Candler Loves Horses

Walter Candler, son of Asa G. Candler, the Atlanta (Ga.) millionaire, who is striving to develop the finest racing stable in the South, has just added 19 racing horses to his stable near Decatur, Ga., bringing the total of racing horses up to 60. Although many times a millionaire, Mr. Candler is a confirmed lover of horses. In the photograph is shown Mr. Candler driving "Bogaloussa," one of his fine racing horses, on his own track at Decatur.

SEEING WHAT YOU LOOK FOR

By THOMAS A. CLARK, Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I DON'T believe I ever found a four-leaved clover in my life, though I lived for years in the midst of clover fields. I knew a girl once who could reach down into any stray bunch of grass and pick out a half-dozen four-leaved clovers with unerring accuracy. I suppose the explanation is that she was looking for them and I was not. The same thing is true with reference to other experiences in life. The man who is looking for trouble finds it at every street corner and at every cross roads. The sensitive soul who is watching out for slights and personal grievances is invariably rewarded by finding them at his elbow.

"You hurt my feelings by what you wrote the other day," an acquaintance said to me. "How is that?" I asked. "Because you used my foibles as an illustration."

"But I did not," I replied. "I did not have the least idea that what I said would apply to you." She was simply looking for personal thrusts, and she found them.

A good deal of our unhappiness comes from grievances, or slights, or troubles, or disasters that we have looked for—that we have ferreted out and forced out of cover. If we had gone ahead cheerfully and happily we should have passed them by unobserved.

I know people who see no good in each other because they are constantly looking for evil; who turn every word and intonation and suggestion and unconscious act into something that is vindictive and calculating. Each finds a subtle irritating double meaning at every word or suggestion that the other utters, and all because he is looking for it.

The opposite of this is true. There is a sort of unsophistication that does not see vulgarity or deceit or evil of any kind; that knows nothing of unfaithfulness, or disloyalty, or cause for depression and discouragement because it is not expecting them; it is not looking for them.

A young friend of mine had recently been with a crowd in which there had been considerable drinking. "I hope you were not too shocked by the drinking," I said to him. But he really had never seen it; he did not know about it; it had made no impression on him because his thoughts had been above it—he had not been looking for it.

Modern Sweater Features Side-Tie Jacquette

The ultra-chic of sweaterdom is expressed in the knitted jacquette. It has horizontal stripes contrasted with plain sleeves, its claim to smartness is accentuated. Further style details are plain-knit bindings and the wide turnover collar is revealed in the picture.

Your Conversation "FLAPPER" Authorities differ as to the origin of the much-discussed term, "flapper." Flapper popularity is applied to the young girl who is in the period of many readjustments which accompany adolescence. Flapper also has been applied to young birds who are just learning to use their wings.

No Worms in a Healthy Child All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CATHARTIC given regularly for two or three weeks will cleanse the blood, improve the digestion and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 50c per bottle.
