

Receiving News

Writing

Setting Up

Proof Reading

Headlines

Ad Layout

Weather

Occasional rain with mild temperatures today and Friday. Low today, 52; high, 70.

Comment

The first essential in the security of a worker is to be able to work.

The Franklin Times

Published Every Tuesday & Thursday

Serving All Of Franklin County

Tel. GY 6-3283

Ten Cents

Louisburg, N. C., Thursday, October 15, 1964

(Ten Pages Today)

95th Year—Number 68

Statement By Louisburg Mayor Louis A. Wheless

During this National Newspaper Week, as Mayor of Louisburg and in behalf of all its citizens I want to take this opportunity to commend The Franklin Times, now in its 95th year of continuous publication, for the responsible, alert and energetic way in which it has contributed to our community's growth and development. To be really effective a local newspaper must be intimately a part of those whom it serves, and this The Franklin Times has been in its long and distinguished history. It has stood like a mirror before our community in reflecting its strong points and its shortcomings, its successes and its failures, its past, its present, and its hopes for the future; but it has also done more, for it has always encouraged worthwhile growth and development. In nearly 95 years The Franklin Times has had only four editors, Mr. J. A. Thomas, Mr. A. F. Johnson, Mr. Asher F. Johnson, Jr., and now Mr. Clint Fuller, and none of these gentlemen has ever sacrificed integrity as the price for popularity. As Mayor of Louisburg I take this occasion of National Newspaper Week to pay tribute to The Franklin Times and its trained and skilled personnel for the alert and vital job it has performed in keeping our people well informed.

Demos Hold District Rally In Henderson Tuesday

Senator Sam J. Ervin, Jr. praised President Lyndon Johnson by saying "he is the best qualified man to ever step up to the job of president," as he spoke to the Democratic Rally in Henderson Tuesday afternoon.

Politicians Hunt Doves At Epsom

The rally, arranged by Congressman L. H. Fountain for the Second Congressional district, was attended by over 500 Democrats from Franklin, Vance, Warren, Halifax, Northampton, Edgecombe, Wilson, Greene and Lenoir counties. Democratic gubernatorial Dan K. Moore also spoke, urging the continuance of Democratic control in North Carolina. Moore also spoke on his plans for improvement of the public schools.

The rally was held in the E. M. Rollins Junior High School, where the speaking was in the auditorium. That was followed by a free barbecue and Brunswick stew dinner, served cafeteria style, to all those in attendance.

The meeting got under way at 4:40 p.m., with Chairman Robert S. Hight of the Vance County Democratic Executive Committee presiding. Dr. W. W. Leathers, Jr., pastor of the First Baptist Church, gave the invocation.

Chairman J. Melville Broughton, Jr., of the State Democratic Executive Committee, was recognized and told the audience that the campaign is progressing satisfactorily in the State.

Dr. Charles F. Carroll, State superintendent of public instruction, spoke in behalf of the $100 million statewide bond issue for schools to be voted on next month and urged the necessity for its passage.

In his address, Senator Ervin said he was well acquainted with both President Johnson and Senator Goldwater, and both were his friends. Ervin referred to enactment of the civil rights measure, and said that if Republicans in House and Senate had stood with Southern Democrats the bill would not have been passed by either the House or the Senate.

The party included Tom Ellis and Charles Mason of Henderson, Joe Moss, Youngsville and Donald E. Price of Monroe in addition to Scott.

Scott toured the Epsom community, getting in some politicking and commented favorably on the sod waterways and strip cropping on the Weldon farm. Scott is a dairy farmer in Alamance County.

W. P. Childers, Chairman of Franklin County School Bond Committee, commented emphatically today on the need for 160 classrooms for the local schools. Franklin County will receive $689,955.73 from the $100 million Bond Issue to be voted on November 3rd. Local chairman stated that the urgent needs of the school depend on the success of this Bond Issue.

