books are to write their license number and State of registration on face of all coupons.

Holders of E or R books write their name and address on the face of all coupons.

Holders of interchangeable book coupons for official or fleet designation and city and state of main office. If the commercial vehicle does not operate under a fleet designation, the number of the Certificate of War Necessity is to be written on the coupons.

Endorsement of coupons has a twofold purpose:

First, it protects consumers against use of their coupons by others in case of theft or loss.

Second, it enables the Government to locate criminals who have been trafficking in illegal gasoline. By checking back the ownership of gas coupons that had been handled by suspected gas stations, the Government can determine whether a station is operating legally or illegally.

FEDERAL LAND BANK OF COLUMBIA REDUCES INTEREST RATES ON LOANS

Action has been taken by the Board of Directors of The Federal Land Bank of Columbia, acting in conjunction with the directors of the other eleven land banks, which will assure all land bank borrowers continued low interest rates and at the same time save the Federal Treasury approximately twenty million dollars in the next fiscal year, according to statement received today by Mr. E. L. Irvin, Secretary-Treasurer of the Franklin National Farm Loan Association, from Julian H. Scarborough, President of the Columbia Land Bank.

"This action substitutes a 4 per cent interest rate for higher rates on all loans made through our association except specialized loans," Mr. Irvin said. Loans made by the Columbia Land Bank through our association prior to June, 1935, carried a rate of interest ranging from 4 1/4 to 6 per cent. This action by the Land Bank has the effect of reducing the contract rate on these loans to 4 per cent for the remaining life of the loans. Nearly all loans of The Federal Land Bank of Columbia made through this association since June, 1935, carry a 4 per cent rate.

"Since 1935, all land bank borrowers have paid lower rates of interest than provided in their mortgage under Federal legislation passed that year. Legislation authorizing the present reduced rate will expire June 30, 1944, at which time the permanent reduced rate of 4 per cent by the land banks becomes effective. This will make continuation of the interest subsidy of nearly $20,000,000 yearly by the Federal Government unnecessary unless Congress should determine to fix a lower rate," Mr. Irvin stated.

Entirely too much green and damp cotton is being hauled to the gins this fall, resulting in losses of from $4 to $6 a bale to the farmer.

WOMEN SUCCESSFUL BUS DRIVERS

Now that hundreds of women have proven entirely capable of driving buses on the West Coast and in other war production areas, the National Association of Motor Bus Operators reports that major lines in all parts of the country are hiring women to pilot the highway streamliners.

The manpower shortage is bringing about the innovation even though men bus drivers are classed as essential workers because of their importance to the nation's wartime transportation needs. However, in replacing men who have entered the armed services, the bus companies are making certain that the public won't apply the epithet of "that woman driver!" to any of the new operators. What's more important, the enviable safety records of the industry must be maintained.

Women drivers already employed are handling the shorter intercity routes. They were selected from thousands of applicants through rigid examinations for physical fitness, driving qualifications, mental alertness, neatness and courtesy. Similar standards are being set up by all intercity bus lines, the association reports. Before donning trim uniforms and taking up their war-essential work, the successful applicants are given intensive courses in actual bus driving by experienced driver-instructors.

Because the intercity bus industry was not in existence during the last war when similar manpower shortage problems were encountered, the employment of women drivers is really a new development and one that the operators accepted with some misgivings. The public has voiced no objections probably because riders are glad to have the bus come along, no matter whether a man or a woman is at the wheel. The very few criticisms received come, oddly enough, from other women who seem to resent that one of their sex has qualified for the job.

TIMBER MARKETING SERVICE FOR FRANKLIN COUNTY FARMERS

"To aid in supplying the timber for war needs much farm timber is being harvested," says W. C. Boyce, county agent. "This," he states, "is a patriotic service our farmers are rendering; but if we are to have timber for future use, we must cut this timber in a systematic manner, leaving growing stock on the land."

Mr. Boyce announces a new Farm Timber Marketing Service for Franklin County farmers. This service is being provided by the North Carolina Agricultural Extension Service in cooperation with the U. S. Forest Service to aid farmers in harvesting and marketing their timber. The purposes of this project are:

1. To aid in getting timber, lumber, pulpwood, and other products cut and moved to supply the war needs.

2. To assist farmers and other owners of small timber acreage in selecting, marking, and scaling timber of market size and quality in a manner to provide a systematic harvest and maintain the forest growing stock in a productive condition.

3. To assist those timber owners in finding markets, making sales, preparing marketing contracts, etc., for the various timber products.

4. To assist in developing a sound, working relationship between timber owners and sawmill operators, pulpwood contractors, and other harvesters and purchasers of timber.

5. To assist where feasible in the development of timber marketing cooperatives.

In this farm timber marketing work Franklin County will be grouped in Area VII with Wake and Chatham counties. Mr. James E. Hobbs, farm forester, will be in charge of the work in this area. Mr. Hobbs' headquarters are located at State College, Raleigh.
