VOTES TO CONSOLIDATE

On Friday of last week the citizens of the Hickory Rock and White Level school districts held an election to determine whether the two schools should consolidate and to select a site for the new school. The returns show that the two districts were overwhelmingly in favor of consolidating as there were 241 votes cast for the consolidation and 6 against the consolidation. The vote for the sites resulted in the R. H. Bobbitt place not receiving any vote, the Joe Champion place received 161 votes and the John Henry place received 140 votes.

The result of this election will be reported to the Board of Education on next Monday when it will no doubt order the purchase of the site.

MRS. PALMER ENTERTAINS CLUB

The Tuesday Afternoon Book Club had a most interesting meeting on last Thursday afternoon. We are studying "Our Southland," this year and our motto for this meeting was "The world must turn upon its own axis, and all men turn with it."

The first paper was written by Mrs. Clifton, "Modes of Israel in Ante-Belium Days," but was read and told by Mrs. Parham. Mrs. Moha's paper, "The Influence of railways and good roads," made us appreciate our highways more, and know we don't care to have our railroads go either. Mrs. Watson read "The Worship Dixie."

We had several selections on the Victrola after which Mrs. Parham read "The Stonewall Jackson Way," as this meeting was so near his birth day.

Mrs. J. L. Palmer was our hostess for this afternoon at her home on Sunset Avenue and she served very tempting refreshments, assisted by Mrs. J. B. Yarborough.

If our big navy is to be only a paper fleet maybe we can fight the next war in bathtubs.

SISTER SHIP S-4 MISSING

Washington, Jan. 31.—The missing submarine S-3 which during a storm on Saturday became separated from seven other submarines while en route to the naval base at Guantanamo Cuba, was proceeding along the Florida coast today under her own power.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The submarine S-3 lost contact with a convoy south of Hatteras at sunday Saturday, and word has not been heard from her since.

While officials expressed confidence that the submarine a sister ship of the sunken S-4, would turn up all right at Guantanamo, Cuba, her destination, the Navy Department today ordered an intensive search for the submarine.

Losses Contact
The S-3, with a crew of 41 men, became separated from the control force, bound for winter maneuvers, in a gale 100 miles south of Cape Hatteras, one of the worst storm centers on the Atlantic Coast. A report that she had lost contact with seven other submarines, the Camden, a submarine tender, and the new airplane carrier Saratoga, was received at the Navy Department early today.

In addition to the ships of the convoy, which have been on the look out for the S-3, the department late today ordered the light cruisers Milwaukee, Raleigh and Memphis and a squadron of destroyers to proceed from Cuban waters in search of the missing craft.

At the department officers, while plainly concerned, said they would have no grave fears for the S-3 until after Wednesday night, when she is due at Guantanamo. The ship is in command of Lieutenant P. W. Warren of Springfield, Ill.

Report from Brumby
The official report that the S-3 was missing came from Rear Admiral Frank H. Brumby, aboard the Camden as commander of the control force. Some officers here believe that the submarine's radio apparatus might have been put out of commission, a mishap which such ships frequently have in rough weather.

The Navy Department announced that such disappearances were "not unusual in small vessels during bad weather conditions which are existing."

Admiral Hughes said that if the submarine had been in a collision the Navy Department would have heard of the mishap at least from the other ship. He suggested that any of a number of things such as dampness, the breaking of the antenna mast or engine trouble could have caused the craft to lose contact with its convoy. The sea, where the S-3 was last reported, is about two miles deep.

Secretary Wilbur declined to make public the names of the crew other than officers.

REV. C. B. HOWARD WRITES

The following letter has been received from Rev. C. B. Howard:

Mullins Hall,
Louisville, Ky.,
January 18, 1928.

"To Harris Chapel Church and Sunday School:
My dear Friends and Co-Workers:

I wish I had the words tonight to express the joy I have felt because of the good news I have been hearing from dear old Harris Chapel. Every letter or post card I get from any of the Harris Chapel people bears some news about something that you have done that makes me very happy.

