JIM NEWMAN AND FRANK JETER TALK TO KIWANIS

Jim Newman, a "Live at Home" Franklin County Farmer, told the Louisville Kiwanis Club last Friday night how he lived at home. Naming the things important for this program, he stated that no farmer could afford to neglect his garden. "My garden," said Mr. Newman, "gives my family a living the whole year thru. There is something that we can have on our table from the garden, the whole year." He stated further that he was raising cows profitably. That he had a strain of pure bred cattle that were making money for him. Then he told how he had started with pure bred hogs. Getting his first sow from Dr. Fleming. From a sow that he raised, he sold last year $275 worth of pigs. "No farmer can afford to overlook and not have these three things with him on the farm. He can't live at home without them and if he isn't living at home, he isn't saving and making money where he could."

Frank Jeter, agricultural editor of State College, brought to the club an interesting address. "There is one thing about this county that I don't like and that is this: Coming over from Raleigh this afternoon I saw no cover crops, no clover, rye and other grains that we call 'Cover Crops.'" He called attention to the shortage of cattle and hogs in this county.

He told how a man from the News and Observer, in Raleigh, had been sent down into the eastern part of the state to explore the pitiful conditions that were existing down there, as reported through different mediums. This man found that the average income of the eastern farmer was approximately $1000, while the average of the piedmont farmer is only $600. Yet the piedmont farmer isn't as hard hit as his eastern brothers. Mr. Jeter explained that this was due to the diversification of crops in the piedmont section; that these farmers were living at home. They have their cows, hogs, and poultry, and do not raise a big money crop. How long before the eastern farmers will find out that this is the method to pursue?

The entire program was especially interesting and was enjoyed by a large number.

INGSIDE ITEMS

Mr. John Edwards, ministerial student, and Mr. Marvin Gardner, of Campbell College, came Friday evening to visit Mr. Edwards' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Edwards.

The time for service at Corinth Baptist church has been changed to the second Sunday in each month, morning and evening, by the pastor, Rev. Paul Caudle. Mr. Caudle was detained, owing to the illness of Mrs. Caudle, and both services were conducted by Rev. G. D. Danner, of Wake Forest.

Miss Kate Brooks Moore, of Smithfield, and Mr. Willie Ellis, of Macleesfield, came Sunday to visit Mrs. Frank Freeman.

Mr. J. B. Hunt went to Richmond Tuesday to see Mrs. Hunt, who was taken to a hospital there the first of the week, for a minor operation. Mr. Hunt reports that his wife is doing well, and expects to be able to return home within the next two weeks.

News of the death of Mr. P. S. Monger, at his home in Sanford, Fla., last Thursday, was received by his friends here and elsewhere with regret. He was the only son of the late Arthur S. Monger, and was reared near here. Mr. Monger married Miss Merle Wilson, daughter of Mr. George Wilson, near Louisville, and had lived in the South a number of years. He is survived by his wife and four children, two boys and two girls; and also by his mother, who made her home with them. Peter Monger, genial and affable, was well liked possessing many fine traits that made him popular with all. He was a musician of note and as an amateur violinist he perhaps had no equal in this county and many others.

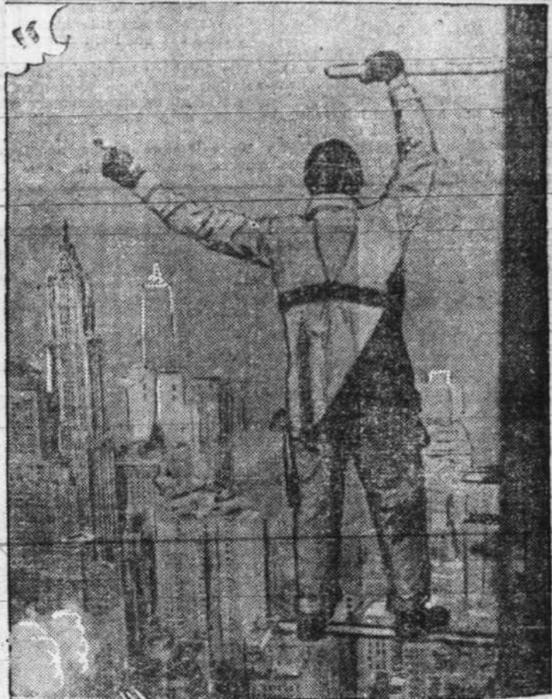

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight S. Cross, of Huntersville, N. C., announce the advent of a little boy, Dwight Sharpe, Jr., Feb. 3rd. Mrs. Cross was Miss Edna Beasley, of Louisville, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Beasley.

We are sorry to report that Mr. Charles Catlet is on the sick list this week. Quite a number of kind friends assembled at the farm today to finish some important work that had to be laid aside when he was called in doors.

Seven farmers of Carteret County are fifteen hundred dollars richer this week through the cooperative shipment of 78 live hogs. The hogs brought top prices with a total of $1551.18.

