About Your Health Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

MISLEADING

The day is gone when such terms as "stomach trouble," "liver troubles," "female complaint," "heart disease" and such like, convey intelligent meaning; and yet, many people, when told by the quack that they have liver trouble, or "dropsy," or "neuralgia," are apparently satisfied with the diagnosis.

Even intelligent newspapers today report that certain citizens died of "Heart trouble" or "Heart Disease." And this, when there are, roughly speaking, over two dozen easily recognized diseases of the heart and its appendages!

It is against ignorance and cupidity that the honest physician struggles, often too vainly. In years ago, "dropsy" was said to be an incurable disease. Now we know it is only a symptom of disease of some other organ, curable or incurable. Neuralgia is not a disease at all—it is literally pain in a nerve, and may be due to a number of causes; and upon the removability of the cause, depends the cure of the disease.

How the quacks love to print the cure of Mrs. Jinks' "Female trouble!" They even furnish her newspaper portrait, so eager are they to aid suffering humanity. It is amazing that some people are so unsophisticated that they read and believe such stuff! The afflicted female probably needed only a stout purge even if such a personage ever existed; and if she did, she was probably well paid in cash for the "testimonial."

OUR RALEIGH LETTER

By M. L. Shipman

Raleigh, May 9.—Raleigh's city election and the fierce wrangling which it caused displaced all other public matters in point of interest during the past week but there was great excitement when Governor McLean was forced to order out two companies of the national guard to break up a strike of prisoners at the Halifax county camp. The probe of the health board activities also was before the Governor and it was indicated this would be prosecuted vigorously as requested by board officials, in order that suspicion might be cleared away.

The election resulted in the naming of the entire administration headed by Mayor Culbreth. There was a hot newspaper war on between the Raleigh Times and the News and Observer because of the election and it was charged by Mr. Daniels in the News and Observer that various unfair methods were used by the Culbreth faction, including wholesale registration of negroes. Be that as it may, it is an undoubted fact that a large number of negroes were voted in the election and the spirit of bitterness which was engendered thereby has not been good for the city.

As an immediate result of the election, five police officers were discharged by the Culbreth crowd, evidently indicating that they had not supported the administration for re-election.

On Thursday afternoon Governor McLean was forced to order out troops to proceed to Halifax county prison farm where 400 prisoners went on a strike. They desired a shorter working day and half days on Saturday. The troops quelled the disorder speedily, the prisoners being placed on a diet of bread and water until they yielded. For the first 24 hours they were not fed at all. The ring leaders in the movement will be severely punished and the several thousand dollars damage done by them will be taken from the usual allowance which is granted prisoners for working. The troops returned to their homes Saturday morning.

A full investigation of the board of health has been ordered by Governor McLean, who feels that in justice to the officials in charge they should either be cleared of or found guilty of charges which were made before the general assembly of maladministration and which have been aired from that time, though the general assembly in effect gave the board a clean bill of health. It is probable that the attorney general will be ordered to make the investigation and the Governor is expected to receive his report and announce the result.

The four full time special judges authorized by the legislature and appointed by the Governor were inducted into office this past week. They were Tam C Bowles of Jefferson; H. Hoyle Sink of Lexington; Clayton Moore of Williamston and N. A. Townsend of Dunn. They began to draw pay the first of May and the condition of court dockets is such that no doubt they will find plenty of work to do. Two will operate in western counties and two in eastern section. Chief Justice Stacy administered the oath of office and congratulated the state on the addition of four such learned men to the judiciary.

Wake county commissioners have authorized the issuance of $400,000 in school bonds. This sum will bring the school consolidation program abreast of modern needs. A high school will be completed and four elementary schools will be constructed. This is the first bond issue under the law for school buildings in the county, though about $250,000 has been borrowed.

Raleigh citizens will vote in July on a proposal sanctioned by the last legislature to give $75,000 toward a new fair ground. The election was to have been held at an earlier date but it was deemed wise to postpone it until sometime after the city election.

