DUNSTON GOES TO STATE PRISON For 3 Years For House Breaking and Larceny

Judge Garland E. Midyette, Presiding, Makes Excellent Charge—Two Week Term—Colbert Case Called Yesterday.

The regular October term of Franklin County Criminal Court continued Monday morning with Judge Garland E. Midyette, of Jackson, presiding, and Solicitor W. F. Evans, of Raleigh, representing the State in prosecuting the docket.

In his charge to the grand jury Judge Midyette did not agree in the opinion that has been expressed that the courts are responsible for the lawlessness, nor is the court a medium for reformation. He said the responsible for the miscarriage of justice is directly upon the jurors, that the laws and courts are alright, but cannot function properly without jurors who are in sympathy with the enforcement of the laws.

He stated that reforms must begin in the homes from whence we came. "If you turn your boy or girl loose to go out on the roads at night in an automobile and return at 12 to 2 o'clock and something goes wrong that's your fault," says Judge Midyette. Talking along this line the judge said, "If we are going to retain these conditions we will have to go back to the home."

In speaking of larceny he said stealing is on the increase among the white race and on the decrease among the negro race and he traced the majority of it to living beyond the income and said that the majority of crime in the State is traceable to high and fast living. He made plain the duties of the jurors and gave explanation to the various crimes in one of the most sound and sensible charges that has been heard here in sometime.

The grand jury is composed of the following gentlemen: J. R. Frye, Foreman; Joe Frazier, Henry Grogan, J. M. Dickerson, Arthur Harris, J. R. Timberlake, W. R. Thomason, J. I. Weldon, W. C. Tisdale, J. G. Winston, J. H. Wood, W. T. Faulkner, L. D. Perry, L. S. Hayes, J. W. Cheaves, J. C. Murphy, Jr., J. T. Fisher, J. O. Mitchell, J. I. Pleasants was appointed officer to the Grand Jury. After the completion of the charge the docket was taken up and disposed of as follows:

State vs Jack Harris, assault with deadly weapon, nol pros with leave. State vs Wm. B. Harris, violating prohibition law, nol pros with leave. State vs Sid Driver, distilling called and failed, judgment nisi scifa. State vs Jesse Dickerson, distilling, nol pros, with leave. State vs Louis Thorpe, Jr., called and failed, judgment nisi scifa. State vs Reden Perry, violating prohibition law, guilty, prayer for judgment continued upon payment of costs.

State vs Reden Perry, nuisance, nol pros. State vs Elbert Harris, carrying concealed weapons, judgment nisi scifa. State vs Jim Plummer Davis, unlawful possession of whiskey, guilty. State vs J. O. Hagwood, nuisance, pleas guilty, judgment suspended upon payment of costs.

State vs Ulus Dunston, larceny and receiving, continued. State vs J. S. Finch, carrying concealed weapons, guilty, fined $100 and costs. State vs Sam Perry, escape, pleas guilty.

State vs June Davis, drunk and disorderly, guilty disorderly conduct, fined $5.00 and costs. State vs Moses Cox and Ed Leonard, burglary, nol pros. State vs Laura Cox, larceny and receiving, nol pros.

State vs Sylvester Dunston, house breaking and larceny, pleas guilty, nol less than 2 nor more than 3 years in State prison. State vs Sylvester Dunston, house breaking and larceny, pleas guilty, nol less than one nor more than 2 years in State prison.

State vs Charles Parrish, Julius Jones, Henry Thomas and Arthur Johnson, house breaking and larceny, Parrish, Thomas and Johnson plead guilty, Jones pleas nol guilty. State vs L. G. Turnage, escape, defendant pleas guilty of trespass, judgment that defendant be discharged upon payment of costs.

The above case grew out of the action of Mr. Turnage on last Friday night when he brought Colbert, a prisoner charged with murder, from Raleigh to Franklin County and turned him loose. Mr. Turnage frankly accepted the responsibility and explained to the judge that his actions were caused by confusion in his instructions, he understanding the case had been disposed of and the prisoner was to be given his liberty. He expressed his regrets for the act. The court took the position that as no harm had resulted and Mr. Turnage bore such a fine reputation as an officer that he should not have to suffer further embarrassment or inconvenience and directed the above disposition.

RESOLUTIONS OF SYMPATHY

On Thursday morning, Oct. 8th, when the Death Angel came to earth and carried away the spirit of Mrs. W. B. Cooke, it removed from her family, a devoted mother and wife—and from the town a valuable friend and neighbor. As a member of the Methodist church and Missionary Society since coming to Louisburg, she was ever responsive to any call wherein she could serve others. Guided by the teachings of her Master, she endeavored to follow his example and live that the fruits of her labors reflect glory to Him and that she should bear the voice of God say, "Well done, faithful servant—enter into the joy of thy Lord." Her going has made a vacancy hard to fill and she will be missed in every circle of which she was a part—but a comfort it is to know that the intensity of her sufferings has ceased and that in her going, she has joined the hosts of weary who are now at rest. And whereas the Missionary Society of the Methodist church has lost a faithful and loyal member, Be it Resolved:

1. That we offer our deepest sympathy to the husband and children, whose lives are so saddened by her absence. May they find solace in Him, who has not promised joy without sorrow or peace without pain always—but unfailing strength and undying love.

