

Tobacco Twine

Lanterns

Thermometers

Our thermometers have the large red mercury. Easy to read.

McKINNE BROS.

PAY CASH and PAY LESS

The Wonderful Pictorial Review Patterns Now on Sale Here!

After studying them all, we are convinced that there are no patterns which combine the chic, simplicity, and economy of Pictorial Review Patterns and we have decided to install them.

And now there's another reason for their supremacy. Every Pictorial Review Pattern includes that wonderful invention,

The Pictograf

The Pictograf guarantees success for home-dressmakers. Abolishes all risk of spotting good material. Guarantees perfect style and fit. Makes it possible for every woman to sew. Even a child can use it.

All Pictorial Review Patterns as issued commencing with June will be priced at 14¢ to 35¢—none higher.

Dress 2257 35 cents

A. Tonkel

Louisburg, - North Carolina

HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION OF FARM CHILDREN

The United States Bureau of Education of the Department of the Interior has made available for the first time reliable facts as to the extent to which farmer children are being educated in high schools. Complete returns from the States of Maine, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Montana, and Oregon show that 3.15 per cent of the total farm population are en-

LOST MOTION

By THOMAS A. CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

I needed a little information at Providence, and as there was a young woman ahead of me, I had both time and opportunity to watch the young man in charge of the booth. All his actions were slow and deliberate. He had no nerves, apparently, and no appreciation of the fact that anyone might be pressed for time. He did nothing with directness. He would dip his pen into an ink bottle out of sight somewhere under the desk and then shake it once or twice in the direction of the floor to remove the surplus ink and wave it in the air before beginning to write. Constantly he was stopping to turn something over or to push something aside in search of a lost notation of some sort. He would open a drawer, and then shut it, he would wander off to some remote and hidden part of the office for a blotter or a writing pad, or some esoteric fact of which he seemed to be in need; he would hesitate in his work and look up as some one passed, and all this as time was passing. His task was simply to copy a name and a number and a date in the paper he was making out—a task that he could have accomplished in one-tenth of the time it took him had he gone directly at it.

Most of his activity was merely lost motion; it was a little flourish before he began really to do anything; it had little or no connection with the main task in hand. As a worker he was worth about fifteen cents an hour, and he caused me nearly to miss an engagement.

His method is not an uncommon one. Any one who watched McCarter at his books would see that he studied in this same way. Most of the time that he was supposed to be studying, he was filling his fountain pen, or he was looking for his pipe or asking irrelevant questions of his roommate. He talked or sang snatches of the latest song or doted over his book. There was no concentration, no getting directly at the point. Most of his mental activity, if it could be so called, was lost motion; most of his time was wasted.

Men tackle moral problems in much the same way. They edge round them, they evade a definite issue, they play with moral principles as the man in Providence played with the materials on his desk. They get nowhere, because they have no definite objective in view. Their moral activities are mostly lost motion.

Mrs. Harriet McLellan

Mrs. Harriet McLellan, aged eighty-six years, of Atlanta, Ga., friend of the wives of the Presidents since Lincoln. She remembers Mrs. Lincoln by her wide-swaying hoopskirt; Mrs. Harrison by her huge leg-of-mutton sleeves; Mrs. Cleveland by her enormous bustle, and Mrs. McKinley by her pompadour. The first Mrs. Wilson was a schoolmate of one of her daughters. Of Mrs. Coolidge she says, "There's a real White House lady for you. Of all the 'first ladies' I've ever met she is the most broadminded and natural."

rolled in high schools as compared with 3.55 per cent of the non-farm population. In three of the five states—Maine, New Hampshire and Oregon—however, higher percentages of the farm population are enrolled in high school than of the non-farm population. In these states it is significant that through centralization of high schools more than 80 per cent of all high schools serving farm children are comprehensive four-year high schools

CLOVER SEED

Buy While The Price Is Low

STRAW HATS

One-Half Price

The McGhee-Joyner Co.

FRANKLINTON'S BIGGEST & BEST STORE

PHONE 47

RADIO HINTS

BY WHIT HADLEY

Can I use a variable condenser to tune the primary of the remodeled coupler, is often asked. The answer is, yes, but it is not necessary. If a variable condenser is used in series with the aerial, just add ten turns to the primary.

Two dry cells will not work better with a WD-12 tube, but they will have a longer life if they are connected in parallel.

Before mounting radio parts on a baseboard, sandpaper the rough spots down and give it a few thin coats of shellac or varnish. This will prevent the board from absorbing moisture and causing short circuits where bus wire rests on the board.

"A" batteries deteriorate quickly in summer because of heat and humidity. Two dry cells in parallel will last more than twice as long as one dry cell on the same load, because the efficiency of these cells remains higher on the lower current consumption. It is economical, therefore, to use a double bank of batteries connected to a dry cell tube.

The capacity of a phone condenser is usually .001 or .002, while a fixed condenser which is to be shunted across the terminals of a loud speaker is .005 or .008.

An "A" battery switch will eliminate the necessity of turning the rheostat off when through using the set.

If your one knob set refuses to oscillate, try spreading the leads from the secondary to the grid and filament.

Ty Cobb, Jr., Plays Tennis

Ty Cobb, Jr., who plays pretty good baseball, has taken the game for tennis but so far hasn't succeeded in that sport as his dad did in ball. The son of the world's greatest baseball player is shown in a tournament in which he took part recently in Atlanta. He was beaten in his second match.

Nemesis of Fakers

Benedict W. Holden of Hartford, Conn., who was the foreman of the grand jury in Connecticut that investigated fake doctors. One hundred and seventy-nine were found guilty of practicing without a license, and one guilty of manslaughter.

NOTICE OF SALE

Under and by virtue of authority contained in a certain deed of trust, executed to the undersigned trustee by Viola Inscoc, which said deed of trust is duly recorded in the Register of Deeds office of Franklin County in Book 250 page 79, the indebtedness thereby secured being past due and demand having been made upon me for foreclosure, the said property having been offered for sale on Monday June 9, 1924, when and where W. H. Card became the last and highest bidder at the sum of $50.00, and the said bid having been raised within the time prescribed by law by a deposit with the Clerk of the Superior Court of 10 per cent ($45.00) it will on Monday the 28th day of July 1924, at about the hour of noon, at the court house door at Louisburg, N. C., offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash the following described property:

Situate in Franklin township, Franklin County, N. C. Bounded on the North by the lands of A. B. Wester, on the east by the lands of Jim Hewey, on the south by the Louisburg and Franklin road, on the west by the lands of Mr. Layton.

Containing about 1 acre, more or less. Being the home place of Viola Inscoc, and being lots Nos. 1, 2 and 3 in the sub-division of the A. B. Wester lands. For plat of which map book 1, page 107 in the office of the Register of Deeds of Franklin county.

This July 10, 1924.

S. A. NEWELL, Trustee.

7-11-3t

Why call them "grass" widows when they are no longer green?

Not many things on the stage will bear close inspection.

Love in a cottage is sweet in proportion to the amount of food on the table.

Subscribe to The Franklin Times

FOLKS IN OUR TOWN

