BAPTIST CENTENNIAL CONVENTION, GREENVILLE, MAR. 26, 27

A hundred years ago on March 26, 27, the Baptist State Convention of North Carolina was organized with 33 charter members, seven ministers and seven laymen, in Greenville, N. C. At the time, according to Dr. Thomas Meridith and Dr. Samuel White, leaders in the new organization, there were in North Carolina around 15,360 Baptists all told, Missionary, Anti-missionary, O-missionary, Free Will, white and colored, who were grouped into 272 churches and 14 churches and 14 district associations.

At the session of the Convention in Shelby last fall it was agreed to meet in an extraordinary session in Greenville on Wed. morning, March 26 and 27 to celebrate in a fitting manner the organization of the Convention. It is not expected that any business will be transacted. Only the fraternal addresses will be made pointing out the growth and development of the past hundred years and the challenge of the next hundred years.

Dr. William Louis Poter, Wake Forest, is the chairman of the special committee to arrange the program, which has been completed. Many outstanding men of this and other states are included in the program. The meetings will be held in the auditorium of the East Carolina Teachers' College. The pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church, Rev. A. W. Fleischmann, and his committee on arrangements are prepared to take care of the hundreds of delegates and visitors that are expected to attend.

Entertains At Party

The "Lend a Hand" class of Plank Chapel Sunday School is divided into four groups. Each group representing a season of the year. The "Winter" season with Miss Fanny Rowland as chairman, delightfully entertained the other seasons with a Washington Birthday Party at the home of Mrs. J. Allen Harris. The lawn and porch was made bright and attractive by the soft glow of red lights and large U. S. Flags. The National colors were also used throughout the house.

Miss Mary Lee High and Forrest Smith dressed in "Martha" and "George" costumes, met the guest. After the guests arrived, the evening fun began, by giving each one a miniature Washington hat, on which to write a wish for their teacher, Miss Florine Smith. They were collected in a large Washington hat and presented to her.

Partners were found by the boys matching handles to hatches which the girls held. They were asked to see which could tear out of note paper the best silhouette of Washington. The prize a picture of Washington going to Miss Florine Smith.

Next was a "stunt pulling," from a large red basket suspended in the center of the room. Each pulled a red, white and blue hatchet with a stunt on other end of cord. Seeing the couples doing their stunts created much fun.

Then with a cherry tree laying on the stump, each tried with a real hatchet to see which could cut nearest the place where Washington cut. A box of Martha Washington candy went to Miss Myrtle Mitchell and Paul Kerley as prize. The booby, a court plaster "for fresh cuts," to Miss Maybel Gill and Sam Fuller.

All evening, eyes were glancing at the big, red juicy cherries hanging on the tree in the alcove. At last, they were invited to gather them. They were found to contain fortunes. The "seasons" were full of pep all evening, and their yells created much fun. The hostess assisted by little Betty Allen Harris, served ice-cream topped with cherries, and white block cake, followed by salted peanuts. The favors were small U. S. Flags. The guest left, hoping the "Spring" season would come early.

HENS PAY WELL FOR FEED EATEN

Hens in 133 farm flocks totaling 26,231 birds paid a little more than 22 cents each above feed costs for the month of January according to reports of these flocks made by owners to C. F. Parrish, poultry extension specialist at State College. "These demonstration flocks were located in 35 counties," says Mr. Parrish. "The report for January shows that each hen produced about 12 eggs for the month or a total of 208,374 eggs. The eggs sold for $11,537.43 or an average of 44 cents a dozen. The average price was nearly five cents more a dozen than for the same month in 1929." Mr. Parrish says each bird in the 133 flocks consumed 3.30 pounds of scratch feed and 3.86 pounds of grain each during the month. It took 7.13 pounds of feed to produce one dozen