"Before I came away from you, I knew that I loved the whole church deeply and sincerely, but I didn't know how dear the place and the people were to me until I had to be away for a while.

"Last Sunday I heard a pipe organ that cost many thousands of dollars, but somehow I had the feeling that our little organ at Harris Chapel playing and our folks singing number 52 or 98 or 306 would have been much more beautiful to me. But the time is more than half gone now and I rejoice greatly in the hope of being with you again soon.

"I was happy to get a letter from Brother Gillespie a few days ago saying that the work is going on well and that he has learned to love the folks at Harris Chapel. I have also been happy to read in the letters you have written me of the fine work Bro. Gillespie has been doing among you this winter. I know you appreciate what he is doing for us, especially since he has so many duties and is so overworked all the time. I am sure that you feel fortunate in getting him to serve us during my absence. May God's blessings rest richly on him and you during all these months.

"As I write I can imagine just how you look there in the church this afternoon. I can almost tell who is sitting on each seat. How I wish I could be sitting there with you for just a few minutes! Brother Frazier, I think I can see you sitting there on that short bench on the left of the pulpit, where we have been so happy and blessed to see you almost every Sunday during the whole lifetime of us younger members. I want to say just a word to you. If I am not mistaken, this is your birthday, January 22. I thank God for you and what your life has meant to me and to our whole church and community. I know that I am a better man because of your love and your clean, upright, and consecrated life; and I am absolutely sure that every one of our folks in the church today can say the same thing. And we are praying that our Heavenly Father may see fit to give you many years yet to lead Harris Chapel boys and girls and men and women onward and upward. Every day I call your name in prayer and thank God for sparing your life to us.

"May God bless and keep you all, and help you to take up your cross daily, with gladness, and follow him. With a heart full of love to every one of you,

CHARLES HOWARD.

McKINNE INSTEAD OF FURGERSON

The name of Mc. M. Furgerson on the Executive Committee of the Louisburg Chamber of Commerce should have been Malocim McKinne. The name was abbreviated by the Secretary on the temporary minutes and when the reporter got them off he misinterpreted the abbreviations.

In using lime under tobacco to control sandworm and to improve the quality of the leaf, it is well to remember that only the marine lime stone should be used for this purpose.

LINDBERGH ENDORSES C. M. T. CAMPS

Many prominent men over the length and breadth of our land have praised the Civilian Military Training Camps and advised all young men to attend them.

LOCAL H. S. GIRLS HAVE CHANCE TO WIN SCHOLARSHIP

Knowledge of cooking, food values, selection as to quality, or other phases of the subject of meat, may bring local high school girls within reach of a university scholarship or cash award, if they can transfer this knowledge to paper.

High school home economic teachers have just received formal announcement of the Fifth National Meat Story Contest. The contest is held annually in high schools of the United States under the sponsorship of the National Livestock and Meat Board. It has the indorsement of college home economics heads and other leaders in the field, who look upon it as a valuable educational project.

Interest in the contest has increased each year, it is said. Last year approximately 14,000 girls from high schools in every state of the union competed and the Board expects that even a larger number will be enrolled in the present contest. As in past, the distribution of prizes is arranged so that girls in every state will be among the winners. Miss Rose Gertrude Schmidt of Moorestown, N. J., won the national championship last year.

The present contest will close on March 15, according to the announcement. Judging of the stories will be in the hands of a committee which is to be selected from college directors of home economics and other authorities on the subject.

It is explained that the purpose of the contest is to stimulate more interest in the study of home economics. The scholarships offered are for home economics courses. These and the cash prizes furnish an incentive for the future housewife to take part in the event which, it is hoped, will better fit her to assume the responsibilities of home management.

Story telling, by Miss Georgia Keene, Elementary Conference Superintendent, Durham. 4. The Spirit and Genius of Methodism, by Dr. Garber, teacher of church history, Duke University.

Mr. Malcolm McKinne has been made leader of all leadership training activities for the year.