Sixteen cotton demonstrations in Catawba County made an average yield of 545 pounds of lint cotton per acre during the past year, at a cost of only nine cents a pound. The average yield for the county is 240 pounds at a cost of 12.3 cents.

GOV. O. MAX GARDNER SUPPORTS AMERICAN LEGION IN ESSAY CONTEST

The Jambes Post of the American Legion, of Louisville, N. C. is gratified to receive the high approval and assistance of Governor O. Max Gardner, in conducting their essay contest in the High Schools of Franklin County, on the subject "The Benefits of Diversified Farming."

Upon request from the Jambes Post, Governor Gardner, has readily consented to award the winner of the contest with an autographed photograph of himself, and to write the winner a personal letter of congratulation. These are trophies that the winner will be proud of for the balance of his life, and which will be handed down through generations, with just pride.

Every year the Jambes Post conducts an essay contest in the High Schools of Franklin County, with the idea of improving the students, and benefiting the community, by having students write on some vital problem that faces them. Since we are swamped at present with the deplorable back wash of "money cropping," the subject is decidedly appropriate and timely. It is hoped that all high school students will compete this year.

The prizes consist of the JAMBES POST MEMORIAL CUP, which goes to the winning high school; the American Legion Medal and the autographed photograph and letter of congratulation from Governor O. Max Gardner, which goes to the winning student; a five dollar gold piece, as a second prize; twenty tickets to the New Vitaphone Movie, as a third prize, which is contributed by R. R. Kiesel, owner of the New Vitaphone house now under construction. These prizes will be awarded at the Annual Memorial Exercises that are conducted by the Franklin County Memorial Association.

Next Royal Bride

The beautiful young Princess Heans of Roumania, has announced her engagement to Count Alexander of Hochburg, son of the Prince and Princess of Pleza.

WALTER JUNIUS BALLARD

The community was greatly shocked and grieved in the death of Walter Junius Ballard, which occurred on the morning of February the sixth at his home in Franklin.

He had not been well for several weeks, but did not give up until a few days before his death.

His father's death a few years before, left him with the responsibility of his father's business, which he carried on most efficiently and successfully and he was ever a source of great comfort to his family.

He lived in the community from his birth and was loved by the people. He was ever a most loyal friend, and possessed those characteristics of the gentleman that he had inherited through generations.

He was born Nov. 29, 1878, the son of B. W. Ballard deceased, and Nellie Parker Ballard. Surviving members of the family are his mother, Miss Kate Ballard of Raleigh, Mrs. William F. Joyner of Franklin and Mrs. Richard F. Yarborough of Louisville. His youngest sister, Mrs. James E. Cheatham of Nashville, Tenn., died in 1918.

T. L. Shelton of Madison County reports a yield of 464 pounds of high quality burley tobacco from one-half acre of ground fertilized with 400 pounds of a 12-4-6 mixture.

Marcus Wright,

Charlie McGhee,

Hattie McNeil, larceny.

MR. ALLEN RETURNS FROM CHEVROLET MEETING

Because of the popular nationwide reception of the new Chevrolet Six at lower prices, the Chevrolet Motor Company is preparing for a volume of business in 1930 that promises to break all records of the company. Confidence over the outlook for a banner Chevrolet year is widespread in the factory and dealer organizations.

This is the statement of Mr. P. S. Allen, local Chevrolet Dealer, who has just returned from Charlotte where he attended the mammoth Chevrolet sales meeting and banquet.

Under the direction of H. J. Klingler, Vice-President and General Sales Manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, the meeting embraced the most graphic and comprehensive sales presentation ever attempted by an automobile manufacturer, "Mr. Allen said.

"The advanced merchandising methods which the factory is suggesting to its dealer organization were depicted in the form of playlets, showing the proper procedure to be followed in the successful operation of a retail automobile business."

In connection with the Convention the 100 car club members of the Charlotte zone, which embraces the retail salesmen who sold 100 or more cars in 1929, held their annual meeting, and installed officers for the year.

Assisting in the direction of the meeting were in addition to Mr. Klingler, M. D. Douglas, Parts and Service Manager, Central Office; L. S. Costley, Regional Sales Manager; G. J. Gates, Zone Sales Manager; Earl Fenton, Assistant Zone Sales Manager; and the following men representing the Central Office: J. J. Doob, C. J. Sclford, Joseph Glass, C. W. Luce, N. H. Pearson and C. D. Asbury.

AT HOME

The Louisville College faculty will be at home to their friends in the College parlors, Tuesday afternoon, February eighteenth, from four to five o'clock.

Farmers in Martin County received an average of 21 cents a pound for their poultry shipments last week. Shipments totalled $20,241 pounds for which they received $2,116.50 in cash.

Shot for Preaching

Rev. John Toews, a Mennonite missionary, who was executed by the Soviet authorities of Russia for teaching the Christian religion. All religious teaching is contrary to Russian law. Rev. Toews was a brother of a Mountain Lake, Minnesota, citizen.

