ENDING ITS FIRST 10
YEARS IN LOUISBURG
AFTER REMARKABLE
GROWTH

Starts 11th Year With Great 10th Anniversary Sale Beginning Wednesday, October 14th.

"On Tuesday, October 13th L. Kline & Co., Inc. "Louisburg's Biggest and Best Department Store" will have rounded out its 10 years in business in Louisburg," according to an interview with Mr. Jake Friedlander, who has been with the firm since its organization, and who in speaking of the firm's past history says, "to many of its friends and customers this fact is well known, but to those who have moved to Louisburg and its vicinity since 1915, and who do not remember the coming to Louisburg of this wonderful organization, we will endeavor to give you an outline of L. Kline & Co., Inc. from its start to the present day.

"It commenced business in Louisburg on the 14th day of October 1915 in the place known as the R. Z. Egerton store now occupied by H. C. Taylor under the name of Kline & Lazarus. In the year 1917 it changed to L. Kline & Co. at which time Mr. Kline purchased the stock outright. Our business began to increase and we soon found ourselves in need of additional space to take care of our trade. It became necessary to move to larger quarters and we moved to the store at which we are now located, formerly occupied by Candler-Crowell. Our business continued to grow and in 1922 we were compelled to expand and we leased the store next door, formerly occupied by McBrayer Clothing Co. for an exclusive clothing department. Still our business continued to grow and we leased the R. H. Strickland store for an exclusive shoe department. We now have the most complete department store that can be found in any town in the state for the size or in towns even much larger.

"Our success is attributed to the policy of satisfying our customers and our guarantee of Satisfaction or Your Money Refunded.

"We feature at all times advertised lines whenever possible and each and every article that is received in this store is examined by our buyers and unless same passes our standard it is never offered for sale, thus assuring you that each article you buy is perfect or we cheerfully make return whenever same proves otherwise.

"Among the original sales force that started with L. Kline & Co. at its founding in Louisburg and that are still with us are Jake Friedlander, Scott Dennis and Myron Pleasants.

OUR RALEIGH LETTER

By M. L. Shipman

Raleigh, October 5—The issuance of the Prison Audit report, the trial of W. B. Cole at Rockingham for the murder of W. W. Ormond, Governor McLean's declarations comparing North Carolina's type of prosperity with that of Florida and a number of minor matters absorbed attention here during the week. Far and above all other matters however was the Cole trial, the interest in that exceeding anything of its kind in the history of the present generation.

Progress in the trial at Rockingham was watched closely during the week with the Raleigh Times getting out an afternoon extra carrying the testimony verbatim of that day. This was rapidly seized upon by the people. Reports coming here from Rockingham were that huge crowds packed the courtroom, a large number of staff correspondents were on hand to write the trial from every angle and the Associated Press had a special wire into the courtroom to give the trial to the papers word by word. As the trial progressed interest increased until the climax of Saturday when Cole faced his cross examiners as to why he killed the Raleigh war veteran.

The report of the auditors on the state prison finances left much to be desired by both sides of the controversy. It showed an "operating balance" of about $38,000 but did not figure on money spent on this year's crop planting. This made it an accrual basis statement and played into the hands of those who have contended that the accrual basis of financing is sound, led by former governor Cameron Morrison. On the other hand the proponents of Governor McLean feel that his statement is sufficiently clear to avoid heat of controversy. State Auditor Baxter Durham is authority for the statement that the State under McLean was pledged to the "cash" basis of financing while the Governor's statement on the prison finances is on the "accrual."

The Governor has been kept in "hot water" ever since he reappointed George Ross Pou as head of the Penitentiary. He has had to explain every action in connection with State Prison since and there is no indication that the financial statement has eased the situation or that there will be any letup in the attacks on the administration in this connection.

The Governor almost came out for exemption of the people from income taxes in Charlotte when he praised Florida's progress and said it was because of that state's new tax laws. He halted with his praise and the holding of the far southern state up as an example however and added that while he did not wish to be construed as wishing the income tax abolished still he felt that it was a fair example in Florida of what will happen when capital finds it can come into a state without paying high for the privilege. At the same time he urged North Carolinians to seize the opportunities at hand and develop North Carolina whose basis foundation is much sounder than that of Florida. The Governor was speaking in Charlotte. Later he sent a message to be read at a gathering in Asheville in which he urged further development of water powers of the State. Mr. McLean is saying something every time he talks and not indulging in mere platitudes. It has become evident he has some real constructive measures in mind for North Carolina's improvement and did not get elected just to be governor.

