes from it. Lets meet oftener.

Don't forget that there will be an election on October 31 to elect seven Graded School trustees for Louisburg District. Lets hope you will be wise in your choice for your children's sake.

Gov. Walton of Oklahoma, says if the Legislature will pass an Anti-Klux bill that he recommends he will get out. It may be possible that he will get out without their passing his bill.

Only a few new names have been mentioned in connection with the trustees for Louisburg District the past week that we have heard of. Among them are Messrs. T. W. Watson and H. C. Taylor.

It is exceedingly gratifying to see how the business men and tobaccoists are cooperating to make Louisburg market the most profitable to the farmer. The farmers are beginning to appreciate it and we believe will show their appreciations.

Everybody is delighted at the opening of the High School in Gold Mine-Sandy Creek District. The Board of Education is to be congratulated upon this venture. The children in this district deserve a fair chance at an education and from the opening it looks that all they were waiting for was an opportunity.

It is a pity that Governor Morrison has made the mistake to attempt to force negro labor upon the people of Mitchell County. If the people of this county do not want negroes within their midst and have succeeded in living without them for so long, it is unwise to insist that they shall have them. Even the negro himself is foolish to attempt to invade the territory, but in the case of convicts he can't help it. It is to be hoped that Gov. Morrison will withdraw the negro convicts and guards from Mitchell County.

CLEAN UP THE POTATO STORAGE HOUSE

Cured Potatoes Should Be Profitable This Year.

Raleigh, Oct. 8.—Sweet potato storage houses properly handled should make money this year, as there is a decrease of about a hundred million bushels in the Irish potato crop, and also a decided decrease in the sweet potato crop, reports C. D. Matthews, Chief of the Division of Horticulture for the State College and Department of Agriculture.

In order to make money, however, Mr. Matthews says that the crop must be properly handled in the field, put in storage and cured according to approved methods. Many dollars are needlessly lost because the grower is not willing to learn from the experience of others but wants to experiment for himself on operations that have already been standardized. "The storage house should be cleaned out and disinfected thoroughly in order to get rid of the numerous storage-rot germs left there from the previous crop," says Mr. Matthews. "A solution of formaldehyde made by mixing 1 pint of formalin (.1 per cent) in 10 to 15 gallons of water makes a good disinfectant with which to spray the interior of the house.

"The crates or containers should be purchased and delivered before the crop is dug in order to cause no delay at digging time. The standard bushel crate 12x12x15 is best for storage and shipment. A crate of the Owasso type should be used for storage while any durable efficient, economical and attractive crate is all right for shipment.

"The crop should be harvested before frost as a frosted potato will not keep. Also, the potatoes should be mature before being harvested. To test for maturity cut the potato and if the juice turns greenish in color in about three minutes it is not mature.

"Where storage houses are not owned on the farm and storage space is available in the community houses, arrangements should be made to store the crop there as a cold winter can be expected and only those potatoes properly stored and cured will keep successfully."

Mountain cabbage will soon be on the market in the form of succulent Kraut. This is a new cooperative enterprise promoted by workers of the Agricultural Extension Service.

The lady who recommended Wm. Tell to you was some friend of yours. Don't you think? Well, you say so, if you've tried it. 10-12-23

C. J. STRICKLAND

C. J. Strickland, whose original home is in Franklin County, but who has been in the automobile storage battery business for the past several years in many different service stations, is now the author and publisher of the only storage battery book written for the benefit of the automobile owners. Mr. Strickland is also doing some newspaper writing for some of the largest newspapers in the country and beginning today some of his articles will appear weekly in the FRANKLIN TIMES, giving the complete care and operation of the automotive storage battery. It will be well worth while for the readers of this paper to watch for his articles.

CHEEVES FAMILY RE-UNION

There was held at the home of Mr. C. T. Cheeves, Near Poplar Springs, on Saturday September 29th a re-union of the Cheeves Family.

