OUR RALEIGH LETTER

By M. L. Shipman

Raleigh, October 4.—A comparative ly quiet week in which citizens of Raleigh enjoyed the first continuous cool weather in many months was the order of things at the Capital City last week. Governor McLean began whipping matters into shape for what will be important moves in the affairs of the State during the next few months but there was nothing of importance announced by the Executive.

Mr. McLean extended clemency in nine cases during the week after the matters had been investigated by Pardon Commissioner Sink. He left Raleigh Thursday for Wilkesboro where he delivered the principal address at the opening of the Wilkes County Fair. The Executive urged the farmers to adopt diversified methods of farming, to form group co-operative organizations and to raise more cattle and hogs. He spoke to a large crowd. Returning to Raleigh he announced that the Rumanian embassy at Washington had advised him that Queen Marie of Rumania would visit North Carolina probably the last of October and would stop either at Raleigh or Asheville. Mr. McLean during the week appointed Captain Nathan O'Berry of Goldsboro on the Educational Commission to succeed Charles A. Webb of Asheville who resigned because of the press of private business. He also announced plans for North Carolina day at the Sesqui-Centennial at Philadelphia, and it was stated the Executive would speak over the radio on the occasion. He also will be entertained by North Carolinians while in Philadelphia. Delegates also were named to attend a conference to consider coast erosion problems at Asbury Park, N. J., October 14 and 15.

The United Confederate Veterans attracted attention during the week by announcing that a special convention of the order would be held at Raleigh October 16 to consider plans for asking the legislature to increase the appropriation for pensions during the coming biennium. A strong fight was waged for a similar measure in the 1925 legislature but it lost out.

The Democratic campaign got into full swing Saturday when O. Max Gardner, generally hailed as North Carolina's next Governor, made the opening speech. Chairman Dawson expects to wage a strong campaign to return Democrats to office and feels that the party merits continued support of North Carolinians.

Federal tax collections during September in North Carolina increased two million dollars over those of last September and Collector Grissom is looking forward to collecting two hundred million dollars this year. For the first three months of the fiscal year he has collected $22,000,000.

Dr. Charles O'H. Laughinghouse was sworn in as secretary of the State Board of Health on October first, succeeding Dr. G. M. Cooper who acted as secretary for the past year in succession of Dr. W. S. Rankin who resigned to go with the Duke Foundation. Dr. Laughinghouse announced Dr. Cooper would handle the educational phase of the health work and be in charge of publications of the Department. At the same time Ronald Wilson was appointed assistant to the new secretary. Dr. M. L. Townsend resigned from the Department to accept a private offer.

The Salary and Wage Commission met during the week and increased salaries of State employes to the amount of $21,200 annually and restored 8 positions previously abolished with a total payroll of $13,200. At this meeting the Commission decided to recognize Dr. Cooper's services to the Health Board by giving him a salary of $4,800 a year which is only $200 less than the secretary of the Board gets. The Wage Commission did not reach discussion of the salary scale of institutions which is still pending and this matter will be considered during the fall.

The Supreme Court heard the arguments for and against granting a law license to C. P. Barringer, state labor federation head, and reserved decision for several days. Barringer has passed the mental examination but a protest was filed against him which he has answered before the court. The North Carolina Orphanage Association held its annual meeting during the week and discussed methods of handling and caring for orphans. Charles H. Warren, superintendent of the Odd Fellows Home at Goldsboro was elected president of the organization and M. L. Shipman of Raleigh was elected secretary and chairman of the publicity committee.

Judge Gilbert T. Stevenson, vice-president in charge of the Raleigh branch of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company, has been attending the annual convention of trust officers of the United States in Seattle Wash.ington and the American Bankers' Association in Los Angeles, California, delivering an address before each of these important gatherings on "Social significance of Trust Service." The Judge is considered high authority on all phases touching the subject and handed out some wholesome advice to the conferences of his fellows on the Pacific coast.

It is said that New York State, with a debt reaching $228,145,000; Illinois indebted to the sum of $127,000,000 and California, owing $100,073,000 are the only states having a larger debt than North Carolina which has accumulated an indebtedness of $91,546,000. The Tar Heel Commonwealth has the second highest per capita debt which is placed at $32.44, while that of Oregon is $47.08. North Carolina is a liberal spender, having it is claimed invested more money in permanent improvements last year than all the New England States put together, the total sum being $26,297,000 and $21,731,000 respectively. However, authorities cheerfully contend that the State is receiving value received for every dollar invested and the Department of Revenue reports increased collec-

Good Health Requires Good Elimination

ONE can't feel well when there is a retention of poisonous waste in the blood. This is called a toxic condition, and is apt to make one tired, dull and languid. Other symptoms are sometimes toxic backaches and headaches. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by scanty or burning passage of secretions. Many people have learned the value of Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, when the kidneys seem functionally inactive. Everywhere one finds enthusiastic Doan's users. Ask your neighbor!

tions throughout the present year for each corresponding month of the year previous. September's revenue alone amounting to $616,154.94. Last year the highway fund's surplus was three and one-half million dollars; this year it is a million more and will probably be that much more next year, for people continue to buy automobiles and burn gasoline.

