A Word With the Old Folks

Elderly People Are Learning Importance of Good Elimination.

IN the later years of life there is apt to be a slowing up of the bodily functions. Good elimination, however, is just as essential to the old as to the young. Many old folks have learned the value of Doan's Pills when a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys is required. Scanty or burning passages of kidney secretions are often signs of improper kidney function. In most every community are scores of users and endorsers who acclaim the merit of Doan's. Ask your neighbor!

In the Absence of Overpowering Love
Dear Miss Flo:

The question which I find so difficult to answer for myself is whether I shall marry a man for whom I have only a casual affection, or remain an old maid. I shall soon be thirty. I have an excellent position and I love my work. I enjoy the money I earn, and the luxuries it brings me, as only a woman can whose family has always been poor and whose girlhood was devoid of all the gayety and happiness a girl craves.

I can truthfully say that I have no desire to marry. When I see other women shabby, overworked, with crying babies and grouchy husbands, I feel that marriage has no charms for me, but I am afraid the day will come, as it seems to come for all those other women who do not marry—when I will find myself a lonely old woman, and wish I had married and had children. C. M.

It does seem rather unfair, doesn't it, that a woman has to choose between marriage and her career? When a man marries he merely acquires a home and a wife and children in addition to the other pleasures and interests of his work, but a woman usually has to sacrifice one or the other. Only the exceptional woman as yet can manage both without breaking or falling down on one job or the other.

As a matter of fact, there are women who have no need for marriage—who do not desire it, but who virtually force themselves into it because of their fear of being an old maid or of old age loneliness.

But some of the loneliest women in the world today are married women with children.

The unmarried woman of today is really a happy creature. She is no longer an old maid. She is a bachelor girl, and her life is often so full and interesting and useful that she is utterly happy and contented in her own way.

A very spry, interesting old lady of 62 recently claimed that her principal reason for not marrying was her intense horror of parting with her freedom, and of having her individuality and gifts killed by husband and children and circumstances. She is convinced that for her at least the only life was single life, and she has absolutely no regrets for not having married.

All of this, of course, seems impossible to the wife and mother who has reasoned herself into a state of superiority and has only pity for the unmarried woman. She expresses on every possible occasion her belief that there is no work and no honor that can recompense for the tragedy of not having a child. This view is little short of insulting to the many great women who have done everything and had everything but a child, and who have made life worth living for other women's children and found recompense in full for themselves.

Were you in love, there is no question as to which you should choose. You would decide in favor of marriage and a tiny two-by-four house would look better to you than the finest job in the world. To be sure, there would be many times when you would find marriage most trying, but having for your very own the man you loved would be sufficient compensation for any hardship.

But as you are not in love, in my opinion it is a toss-up as to which will prove the most satisfactory—single blessedness with a career, or marriage. There is considerable charm in both lots, and whether you decide on marriage or a career, there will be times when you will regret with all your heart the decision you made, because it is human nature to believe that everybody's lot is easier than your own.