Chief Justice Resigns

William Howard Taft, the only man who ever held the two highest offices in the United States, President and Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, resigned because of ill health. Mr. Taft is 72 years old and was appointed Chief Justice by President Harding in 1921. He served as President from 1909 to 1913.

MR. J. E. MOORE DEAD

Mr. J. E. Moore died at his home near White Level on Jan. 23, in the 60th year of his age. He was a dutiful husband and father and his devotion to his family cannot be surpassed. In his community he was known as a good neighbor and citizen, and a friend to all.

He leaves besides his wife, three children Gillise Moore, Butler Moore, and Virginia Moore, two brothers, E. H. Moore and W. H. Moore of Durham, and Mrs. Thomas Hester, of Knightsdale.

He joined the Baptist church at the age of 21 and remained a consistent member. The funeral was conducted by Rev. G. W. May at White Level church and the interment was made in the cemetery nearby, and was largely attended.

The pallbearers were J. W. Nash, W. H. Collins, George Collins, Howard House, W. T. Davis, Pate Davis.

The bereaved family has the sympathy of the entire community.

PLAY AT GOLD SAND

The Senior class of Gold Sand High School will present the play "The End of the Lane" by Lillian Mortimer, Wednesday evening, February 19th, 1930 at 7:30 o'clock. It is a comedy drama in three delightful acts.

Cast of Characters is as follows: Jim Denver, Wanderer—Raymond Sturges.

Harry Sanders, Jim's Rival—Leland Gupton.

John Randal, Rich Farmer—Walter Fuller.

Bud Nix, Hired Man—Ruffin Harper.

Messenger Boy, "Sure Thing"—Clinton Gupton.

Coral Randal—Ernestine Cottrell.

Ma Randal—Pattie R. Moore.

Ellen Sairbright—Zena Bledsoe.

Martha—Elizabeth Ann, Servant—Leona Raynor.

Bessie Ried, an orphan—Ava Joyner.

Mrs. Kate Sanders—Mabel Gupton.

"To a penniless wanderer, Jim Denver, comes the bright idea of passing himself off as the long-lost son of a wealthy New York farmer, who was kidnapped 29 years before the opening of the play. He hopes thereby to repair his broken fortunes and to gratify his longing for a home. The deception is a success. The farmer, his wife, and his daughter receive Jim with open arms, and Jim is soon in love with the daughter, who unwittingly returns his love. But the course of true love and of well planned fraud runs anything but smooth. A rival lover appears. It is interesting to see how the hero frees himself from the tangled web of his own deception and finds happiness. Excellent comedy is supplied by the antics of Martha the hired girl with operatic aspirations, and her country cousin, who woos her with gumdrops and peanuts."

N. M. BALLARD DEAD

Mrs. J. J. Barrow, of Louisville, received a telegram Sunday evening announcing the death of her brother, Mr. N. M. Ballard which occurred that afternoon. Mr. Ballard left Louisville something over forty years ago to make his home at Sherman, Texas. The death occurred at Dallas, Texas, and the body was carried to Sherman for interment, Monday. Mr. Ballard was seventy-three years old and was the brother of Mrs. J. J. Barrow and Mr. F. S. Ballard, both of Louisville, and Mrs. H. D. Egerton, of near Louisville.

PRESENTS PROGRAM ON COURT SQUARE

The students of the colored Graded School, under supervision of Principal George C. Pollard, gave a most interesting program on the court house square Wednesday in commemoration of Franklin County day. The program consisted of several splendid speeches, excellent recitations and good music, among which was the Franklin County Song and the Centennial song "Ode to Franklin."

The manner in which the program was presented and executed reflected much credit upon the children and their instructors.

Tuesday P. M. 3:30 o'clock "Welcome Inn" was the scene of a happy Valentine party given by Miss Eleanor Collier to members of the Twentieth Century Book Club and other guests—Miss Margaret Wilder and Mrs. —. Sykes. "Welcome Inn" presented a bright springtime appearance with first-breath of spring, yellow daffodils and other spring flowers.

The topic of study for the afternoon was: "Abraham Lincoln." "The Boyhood of Lincoln," a paper, by Mrs. F. J. Beasley retold many very interesting and amusing incidents during that period of his life. "Lincoln's Rise to Presidency," a paper, by Mrs. H. J. Hayes, told of his successes and achievements that led to the White House career. "Lincoln's Years in the White House," a paper, by Mrs. Crawford Beasley was very entertaining in its recall of the happenings of that time. A piano solo, rendered by Miss Margaret Wilder, added spice and variety to this very interesting program.

The long table was very pretty with its valentine place cards and favors of heart shaped valentine boxes filled with salted almonds at each place.

Refreshments were delicious chicken salad, cheese straws, sliced tomatoes, hot rolls, coffee, and a dessert course of jello with whipped cream and cake were served.
