SOLDIERS THANKS-GIVING MENU

Atlanta, Ga. — Traditional Thanksgiving dinner for the American soldier—turkey with all the trimmings—will be served at Army posts and camps in the seven southeastern states November 23, and there will be no skimping helpings.

The master menu, which is used as a guide in all mess halls, was released today by the Quartermaster, Fourth Service Command and specifies 100 pounds of turkey for every 100 men. It's going to be a busy day for the Army cooks, as they are not going to starve the boys for breakfast. Just to whet their appetites for the big feed at noon, the soldiers will be served this breakfast menu: Oranges (one orange per man), dry cereal, fresh milk, fried eggs, pork sausage, toast, butter, marmelade, coffee.

It's to be a day of feasting and the mess sergeants will feed 'em again at night, just like they hadn't had a belt-bustin' meal at noon. For supper they'll have: assorted cold cuts, sliced cheese, potatoe cakes, leftover vegetables, bread, butter, coffee, peanut butter. (Note to peanut growers: The supper menu calls for 6 1-4 pounds of peanut butter for every 100 men, or 625 pounds of peanut butter for each camp of 50,000 men.)

And here's what they'll have for that Thanksgiving Dinner: Grapefruit Juice, Roast Turkey with Giblet Gravy, Sage Dressing, Mashed Potatoes, String Beans, Corn, Cranberry Sauce, Lettuce with Russian Dressing, Celery, Olives, Pickles, Hot Rolls, Butter, Pumpkin Pie, Coffee, Apples, Tangerines, Candy, Nuts.

But there seems to be no cause of civilians to worry about a possible shortage of turkeys for their Thanksgiving dinner. While the total quantity required for the Armed forces has not been disclosed, the War Food Administration has advised that turkeys re-

STATE COLLEGE ANSWERS TIMELY FARM QUESTIONS

QUESTION: Can you give me any information on choline for proper animal and poultry nutrition, in addition to information on vitamins A and D?

ANSWER: Choline is of such recent prominence in nutrition research that we are not in a position to publish anything on this subject. "We have a number of years of study on the cystine and methionine requirements of pigs and it seems likely that choline may well be a part of this picture," Peterson reports.

QUESTION: What is the best temperature for curing sweet potatoes?

ANSWER: About 75 to 80 degrees is the best temperature for average conditions. Try for an even cure of all the potatoes. If the temperature is allowed to run up too high, the potatoes in the top tier of baskets will cure out much faster than those in the lower baskets and an uneven cure will result. Watch the baskets in the top tier and, if the potatoes show any evidence of sprouting, the heat should be lowered. After the potatoes are cured, try to keep them at a temperature of about 55 degrees. Much lower temperatures than this may result in cold damage.

QUESTION: Should I feed my beef calf while it is still nursing?

ANSWER: Yes, two ways of doing this feeding. The calf may be allowed to run with the cow and get his grain from a creep. Another plan is to separate the cow and calf after about 6 to 8 weeks of nursing, and allow the calf to nurse twice a day. Feed can be kept before the calf while he is in his stall.

In 1942, the two husbands were introduced just before Bruce Pope now Sgt. Pope, was inducted. "See you on the other side," Bill Jackson said as they parted. A year later, he was inducted too and in course of time went to India as a Pfc. in the Air Transport Command.

The two wives exchanged addresses, and the two husbands struck up a correspondence. On Oct. 27 of this year, Bruce walked into company headquarters at Bill's station and asked the first soldier he saw, "Do you know where I could find Bill Jackson?"

"I'm Bill Jackson," the soldier said. "What do you want?"

"I'm Pope from Charlotte—remember me." It had been more than two years since their casual meeting in civilian clothes, and it was no wonder they didn't recognize each other!

The two husbands are stationed twenty miles apart, across the world from their homes. The two wives, Lib an interviewer with the Unemployment Compensation Commission, and Annette, an interviewer with the Employment Service, have worked within shoutin' distance of each other for years.—Charlotte News.

JOIN THE NAVY

Recruiting of young men for the Navy, age 17, for the hospital corps, radio technician schools, Naval aviation and for the V-6 program in general will be continued by Petty Officer Louis H. Wilson at the Post Office in Louisburg on Tuesday, 2 to 5 p. m.

The Navy recruiter will be at Franklinton at the Post Office Wednesday, 9 a. m. to noon and will be at the Post Office in Henderson all day Monday.

"Qualified applicants will be enlisted with ratings in the hospital corps, in the radio technician schools and in Naval aviation," Petty Officer Wilson said, adding that "there are 53 other schools in the Navy and all recruits, regardless of educational achievements, will be given the Navy aptitude tests to determine their general qualifications for the various schools."

He emphasized that the Navy estimates at $12,000 the training given in the radio technician school.

"In the radio technician school there is a limited quota for young men, ages 18 to 37, who have been found qualified for military service," he added.

Meanwhile the recruiter said that "quotas for WAVES, ages 20 to 36, are unlimited at this time." The recruiter invited parents of 17-year-old boys to accompany their sons to the Post Office to discuss, with him, their educational opportunities in the V-6 program.