The Salary and Wage Commission report will be made public on October 11 and there is considerable interest in what that body has done. Its general progress already has been hinted at rather broadly however.

Raleigh is looking forward to the World Series this week and the bulletin boards probably will be crowded.

A play-by-play account of the World's Series baseball games will be broadcast by The Charlotte News over Station WBT, Charlotte, 275 meters.

Arrangements have been made by The News to use the Associated Press dispatches. These will be transmitted from the playing field direct to the WBT studio where they will immediately be put on the air. Thus The News' radio pronouncement will be but a very few seconds behind the actual play.

To enable the thousands of fans in five States who have listened in heretofore to adjust their instruments satisfactorily, Station WBT will take the air at 1:50 each day, ten minutes before the start of play. Every detail of every game will be broadcast, with the exception of the Sunday game.

The series will start Wednesday, October 7, and will continue daily until either the Washington Senators, champions of the American League or the Pittsburgh Pirates, champions of

The Raleigh Times will broadcast by radio while the News and Observer will use the Playograph in front of its building.

According to figures compiled by Insurance Commissioner Wade, the tax on building and loan association shares during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1925, aggregated in amount the sum of $60,108.93 on the 600,000 certificates yielding this class of revenue the tax to ten cents on each $100 shares which is equally divided between the city, county, and State.

During the week October 5th to 10th C. O. Moser, General Manager of the American Cotton Growers' Exchange of Memphis, Tennessee, will deliver addresses to meetings of cotton growers, and business men in various sections of the State with the view of increasing interest in the production and disposition of the white staple next year.

Figures compiled by the State department of Insurance and Revenue show a total tax collection for the month of August of $655,466 exclusive of the receipts of the Automobile License Bureau. Of this amount the Insurance Department, in taxes and fees, is placed at $355,976.74; Department of Revenue, $299,495.26. Thomas Robinson, of New Hanover county, and John McMillan, of Moore county both colored, died in the electric chair at the State's Prison here Friday, thus paying the penalty demanded by the State for criminal assault.

Superintendent Allen, of the State Department of Education, speaks strongly for a direct tax for the support of the public schools. The Superintendent thinks the present valuation among the various counties of the State insufficient to meet requirements and declares that the system of dual support now practiced in financing the schools of the State has proven inadequate and should be revised. A State-wide ad valorem tax is suggested, in support of the demand for longer terms and the general development of the educational system of the State.

Commissioner W. A. Graham, of the State Department of Agriculture, was the principal speaker at the Rutherford County Fair on last Thursday. The Commissioner speaks of the exposition in glowing terms. He is responding to many calls of like character since the "fair season" opened.

Governor McLean's commission to study county government in session here during the week decided to collect the laws on the subject, study county organization and business methods, and the reports made by county to State officials. The Commission organized by the selection of Dr. E. C. Brooks as chairman and Prof. A. C. McIntosh, of Chapel Hill, secretary.

Dr. B. F. Kaupp, head of the poultry department of State College, is back from a meeting of the National Poultry Council held in Chicago to which he presented recounting the growth of the poultry business in the South and especially in North Carolina. He told the Council about the efforts of the farmers to improve and market products and assured his fellow delegates that "the South is one of the most fertile fields and the most rapidly developing sections of the American Union."

The executive committee of the State Board of Health has decided to assign a laboratory expert of the Department to the proposed oyster fleet in an investigation of the oyster beds of the State at an early date. The Committee held a meeting here on Wednesday and the action taken was on account of the discovery last season of oysters bearing typhoid germs in waters adjacent to North Carolina beds. It is proposed to place an embargo on all oysters whose healthy condition is not certified by health officials in the state from which they come. The Committee also presented Dr. W. S. Rankin, former Secretary, with a handsome silver service as a token of esteem for faithful service.

It is announced that ten per cent of the 1925 cotton crop for this State had been ginned prior to September 16, aggregating 110,046 bales. The county of Robeson takes the lead with 11,492 bales and Harnett second with 10,103. Early ginnings are attributable to the long hot season during which cotton opened more rapidly than usual.

Superior court judges are not permitted to use the words "according to the evidence," in their charges to juries. Judge Bond did it up in Lee county sometime ago and the Supreme Court has granted the prisoner a new trial on account of the "slip" which Chief Justice Stacey in writing the opinion, says was "one of those casualties which may befall the most circumspect." There you go again.

Professor N. C. Newbold, director of the division of negro education of the State Department of Education, makes a plea for more trained teachers for the elementary grades of the negro schools in North Carolina. Mr. Newbold is in "dead earnest" and looks to the junior colleges to co-operate in the training of elementary teachers.
