

VIRTUE REWARDED

A frail postal clerk of East Orange, N. J., saw two strange men swing onto the train as he received a valuable sack of registered mail from New York.

He reached for his gun but the bandits beat him to the draw and he felt a stinging sensation in his leg, then in his hand. Undaunted, he drew his gun and fired, bringing down one robber and putting the other one to flight.

At the peril of losing his own life, he protected the government's property.

When men fight for their country on the field of battle and are wounded they are cited for bravery. The law does not recognize the civilian hero.

The postmaster general, however, rewarded the young clerk with a check for $2,000 and he received the congratulations of President Coolidge.

Such integrity and devotion to duty is worthy of reward and should be an example for every American youth.

There is already too much danger of immature young men gaining the impression that only robbery is fruitful and that virtue gains nothing substantial.

Your Conversation MALMAISON

When Napoleon's ambition led him to divorce the unfortunate Josephine, the unhappy empress retired to "Malmaison," a country house a short distance from Paris. "Malmaison" means "unhappy house." It was in the gardens of this residence that the famous portrait of the empress was painted. Malmaison is now a museum where intimate relics of the great Corsican are preserved.

A Talk With a Louisburg Man

Ma. Cranford Tells Something of Interest to Louisburg Folks.

There's nothing more convincing than the statement of someone you know and have confidence in. That's why this talk with Mr. Cranford of Church Street, should be mighty helpful here in Louisburg.

H. P. Cranford, garage foreman, Church Street, says: "For space my kidneys almost failed to act. My back ached, I was unable to get up, and I couldn't turn in bed without sharp pains stabbing me. It was almost impossible to bend, and mornings my back was sore and stiff. I used Doan's Pills and I haven't had a spell with my kidneys since."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mr. Cranford had. FOSTER-LIBBEN CO., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

What Does Your Banking Connection Mean To You?

Just as a man is known by the company he keeps, so is the man creating impressions—good or bad—with his bank account.

A man having a bank account, known to be scrupulously careful in issuing checks only against funds to his credit, is quick to win the admiration and respect of business men.

This bank, with its long years of experience, knows the full truth of the above, and seeks the patronage of men who respect themselves and their bank accounts, and, in return, gives the acme of service.
