BOLL WEEVIL CONTROL METHODS
approved by U.S. Government Experts

Boll weevils are not unlike inhabitants of cities. When "city folks" find the crowds in mid-summer are becoming unbearable they want to get away to quiet places where they will have more "elbow room." When the square "tenements" of the boll weevils become too crowded, they also become restless and take to the air. However, it is not necessary that they be crowded before their movement begins for their migratory instinct prompts them to seek new fields.

The weevil moves from place to place by flight. Although it does not fly far as compared with many other insects, it has been known to cover a distance of more than forty miles in a short time. It is unable to continue flight very long but by a series of short flights, especially when the wind is favorable, it may cover considerable distances.

The first movement is in the spring from winter quarters to the nearest cotton, usually a short distance. After the weevils reach the field there is very little movement except from plant to plant until well along in the summer. Over-wintered weevils and their offspring for several months only move like a slowly advancing overflow. Up until August about 90 per cent of the weevils in any field are those which develop practically where they are found.

About the middle of August an instinct on the part of the weevils to move about becomes noticeable. During this period weevils become restless and take to the air very actively, flying in all directions. This is sometimes due to heavy infestation in the field but seems primarily to be an instinct that has caused the extension of the infested area in the United States year by year until now it covers more than 600,000 square miles.

With the approach of cold weather there is another distinct movement on the part of the weevils. This is in to winter quarters in and about the cotton fields, and usually is a short flight.

One of the most striking things about the boll weevil is the rapid advance it has made across the cotton belt. The insect made its way into Southern Texas about 1892 and since has swept across the cotton territory to the Atlantic seaboard and as far north as Virginia. The annual advance has been from 40 to 150 miles.

Under some conditions the boll weevil is sometimes spread by man through the shipment of cotton and cotton products or of any commodity which originates on the farm. Spread by this means, however, has been of very little importance.

Feeding the pigs liberally this summer will make them less costly this fall and it might cause them to be in condition to sell on the high market in September, suggests W. W. Shay, swine extension specialist for the State College.

RAILROAD MAN GIVES FACTS IN HIS CASE

First Bottle of Tanlac Put Cornatzer On Road To Recovery From Stomach Trouble.

The old adage 'a stitch in time saves nine' is very forcefully illustrated in a statement regarding Tanlac made recently by S. D. Cornatzer, 1706 13th St., Lynchburg, Va., a railroad brakeman.

"It looked like I was going to have to quit work if I didn't find something to fix me up and I certainly count myself lucky that I got Tanlac.

"I could hardly eat a thing without having indigestion bad and I was so nervous that I couldn't sleep to amount to anything. Constipation was also bothering me, I had awful headaches and was extremely weak and run-down.

"Before I finished my first bottle of Tanlac, I was eating everything and sleeping fine and six bottles left me feeling strong and fit for any work. I don't want to get back in that condition again so whenever I feel a little run-down, I go straight for Tanlac. It's a great tonic.

"Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 Million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills, for constipation. Made and recommended by the manufacturers of Tanlac.

ELECTION COTTON ASSOCIATION

Raleigh, May 22.—Ballot are being mailed from the Raleigh office to all members of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association for the election of a board of directors. Conventions have already been held in the ten districts of the State and these conventions made nominations.

In District No. 1 composed of Warren, Halifax, Northampton, Bertie, Martin, Chowan and Hertford counties, the convention nominated unanimously W. A. Peirce, to succeed himself as a director and did not make but one nomination.

In District No. 2 composed of Nash and Edgecombe counties the convention nominated W. W. Eagles and O. K. Taylor, but since the convention Mr. Eagles has withdrawn. As no one has authority to authorize the placing of any other name on the ballot only the name of O. K. Taylor will appear on the ballot.

In District No. 3 composed of Onslow, Jones, Pitt, Craven, Beaufort, Pamlico and Washington and Carteret counties, the convention nominated J. T. Thorne and R. L. M. Bonner.

In District No. 4 composed of Duplin, Wayne, Lenoir and Green counties, the convention nominated E. A. Stevens, who is serving as director of the association at this time and J. T. Albritton.

In District No. 5 composed of Johnston and Wilson counties, the convention nominated J. P. Parker and G. W. Watson.

In District No. 6 composed of Lee, Harnett, Wake, Franklin, Chatham and Durham, the convention nominated Dr. B. W. Kilgore and J. W. Blalock. Mr. Blalock, farmer living in the southern part of Wake County near Varina has written a letter to the office in Raleigh withdrawing his name. As no one has authority to authorize the placing of any other name on the ballot Dr. Kilgore's name will appear as the sole nominee of the district.

In District No. 7 composed of Columbus, Bladen, Cumberland, Sampson and Pender counties, the convention unanimously nominated R. W. Christian to succeed himself as director and did not make but one nomination.

In District No. 8 composed of Robeson county, the convention nominated Dr. G. M. Pate to succeed himself as director and also nominated R. H. Crighton. After the convention adjoined Mr. Crighton in a letter to the Raleigh office stated that he could not serve and asked that his name be left off the ballot. As no one has authority to authorize the placing of any other name on the ballot Dr. Pate's name will appear as the sole nominee of the district.

In District No. 9 composed of Richmond, Moore, Scotland, Hoke and Montgomery counties, the convention nominated A. McEachern to succeed himself as director and did not see fit to put any other name on the ballot and Mr. McEachern's name appears alone on the ballot.

In district No 10 composed of Cleveland, Cabarrus, Rutherford, Gaston, Union, Iredell, Rowan, Stanly, Mecklenburg and Anson, the convention unanimously nominated L. D. Robinson to succeed himself as director of the association and no other names was placed on the ballot.

Members of the association choose their directors by districts, all members living in a district voting for a director from that district. By provision in the by-laws of the association members are not compelled to vote for the nominee whose name appears on the ballot but have the privilege of voting for any cotton grower member of the association living in their district.

PUNKIN CENTER HAS OPENED

The Punkin Center Band is fine. Each an artist in his line. Every time I hear them play It makes me turn and ricochet The sweetness of its frisky strains Drive out rheumatiz and pains And hinges which are due to ache There, must either bend or break.

Of course the fiddle is a sin But they play the violin The horn they call a saxophone Surely came from parts unknown And I'm not wise enough to say It's not the kind the angels play If this thing is considered vice Its doggone nearly worth the price.

I must admit that it is wrong To swell this pleasure seeking throng Yet we may be sent below For (cussin cause) we failed to go. Satan has no heatless bin To put the lesser sinners in So once more my song will be Punkin Center T's of Thee.

You can find some maidens fair Who can vamp a millionaire Or make a King get on his knees To see them jazz such melodies. Romeo sees Juliet Clad in silken stockingette. Sallie's hair cut short like mine At Punkin Center Caroline.

The man who plays the trap and drum Puts melancholy on the bum Makes the old feel young again As though they never felt a pain Darkens every silver strand Better than a druggist can And puts a crimson in the face Restless waves cannot erase.

I am old but still alive No other king bee is in the hive Last winter while I jockeyed Ldz. I turned pale from rheumatiz And need some crimson in my face. But have no puff or powder case This may be a minor sin So I'll go down and dance it in.

Meet me now they've opened up The President may pass the cup Perhaps some Punkin Center booze Has survived the Revenue Blockade apple jack and peach Distilled at Punkin Center Beach Makes fiddles look like violins And sees the very least of sins.
