PEACH DISEASE CHECKED BY HAVING VIGOROUS TREES

Raleigh, Sept. 8.—Every peach grower has been compelled, during the season which is just closing, to throw away many bushels of peaches because they were affected with a disease called bacteriosis. "This disease," says Dr. F. A. Wolf, Plant Pathologist for the North Carolina Experiment Station, "manifests itself by the presence of dry, brown spots on the fruit. The spots, when numerous, cause the peaches to crack open irregularly and they are therefore not marketable. Bacteriosis may cause a 'shot hole' disease of the leaves and premature shedding of these leaves follows. Small cankers from which gum oozes may appear on the twigs at the leaf scars. Bacteriosis on the leaves and on the twigs is quite similar in appearance to injury resulting from spraying with arsenicals and is often confused with it. In consequence when ever bacteriosis is present it gets the blame for spray injury as well."

Dr. Wolf states that experiments on control of bacteriosis have been conducted in Georgia and Arkansas over a period of about ten years. These experiments have always been started in orchards which in the previous year had been seriously damaged. The tests have shown that orchards which are kept in a high state of vigor by proper pruning, worming and cultivation can be made resistant to the disease by the use of nitrate of soda. Similar results are to be expected in North Carolina. In hill side orchards, especially during seasons of heavy rainfall, much of the value of nitrate of soda is lost by leaching. This can be prevented, in part, explains Dr. Wolf, by the plowing under of green cover crops.

TRUNDLE—EGERTON
The marriage of Miss Florence Hartley Trundle, of Washington, D. C., to Mr. Walter Eugene Egerton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Davis Egerton of Louisburg, N. C., took place Monday, September 1, 1924 at high noon in the home of the bride's father on R Street. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. J. Ringer, in the presence of the two families and a few friends. Mrs. William Carl Goodman rendered the music.
The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of gray crepe, with hat to match, and a corsage bouquet of bride roses and lilies of the valley.
The bride's sister, Miss Mary Trundle, was the only attendant, wearing a gown of powder blue crepe and a black hat and carrying an arm bouquet of Ophelia roses.
Mr. Ballard Egerton of Greensboro, N. C., was best man for his brother. A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony. Later in the day Mr. and Mrs. Egerton left for a wedding trip to northern points.
After September 15 Mr. and Mrs. Egerton will be at home in Mebane, N. C.

WALTER L. MAIN CIRCUS AT HENDERSON
The Walter L. Main Big Three Ring Circus, museum, menagerie combined with Andrew Downie's trained wild animal shows will exhibit at Henderson, N. C., on Wednesday, September 17th, 1924. The parade within itself is a wonderful institution and the show is one that will be long remembered and appreciated.
"Walter L. Main Circus was here yesterday for the usual two performances and the parade and it left the City with a distinct pleasant impression. It was clean as a whistle, amusing entertainment and in many features startling. The riding was the best ever seen here and will be commented on for many a day."—Oswego, N. Y., Daily Times.
Middle and western Carolina is well suited to growing black walnuts, states Forester H. M. Curran. He advocates the planting of a few trees this fall.
When the law fails to make us virtuous, old age comes along and does it automatically.

No Worms in a nearby Child
All children troubled with Worms have an unhealthy color, which indicates poor blood, and as a rule, there is more or less stomach disturbance. GROVE'S TASTELESS CHILL TONIC given regularly for two or three weeks will enrich the blood, improve the digestion, and act as a General Strengthening Tonic to the whole system. Nature will then throw off or dispel the worms, and the Child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. 60c per bottle.

INSURANCE A NECESSITY
INSURANCE ACTUALLY DEALS WITH EVERY HONEST BUSINESS UNDER THE SUN

Fire insurance has come to be not only a householder's security, but a national necessity. The home owner must protect his family and provide shelter; the renter must guard his household goods. Business concerns, factories, churches, schools, colleges and corporations must protect their property investments. The man who can thus provide the security of a community against financial loss from fire is its insurance agent, through his companies.
