THEY FLOUT THE PRIMARY.

Under the North Carolina law, the La Follette electors cannot go on the official ballot because that party did not vote in the primaries. But the Republicans get on because they made a pretense of going into the primary. They technically are entitled but in equity they should be excluded.

If this were all then we would not have so much right to complain. But in many instances the republicans participate in the Democratic primary and assist in selecting the nominees of the Democratic party.

The primary law should be amended so as to eliminate any such situations.

CAUSES OF AUTOMOBILE WRECKS ON N. C. STATE HIGHWAYS

Table with 2 columns: Cause and Number of wrecks. Includes categories like Drunk driver, Undetermined, Driver asleep, Rain, Speeding, etc.

The above figures were given out by the State Highway department and represents only accidents happening on the State highways. It will be interesting to note that out of 475 accidents 309 were caused from drunken drivers, driver asleep, speeding, reckless driving, collisions, racing no lights, wrong side of road, and collisions on curves.

WEDNESDAY EVENING BRIDGE CLUB

Miss Lonie Meadows was a charming hostess to the Wednesday evening Bridge Club. This was the first meeting of the year so all the business matters of the club were brought up, discussed and dispersed with.

At the end of the game Miss Meadows with Miss Ida Mae Yow and Miss Susie Meadows served a delicious salad course and mints. Miss Jessie Taylor Harris won the top score honors with a margin of four hundred.

WILLIAM R. BOONE DEAD

In the year 1860 one April night, there came an angel to the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. M. Boone, bringing a little babe—a son—to cheer and brighten their lives.

They named him William Ricks, but they called him "Billie." Heaven and earth seemed to unite to make this child a joy and blessing to his parents. As the years passed on he grew always gentle, obedient, and kind.

When a mere boy he always helped his mother and sisters with their work as opportunities were given him from his duties on the farm.

In early manhood he became a Christian—the greatest thing a person can do—that is to prepare for eternal life. He joined Peachtree Baptist church of which he was a faithful member when the end came.

He also found a new love in his heart and in the winter of 1889 he was married to Miss Sallie Hinton. From their union there were born five sons and three daughters. All are living except an infant son and Little Sallie Bet who lived to be only two years of age.

After the death of his father in the fall of 1889 he moved his family to the old home where he was always thoughtful, kind, loving and administering to the needs and wishes of his mother in old age as long as she lived. To his brothers and sister he was the same kind helpful brother; to his neighbors the accommodating friend; to the sick always thoughtful. He was so unselfish.

Soon after the noon hour on Saturday, September 12th, while sitting in his chair reading another angel came, this time the angel of death, to take his spirit to the heavenly home. Without a moment's warning he left us, our hearts crushed and bleeding, weeping yet we knew that God doeth all things well.

Uncle Billie's death was a great loss in his home, church and community. All who knew him loved him and we feel sure that he is now resting in that great and unknown place of rest. May the Lord guide, comfort the bereaved wife, daughters, sons, brothers and sisters to prepare to meet him where there will be no parting forever more. Weep no more dear ones, For God knoweth best. He gives us loved ones. He taketh them when its best.

—A NIECE.

VOTING IS A PRIVILEGE

Voting should be regarded as a privilege rather than a task. The duty of every good citizen is plain—he should give expression to his mature judgment at the polls.

The way the popular vote has declined in numbers during the last decade indicates that far too many people have given in to the temptation to believe that a few votes more or less will not change the result.

They fail to recognize that the grand total is made up of single votes cast.

One voter can speak as decisively and emphatically as another.

A full and free expression of the popular will can not be expressed with half of the voters staying at home.

The tendency to remain away from the polls, is dangerous and its growth is a peril that is besetting our representative form of government.

It behooves everyone to qualify for voting according to the law—and then vote.

NORTH CAROLINA WEEKLY INDUSTRIAL REVIEW

The slow uphill climb to pre-war prosperity, not the hectic inflation of war time standards, is constant in our country and is spreading to Europe. The movement is on to stay. All must admit that time-tried business principles are sounder than untried political theories. Guilford—Movement under way for establishment of general hospital.