Dr. B. W. Kilgore, president of the American Cotton Exchange, Commissioner W. A. Graham, of the State Department of Agriculture, and E. B. Crow, president of the Raleigh Clearing House, are agreed that legislative control of cotton acreage is impracticable. Dr. Kilgore thinks the suggestion of control by legislatures in a number of the cotton producing states has hindered rather than aided in the solution of the problem facing the farmers in marketing their cotton at a fair price; Mr. Crow believes co-operative marketing is the best hope and Commissioner Graham suggests diversification of crops and the best solution. Meanwhile farmers are compelled to part with a portion of their cotton at a price less than the cost of production. Frank Parker, crop statistician, replying to criticisms relative to the size of the crop, says all estimates are based upon reports from farmers themselves; that if published estimates have caused a slump in the price of cotton the growers must take part of the blame upon their own shoulders.

The office of swine extension of State College announces that ten county agents have assisted 139 farmers of the State in selling 2,220 heads of hogs during the past few weeks for $54,709.11, the swine having been fed according to methods prescribed by instructors at the College. This it is pointed out, was an average of sixteen hogs for each of the 139 farmers worth $393.53 per head and filling thirty-two cars. W. W. Shay is the swine extension specialist at the College and offers his services to all interested in encouraging hog raising in North Carolina by approved plans.

A. R. Newsome, secretary of the North Carolina Historical Commission expresses the opinion that the State stands to lose much important historical data if adequate funds to preserve it are not provided by the General Assembly. Old documents of incalculable value, says Mr. Newsome, are rapidly disintegrating and becoming illegible. In this suggestion is comprised valuable documents from early colonial days and down through the years embracing many interesting periods.

The North Carolina Supreme court settles the question of applying a bank surplus to debts and holds that directors must pay twice the amount of their capital stock. Looks pretty hard, but that is the law "made and provided," and the double liability statute stands.

State Prison authorities are seeking to find employment for seventy-two prisoners recently discharged by a contractor in the western part of the State on completion of the "work in hand." 122 had been employed there were returning to the Central Prison but Superintendent Pou succeeded placing fifty in a prison camp near Winston Salem. The remaining seventy-two are "for hire" at a reasonable wage and Mr. Pou's address is Raleigh, N. C.

Around 1,125 cases of typhoid fever have been reported from the State during the year.

IN MEMORIES OF THE PAST

On Sunday, September the fifth in the very bloom of life and the picture of health, Milton Strickland died near Youngsville on his way to the hospital at Raleigh. No sign of death until Saturday night. All efforts of medical skill and loving hands of wife, father and loved ones were of no avail. On Sunday morning that old grim monster death crept in about 7:30 o'clock and laid a heavy hand of death on Milton.

Milton was born June 2, 1895 being like a flower grew up in the morning and cut down in his 31st year. We cannot understand why God took him away. Sometimes we will understand. Just another instance where God was walking in His garden and plucked the fair flower to transplant in heaven. We are very thankful that the Master loaned him to us even this long, now he has need for him up above.

My name is Milton, my aim was heaven, my motto was for you Christ, may God keep you till we meet, yet we miss you, but yet we hope to meet him in the sweet bye and bye.
A FRIEND.

The Senior Philatheas are going to sell lunch next Saturday at the club room. Lets everybody go out and patronize them. The proceeds will go for the benefit of the class.

On last Thursday evening several girls entertained the Philatheas Class of Centerville Baptist church at the home of Mrs. Sam Lancaster. The devotional was conducted by Miss Clayton Burnette. The president being absent Miss Virgie Duke presided. The business of the meeting was attended to after which the class was entertained with music for an hour.

The guests were then invited into the dining room where a large table was spread with plenty of fried chicken, sandwiches, iced tea, cake and pickles. Later during the evening fruit was served.

The guests departed declaring Mrs. Lancaster and the girls delightful hostesses.

Our next meeting will be held with Misses Lila Leonard and Mabel Foster at the latter's home. We want each member of the class to be present at this meeting.