2. That a copy of these resolutions be sent the family, a copy put in the minutes of the Louisburg Woman's Missionary Society, and a copy printed in the Franklin Times.

Mrs. D. F. McKinne, Mrs. B. N. Williamson, Miss Glenn Dunevent.

State vs Sid Wright, unlawful possession of whiskey, pleas guilty, prayer for judgment continued upon payment of costs.

State vs Richard Jeffreys, larceny, pleas guilty, nol less than one year nor more than two years in State prison.

State vs E. W. Merritt, disposing of mortgaged property, guilty. State vs John Colbert for murder, was in progress as we went to press.

The Grand Jury had not completed its work as this report closes. This is a two week term and will very probably take up the full term.

FIVE RING CIRCUS

REALIZED AT LAST

Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Enlarged to Accommodate New Big Acts.

At last the five-ring circus! For years reporters have used this figure of speech to describe the bigness of the greatest show on Earth. Now, for the first time in history patrons will actually see five rings when the greater Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey circus of 1925 comes to Rocky Mount Oct. 23.

With the addition last winter of enough performing horses to bring the Big Show's total to three hundred and fifty the problem presented to the Ringling Brothers was, "How to handle five troupes of them in a single display?" The limits of the show ground in many cities forbade lengthening the main-tent. None of the stages could be spared. All were needed for the big collective groups of human actors.

Then somebody suggested that though the "big-top" paraphernalia could not be cut down nor yet "spread out," there was no reason why it should not be "built higher." That suggestion was worked out and now, in addition to the three dirt-floored rings, two additional rings have been constructed to fit over the tops of the steel structured stages.

This is the greatest innovation since the Ringling Brothers started their super-circus policy by combining their own with the Barnum & Bailey circus. It has opened the way not only for trained horse numbers in sets of five but for other big, new displays.

Though there are more than eight hundred men and women arenic stars on the mammoth program of 1925 only a few of the most brilliant are presented singly. Instead they are presented in imposing ensemble. These groups extend over the entire length of the huge main-tent—seven, nine as many as eleven troupes in action at one time. In keeping with this plan of giving the spectators at the ends of the tent just as much "show" as is enjoyed by those nearer the center, five herds of elephants are now presented instead of three. A hundred clowns distribute their caperings in all parts of the "big-top."

The hippodrome tracks is utilized more than ever before. At one time it is completely circled by one hundred and fifty trained horses, each ridden by an expert, in an amazing ballet and "Fete of the Garlands." Again it is filled with glittering pageants, with splendid high-school horses or remarkable thoroughbreds that give thrilling exhibitions of lofty hurdling and hazardous high-jumps.

COMMUNITY MEETING WEDNESDAY

Dr. B. W. Kilgore Speaks at Franklinton, To Farmers And Business Men.

Dr. B. W. Kilgore, President American Cotton Growers Exchange and President North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association, addressed a united audience of fifty Franklin County farmers and business men in the Franklinton school building Wednesday evening of this week. His theme was "What cooperative marketing has to offer the producer." He said cooperative marketing, by raising the price of the farm crops for the grower, raises his standard of living and thus helps make our nation what it ought to be. He urges a closer cooperation between the cotton grower and the cotton manufacturer that each may work for the benefit of the other and by so doing protect the interests of both.

He told of the services of the American Cotton Growers Exchange and of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association and he made an observation of European cotton conditions. What England wants is cheap American cotton, he said. What the Associations are doing is helping to keep the price of Southern cotton at a living wage for the grower, he further said.

The audience listened attentively throughout and cheered heartily at the close of Dr. Kilgore's address.

This address was given at a barbecue dinner served in the home science room of the Franklinton school by the women of Mitchiner's Club.

Short talks were also made by H. H. B. Mask, of the North Carolina Cotton Growers Cooperative Association, J. R. Jones, of Katesville, Rev. M. Stamps, of Louisburg, Rev. Mitchiner, of Banks' Store, A. H. Vann, Mr. Ballard, Joe Cheatham, Mayor Joyner, and Geo. L. Cooke, of Franklinton, Miss Daisy Caldwell, Home Demonstration Agent, and Mrs. Willie H. Mitchiner, of Mitchiner's Community.

Farm Agent Cole Savage introduced the speaker.

A feature of the program was the music furnished by the Boy Scout band of Louisburg. Four scouts dressed in scout uniforms played the old-fashioned mouth organ so popular a generation ago. Hearty applause greeted these youngsters' revival of music. At Newell, Bill Scoggins, and George and Arthur Ragland, all Louisburg boys, composed the quartet.