John Early, North Carolina's leper, is on his way back to the federal leprosum at Carville, La., and the western section of the State is breathing easier. Early had escaped and established a camp on the Toe River. He has escaped more than once, when he longs to place his feet on Tarheel soil.

Raleigh's Civic Music Week is being observed this week and a great schedule has been arranged for the entire week. It is the plan to enroll every man, woman and child in the endeavor to bring great artists to Raleigh in the fall.

Democrats and Republicans alike rejoiced at the action of the council in re-implementing W. W. Worth of Greensboro in the amount of $16,072. Mr. Worth, when state treasurer in 1900 had a clerk who stole this amount. The defalcation was not discovered until State Treasurer Lacy took office the following year, when he also lost some money through the defalcation. Mr. Lacy long ago was reimbursed by the democratic legislature but the Republican Treasurer had never gotten his money back. The last general assembly approved the reimbursement, subject to the wishes of the council of State. A check will shortly be sent Mr. Worth who is greatly encumbered by years and needs the money. When the defalcation was discovered, Mr. Worth made it good to the state and the clerk went to prison where he died.

Church unity got an impetus here during the week when the Raleigh Christian church affiliated with the state body and with the national church and the state body affiliated with the Congregationalists. It was a happy occasion and one which was welcomed by all favoring unity of bodies so much alike in all other forms.

While the session was in progress, the churchmen went on record as definitely opposed to war and in favor of prohibition. This is carrying on an attitude of the denomination which has extended over a period of years.

The forestry section of the department of conservation and development is hard at work on plans to replant timber areas of Western North Carolina. During the past week more than 1,700 seedlings have been set out on Mount Mitchell in the area which was devastated by fire ten years ago. Since the reforestation program started in 1923 more than 10,000 young trees have been set out, the plants being chiefly balsam and spruce. The seedlings planted in former years are developing nicely.

At the nineteenth annual Sunday school convention held in Garner this week, there were more than 600 delegates present, testifying to the great interest in this work. This was the Raleigh district meeting. R. Roy Carter was elected president of the district and W. C. Holder, Secretary.

Raleigh is getting hard to work to raise funds for the amount needed from five to ten millions and this doubled Raleigh's quota from four to eight thousand. Approximately $3,000 has been raised and efforts are in progress to get the remainder.

Raleigh property and Wake county property on which taxes have not been paid will be advertised after this week unless settlement is made. However sale of property cannot follow for some time and while many are avoiding the penalty by paying up others probably will delay a great deal longer in paying.

The new county finance act makes it a little harder to escape payment of taxes and undoubtedly the revenue receipts of the county will be swelled this year as a result.

General Albert L. Cox of Raleigh continues to receive endorsements for next commander of the American Legion in the State. The latest post to endorse him is that at Lumberton. The trustees of Shaw University, negro institute here, have endorsed the discharge by President Peacock of Lewis K. McMillan, faculty member who criticized the policy of the college in such a way as to hurt its standing in the public eye. O. Max Gardner, next Governor of North Carolina, was the guest of honor at State College last Thursday and a regimental dress parade was given in his honor. He will also address the alumni of the college, more than 300 of whom live in Raleigh.

Governors of North Carolina and Virginia have united in an appeal to President Coolidge to save the fish and game industry of the eastern coast which is threatened by the influx of salt water to fresh streams. The matter can be remedied by replacing the locks in Chesapeake Bay and Albemarle Sound.

The State Board of Health has sent eight of its experts to the flood zone to aid the U. S. Health officers in preventing epidemics. Material aid has been rendered by sending a great deal of various kinds of toxins which were badly needed. The board stands ready to send additional help whenever it is needed.

Insurance Commissioner Stacey W. Wade has been honored by the national convention of insurance commissioners by whom he was selected this week to be a delegate to the National Fire Protection Association Conference at Chicago the last week in May.
