TAR DROPS

—Miss Maude Ashley has taken a position as bookkeeper for L. P. Hicks.

—Mr. C. E. Pearce and Miss Susan Landon, of Raleigh, with the North Carolina Cotton Association, addressed the Co-op County meeting in the court house Saturday afternoon.

—Mr. W. Norwood Fuller is placing the material for a nice seven room two-story residence on the corner of Elm and Middle streets. The construction will begin about September 1.

FARM AGENT

At a meeting of the Business Men's Association on Tuesday night a committee composed of Dr. A. H. Fleming, Messrs. M. S. Clifton and K. K. Allen were appointed to take up with the Board of County Commissioners the importance of securing a Farm Demonstration Agent. Mr. E. H. Malone was appointed as chairman of a committee to be selected by himself from the Kiwanis Club for the same purpose.

B. Y. P. U. CONVENTION

The annual convention of the Tar River Association B. Y. P. U. will be held at the Baptist church at Wise the fifth Sunday. It will be an all-day meeting and the delegations from the various churches will be expected to bring their picnic dinners. Former State President Bryce Little, of Wilson, and a number of others are expected to speak. The Wise union will provide good music. It is going to be a great occasion with profit to all who attend.

There are about thirty unions in the association and it is hoped that every one of these will send a good delegation and a report to this convention and thus extend its benefits.

Helen Retains Title

Helen Wills, 18-year-old California girl, is shown holding the national tennis championship cup which was presented to her when she defeated Molla Mallory at Forest Hills, Long Island, last week, thereby retaining her title.

Sudanese Restless

London—Maj. Gen. Sir Lee Stack, British commander in the Sudan, has asked for reinforcements to maintain order at Athara, where the British garrison was fired upon by native troops. Gen. Stack's photo is shown above.

The Spirit of Worship

Do you feel that you are serving God when you come to church? Do you have a feeling of reverence for the House of God? Let's be as reverent as we know how to be and at least be quiet and respectful for we must remember that there are others that look to us as an example. Would you be willing to have someone say that a B. Y. P. U. member whispered or laughed in church? Do you realize God's presence any more at church than you do elsewhere? Do you pray for and help the Pastor or do you think it is his business to see that all church work goes on just as it should without your help? Our pastors are to teach and guide not to bear the burden of the church that is the very reason so many churches die or lose their pastor. A pastor no matter how good or consecrated he may be or what a wide awake worker he can't carry a church on his shoulders. How do you feel about your church and your pastor? Let's put our whole soul into the work and worship God in Spirit and in Truth. By answering the call of the Spirit you can be so guided that you will understand what you should do and not be asking as a lot of our young people do "what is the harm in this or that" but you will know by the very Guiding Spirit that is within you. So let us obey the call of the Spirit and worship God in Spirit and in Truth. Daily Bible Readings.

Topic for the Week: Important Practical Teachings.

Mon. Sept. 1. Paul's Hope for his People and the World. Read Romans 11. Key verse 15. For if the casting away of them is the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiving of them be but life from the dead?

Tues. Sep. 2. Personal Consecration. Read Romans 12. Key verse 1. I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your spiritual service.

Wed. Sep. 3. The Christian Citizen. Read Romans 13. Key verse 1. Let every soul be subjected to the higher powers; for there is no power but of God, and the powers that are ordained of God.

Thurs. Sep. 4. Question of Conscience. Read Romans 14. Key verse 13. Let us not therefore judge one another any more; but judge ye this rather, that no man put a stumbling block in his brother's way or an occasion of falling.

Fri. Sep. 5. Christian Fellowship. Read Romans 15. Key verse 1. Now we that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak and not to please ourselves.

Sat. Sep. 6. Paul and His Friends. Read Romans 16. Key verse 20. The Grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

Self-Control

Can you control yourself when you get angry? A man says to me, "When I get mad all over. The more I cuss, the madder I get." Do you have any trouble in controlling yourself when you get angry? Do you say things that you regret later? Do you do things that cause you to be ashamed of yourself later? Then you understand what I mean by speaking of self-control.

Solomon says that the man who rules himself is greater than the man who takes a city. This is eternally true. A coward might take a city. An arrogant, self-willed, godless general might take a city. But it takes eminent and wise statesmen to rule a city well. The individual members of the body are to be compared to individual members of society. Each one cries out for its own rights. Each is eager for recognition; each has its desires and sends constant signals to the seat of government, the mind, making known its wishes. Some of them try to rebel. Some refuse to work. The man who can bring these members under his control and make them do his will has accomplished a great deal.

It takes self-control to make one's self work. How many people yield to the members of the body that say, "I don't want to work." Laziness calls for cessation of labor. Can a man make himself work when his body says that it wants to sleep on the job? That is a test of your self-control.

It takes self-control to eat well. There is a desire to eat more than is good for one or less than is necessary. There is a temptation not to let the food go around, but be greedy. There is a temptation to abuse the cook even when under the circumstances the food is prepared to the best possible. To eat well requires self-control.

To get up in time in the morning requires a certain amount of self-control. Not to permit a lazy or stubborn mule to get you angry and abusive requires self-control. Not to drink strong drink when there is a craving for it requires self-control. Not to cheat when there is a chance of gain demands self-control. To be of a good temper in the home and help make the home happy calls for self-control. To render to Caesar and to God what should be rendered to each requires self-control.

The question is can you master yourself? The man who cannot control himself is to be pitied. The man who does not try to control himself is much more to be pitied. He is a menace to both man and beast. He has no respect for the feelings of associates and constantly lets loose a volley of language that no one enjoys hearing but himself. "He that is slow to anger is better than the mighty; and he that ruleth his spirit than he that taketh a city." —Proverbs 16:32.
