

Crowds! Crowds! Crowds!

Opening Day -- Friday and Saturday -- All This Week

A Sale At a
Needed Time

The Crowds Were
Enormous

Now is the Time to Buy Your Fall
and Winter Needs

They Are Still Coming

When the doors opened upon the great fall opening sale Thursday morning at 9 A. M., the buying overwhelmed us, sweeping beyond our control, but finally we rushed extra sale people into the fray and everyone was served and satisfied with the greatest saving opportunities that were ever offered to the buying public in this section.

It has not been through the manipulation of words, not the bold display of type, not misleading illustrations that this great underselling event has set aside all precedents in volume of business and the making of thousands more of friends for this store. It is a story of "performance"—"Accomplishments"—that no other store ever recorded or ever attempted on so large a scale. Without exaggeration, it is the greatest selling event at a needed time ever staged in this section.

This sale is a most helpful and meritorious money-saving event in a needed time and it will be wise for everyone to buy freely the things you need now or may need later. Sale continues with great bargains to be had.

LOUISBURG,
N. C.

A. TONKEL'S

LOUISBURG,
N. C.

The Purdys
by
Paul Robinson

PUBLISHERS
AUTOCASTER SERVICE
REG. U.S. PAT. OFFICE

About Your Health

LITTLE EMERGENCIES.
It is not unusual for small boys who go fishing, to get a fish-hook embedded in some part of the boy and of the fish; due to careless handling of the fishing-tackle.

Crochet hooks are unpleasant guests when deeply seated. I recently attended a lady who sat down in a porch swing that held a bundle of tating, the crochet hook was driven more than an inch into her hip. A man, who was rummaging on a closet shelf above the level of his eyes, and entered an old crochet hook which penetrated the palmar surface of his thumb. He fainted promptly and a rush call came in anticipation of a deep incision to remove the offender.

Every family should have a medicine kit, which includes a safe, reliable antiseptic. In the event of wounds like the above, anyone can, by manipulation, push the point of the offender out through the skin; in case of a hook or barbed instrument, the barb can then be cut or broken off, and the extraction easily made in two minutes; the wound should then be thoroughly soaked with the antiseptic, and a light dressing applied.

Forcing a fish-hook out through the skin does not add to the pain already there. The crochet hook is best removed in the same manner—the hook cut off with wire cutters. Never try to pull a barbed instrument out the way it went in. This advice may save considerable expense and trouble, and is worth remembering when you fly away from the doctor.

Next Week—
"BALD HEADS"
Beware of the fellow who agrees with you, right or wrong.
Subscribe to The Franklin Times.

Don't delay! Give your hens FUL-O-PEP EGG MASH

Now!

The most successful way of feeding laying hens is also the easiest way! For when you put your hens on Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash you get more eggs, and better eggs, and you also remove the work, bother and uncertainty of feeding in the old-fashioned way.

Just put Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash in the hoppers and keep it before the hens all the time. They can't overeat. And at every mouthful the hen gets exactly the things she needs to produce bigger, better, strong-shelled eggs. This is the famous egg mash that contains Cod Liver Meal—it makes all the other good ingredients of the mash do better and faster work.

Young layers get a good start in their first season, so that they will be steady, vigorous producers, when you give Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash. Old hens need Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash to enable them to carry on through the months of short daylight. No matter whether your flock is made up of young birds or old ones—or both—Ful-O-Pep Egg Mash is just the feed you need to get lots of eggs all through the season when eggs are most in demand.

Right now is the time to start. Don't put it off another day. Make your hens do their best work by feeding the Ful-O-Pep way.

Made by
The Quaker Oats Company
Sole Agent
L. P. HICKS

FOR SALE
I have just three more of very selected Jersey heifers left, that I will sell or trade for beef cattle. Now if you are looking for a nice young cow, come and look them over, they are beauties and are coming fresh, they will suit you. Also have one young cow giving milk now and will come fresh soon. J. A. MUMFORD
10-1st

The worst bridge to cross is the one leading from what you are to what you ought to be.
The biggest problem in this country is to keep the times and the people both good.
The weather man doesn't seem to understand that this country is supposed to be dry.

A used car owner tells us he thinks he is driving a bargain.
FOR FIRST CLASS JOB PRINTING
10-1st

YOUR BIRTHDAY

October 10th-16th

If your birthday is this week you are persistent and brave, and while not of an obstinate nature, you are not easily turned aside from your chosen course. You are a clear reasoner, and have much native intelligence and keen foresight. Your judgment accurate, careful and sound. You are capable and energetic, and have much executive ability. You are methodical, careful and conservative, and while not in the least dictatorial, you have strong convictions, and have a faculty for convincing others that you are right—which pleases you very much.
You are found in the society of congenial friends, and have many. You are affectionate, tolerant, affable and courteous. You have the artistic instinct, and are fond of reading.

entertainer.

You are kind and sympathetic, but are not given to showing it.

Men born during these dates become manufacturers, merchants, inventors, scientists, and preachers. Women born during these dates are artistic, and have easy, graceful manners. They succeed as interior decorators, designers, milliners, artists and writers.

William Pean, founder of Pennsylvania, was born October 14th.
Helena Modjeska, Polish actress, was born October 12th.

You can't blame a man who wears a toupee, if he doesn't have his picture taken.

Next to loading, the one thing that takes up more time than anything else is working.

Subscribe to The Franklin Times

THE PEAK SISTERS

A one act comedy will be given on Friday night, October 15, 1926 at Bunn High School auditorium at 8 o'clock.

Come and get your share of fun. It's all here. If you can't laugh, stay away. Come one, come all and watch the Peak sisters perform. Given by married ladies of Poplar Springs Baptist church and the admission, 25 cents will be used for painting of the same. The Rodgers Orchestra will furnish music.

The characters are: Sister Keeleb, Mrs. E. C. Richardson; Sister Dorothy, Mrs. W. O. Griffin; Sister Beulah, Mrs. Mattie Bullock; Sister Maria, Mrs. C. T. Cheever; Sister Betty, Mrs. Nazale Bullock; Sister Sophia, Mrs. P. J. Brewer.

Every cloud has a silver lining except at war clouds.