This re-union was given in honor of the following four oldest surviving members of the Cheeves family: Miss Katie Cheeves, Mrs. Martha White, Mrs. Jane Williams, and Mr. Jimmy Cheeves. All four were present and the total ages of the four is about 330 years.

There was more than two hundred members of this family present. They commenced to arrive about nine o'clock in the morning and by noon they were all there. One o'clock, dinner was served on the lawn. There was plenty of good things to eat and more than enough to feed three times such a crowd. Many members of this family live in other counties, but mostly all returned to join the re-union. They all departed in the middle of the afternoon, glad they had been able to attend and have such an opportunity to see their loved ones.

Among the invited guests was: Rev. Mr. Noble, pastor of the Poplar Springs Baptist Church and Rev. Mr. Stamps of near Louisburg.

BATTERY TIPS

By C. J. Strickland, the Author of "Strickland's Battery Guide."

OWNERS SELDOM KNOW BATTERIES.

The battery being an electro chemical and not a mechanical part makes it hard for the average man to understand unless a great deal of study is exercised. The average man thinks that a battery is a place to store electricity, but it is not the case. In fact, there is not any electricity in a battery, even when it is fully charged. But there is electrical energy that sets the electricity in motion. The electricity is already in your lights, starter, horn, etc., but it is in a dead state. It cannot work until it is set in motion by the source of electrical energy.

To get the most service out of a battery great care must be taken of it. It must be fed not only with water, but with electrical current as well. The amount of food that a battery requires depends upon the amount of electrical energy that is being taken out. The generator is to furnish this food and it must be set correctly or it may ruin the battery.

Factories no longer wait for machinery to break down, thus tying up production and causing great cost, but they have men that are paid big salaries whose duty is to make regular inspections to find threatened trouble in time to correct it before the whole factory is tied up. The same should apply to a battery if it is kept in good condition it will work when called upon to do, but if it is not kept in good condition, how can it work when it is needed most?

It can be truly said that there are more batteries ruined by neglect than there are that wear out. Why? Because the users do not understand them, and do not understand the care that should be given them. Many batteries are ruined by the generators charging too much for the amount of driving that is being done; and there are many so-called batters, men who don't know the cause of it. They don't know that when they open a battery and the plates are buckled and shorted what caused them to buckle or warp. Lots and lots of times a man has gone into a battery service station and had his battery repaired at a big cost which came from neglect only. Many times a battery is recharged only because the generator is not charging enough to put back as much as is being drawn out of it, which could easily be remedied, if the user only knew how. Then there are many times they are ruined by not having enough water to cover the plates; sometimes this is the fault of the user's ignorance and sometimes it is his carelessness. But it all is expensive to the operator.

"These Rats Wouldn't Eat My Best Grain," Says Fred Lamb.

"It's hard to keep rats out of a feed store. Tried for years. A neighboring store sold me some RAT-SNAP. It worked wonders. Gathered up dead rats every morning. Bought more RAT-SNAP. Haven't a rat now. They wouldn't eat my best grain when I threw RAT-SNAP around." Three sizes, 35c, 65c, $1.25. Sold and guaranteed by Cash Grocery and Market.

Frequent Headaches

"I suffered with chronic constipation that would bring on very severe headaches," says Dr. Stephen H. Kinser, of E. E. D. Cripps Creek, Va. "I tried different medicines and did not get relief. The headaches became very frequent. I heard of and took it for a headache, and the relief was very quick, and it was so long before I had another headache. Now I just keep the Black-Draught, and don't let myself get in that condition."

Theford's Black-Draught (purely vegetable) has been found to relieve constipation, and by stimulating the action of the liver, when it is torpid, helps to drive many poisons out of your system. Biliousness, indigestion, headache, and similar troubles are often relieved in this way. It is the natural way. Be sure you try Black-Draught. Sold everywhere.

Don't deny your stomach—use only the best. It's William Tell. 10-12-23
