This church extends a cordial welcome to all who come. REV. THOMPSON RETURNED - Rev. A. L. Thompson pastor of the Louisburg Circuit has returned from the hospital and will meet his appointments at Shiloh and Piney Grove next Sunday March 9. Everybody come to church and lets have a good day together. SOIL BUILDING ALONE JUSTIFIES DAIRY COW - The need for soil building is so great on the average North Carolina farm that the presence of the dairy cow can be justified even though the net profit from her milk or cream be small. "On any farm where crop production is unsupported by livestock growing, the conservation of soil fertility is difficult problem," says John A. Arey, dairy extension specialist at State College. "Continuous crop production as practiced in this State reduces the plant food content of the soil and encourages erosion. A good example of this can be found in parts of the piedmont section where there are thousands of acres of rolling land which are even now so badly washed as to be unfit for farming. The methods of clean culture practiced are largely responsible for this condition. Instead of cultivating such land, much of it could be put to pasture, which would check erosion and at the same time furnish profitable grazing for cows." Mr. Arey says that it makes little difference as to the cash return from a crop of this is secured at the expense of soil fertility. In the end the farmer loses. Gradually his soil becomes less productive and eventually he will be forced to move to a more fertile farm to secure an income sufficient to maintain his family. The dairy cow converts large quantities of feeds into milk. Some of these feeds have high plant food value and since only about 20 per cent of this food value is lost in the feeding process, there is a gradual accumulation of plant food in the form of manure on every well-managed dairy farm. The good crop yields secured on such farms are ample

BUNN SCHOOL NEWS

Beantown Choir to be Given at Bunn - The P. T. A. will present the play "Beantown Choir" in the Bunn School auditorium on Friday night, March 21. The play is rich in comedy. No more of an appropriate name could be given it than "Beantown". The cast of characters will be taken from the P. T. A. and will be mostly parents of the P. T. A., leaving out the teachers. Two hours of wholesome laughter are afforded in this play. Mr. J. H. Weathers Gives Barbecue - On Thursday night, February 20, Mr. Weathers was host to the Bunn Teachers and several other friends at a barbecue supper in the home of Mrs. Eugenia Johnson. Owing to the pleasant spring weather the supper was served out of doors on a nicely arranged table. Everyone enjoyed the generous hospitality of the host. All of the teachers were present. Others present were Dr. and Mrs. Johnson, Rev. C. E. Crawford, Mrs. S. L. Bowen, Mr. and Mrs. Rob Johnson, and Mrs. Eugenia Johnson. Senior Class "Tid-Bits" - It seems that the Senior class of B. H. S. has the most perplexing problems of any school in Franklin County. Here are some of them: First, how we're going to arrange Jerry Hagwood and Elizabeth Beddingfield so that they will not talk in the study hall every day. Second, how we can prevent Minnie Grey Carde from saying "he's so sweet" so often. Third, how we're going to keep Selia Mitchell and Emma Holmes from eating in the study hall. The Senior class enjoyed the new work assigned to them by Mr. Keith. We had to draw a sketch of any descriptive scene that appeared in the poem "L'Allegro". All types of drawings were displayed, some good, some bad. To see the figures - drawn to represent cows, sheep and chickens, were as comical or more so, than the comedy of any manning picture. We're quite sure Mr. Keith had many hearty laughs while grading these artistic drawings. "Some people have too much curiosity; others too little. Sherman Pearce, is an example of the class of people who have too much curiosity. If it is not curiosity when a boy wishes to meet with the girls when they meet to decide the kind of dresses to wear at commencement, then what is it? We have always noticed a smile on Ruth Strickland's face and have noticed that her step is very light and airy on Friday of every week. Perhaps she can't hide that that is in her heart. She knows "Arthur's coming Sunday!" Helen Mullen. B. H. S. Senior Class Girls Have Meeting - On Thursday afternoon, Feb. 27, the Senior class girls met with their room teacher, Mrs. O'Quinn, to discuss the dresses for commencement. After much discussion, the class
