WOOD DEPARTMENT (Continued from Page Three)

The two new dormitories will make even more imperative the need of a central heating plant. Only a month ago was begun a $35,000 program.

The conditions laid down by this friend of the school constitute a challenge to men of means, and to all who believe in Christian education, and they may be met by individual gifts, by church contributions, or by a drive covering territory as wide as its patronage, now reaching from New Jersey to Texas, and embracing sixty-three of the one hundred counties of this State.

A meeting of the trustees and friends of the institution is called at Mars Hill on Tuesday, November 6, at 10 a. m., for the purpose of considering this gracious offer and perfecting plans for raising the required amount.

Will not a number of people in Gold Mine township and in Franklin county subscribe to this fund? Send subscriptions to President R. L. Moore, Mars Hill, N. C.

Have you brought your load of dry wood to the school building? Means of Society in High School Some may question what good we derive from Society. Well what if some one should answer, that it is a thorough polishing of our education? It helps to smooth the rough edges of our language and actions when we get out on that broad stage of society, where mingle so many people of different characters and classes.

In Society we get a glimpse of our school-mates lives that is not revealed in their everyday school work. We also get many beneficial trainings along the lines of good manners and behavior which lay the foundation for the future characters of our girls and boys of today.

Society is not only a polishing up of knowledge already gained. It teaches us many new things that are not found in our school books. It inspires and opens our minds to the literary world where we learn to admire and love more than ever that which is beautiful and good, as we study the lives and works of famous characters whose name will live in history through all the ages.

The good we get from Society is not dry and void of all enjoyment for with each program there is some special part for fun and enjoyment to make us spend our nerves tingling with mirth.

So watch our pupils as they leave school each Friday afternoon and see if they don't wear a society smile.

LOCAL NEWS

Messrs. Mack Hayes, Justice, and William Murphy, Raleigh, were visitors here Tuesday.

It gives us indeed great pleasure to hear so many visitors favorably comment upon our drug store.

The appearance of new Ford's and Stars is on the increase in our section.

The well house and part of the school building haven't been painted yet.

In another column we are presenting a paper on larger school attendance by one of our faculty prepared for the teachers meeting in Lottsburg. Last week we printed one on the same subject and one on Large High School Attendance by two other members of our faculty. We give these words to you with pleasure with the hope that the patrons and pupils of our school should know what is being done for education and the part to be taken by every one.

We also give in another column a paper on Means of Society in High School by one of the Gold-Sand High School pupils. We present this with a great deal of interest since it is our desire to create within our young people a longing and yearning to multiply their talents along educational lines. We are glad that this topic is discussed since such glowing accounts are given by the pupils of the success of the Friday afternoon society in Gold-Sand High School.