Senator David Clark, State Chairman of the Steering Committee, emphasized the State-wide needs. He pointed out that the event that the bond issue is not approved that each county will, through necessity, have to find ways and means to build their much needed classrooms.

as follows: GOVERNMENT SPENDING: "Federal spending must be accounted for in economy, efficiency and integrity." TAXES: "Further reduction of taxes and removal of inequities in tax laws; wartime federal excise taxes to be reviewed."

CIVIL RIGHTS: "The Civil Rights Law of 1964 deserves and requires full observance and effective enforcement. Lawless disregard for the rights of others is wrong and will not be tolerated."

MEDICARE: "We will continue to fight for inclusion of hospital care for older Americans in the Social Security program." EDUCATION: "New methods of financial aid must be explored, including the channeling of federally collected revenues to all levels of education."

ECONOMY: "Continue this present expansion of the American economy toward its potential, without a recession. See ELECTIONS Page 6"

Childers Comments On Bonds

Part IV

It has often been said of presidential elections that after the election is over, the platform of the party is forgotten. There is some indication that this has been true with some elections. However, the only tangible evidence of what a candidate plans to do should he win the election, is what has been promised by the candidate himself through the party platform.

In an effort to be all things to all people, political parties often indulge in promises designed to win the election, and this leads to platforms very similar. Writers have referred to this practice as "me-too-ism." But, regardless of this, most platforms do offer some choice to the voters. The two major party platforms this year probably differ to a greater extent than has any in the more recent past.

The main points in the Democratic Platform this year are

Inspection Time

Scene above shows members of local National Guard unit during annual Army Inspection here Wednesday. Major William R. Patterson, Inspector General's Branch, Third U. S. Army, was the inspecting officer. -Times Staff Photo.

National Guard Unit Holds Inspection Here

The local National Guard unit received complimentary expressions from the inspecting officer, as it stood its annual Army Inspection Wednesday night at the Louisburg Armory. Major William R. Patterson, Inspector General's Branch U. S. Third Army, Atlanta, Ga., was the inspecting officer.

The unit will receive a report and a grading of the inspection at a later date, but the inspection was termed satisfactory. Major Patterson commented upon inspecting the ranks that the men knew their jobs real well.

Lt. Col. Collin McKim of Louisburg is Battalion Commander and Capt. Robert C. Hill is Battery Commander. Visitors at Wednesday night's inspection included Brig. Gen. Kermit L. Guthrie, Assistant Division Commander, 30th Inf. Div., and Lt. Col. Carl Compton, 30th Inf. Div. Arty Staff, Greensboro. P.F.C. Jerry Mullen of Louisburg and Bunn won the coveted "Best Dressed Soldier" award. The local unit was "sharp" in its appearance during the hour long inspection of ranks and equally impressive during the second hour of training inspection. Equipment, equipment records and personnel records were inspected during the day Wednesday. The troops assembled inside the Armory Wednesday night. The local Headquarters Battery of the 133th FA BN stationed in Louisburg and the two rocket units at Zebulon and Youngsville usually, rate very high among the State units in performance and inspections.

OES To Meet

Wm. B. Barrow Chapter No. 39, OES, will hold a regular meeting on Tuesday, October 20th, beginning at 7:30 p.m., in the Masonic Temple on Jolly Street.

Local Teachers Elected To NCEA Offices

Mrs. Marjorie G. Leonard of Louisburg was elected president of the Home Economics Division, Mrs. Loy Malone Madison was elected Vice-President of the Science Division and Mr. J. E. Boyette was elected Secretary of the Agriculture Division at the East Central District convention of the North Carolina Education Association Tuesday at Chapel Hill.

The theme for the convention which was held at the University of North Carolina and Chapel Hill High School was "Education for World Understanding." Henry I. Willet, superintendent of Public Schools, Richmond, Va., presented the main address at the morning session on the topic, "Can There Be Understanding Between People of the Soviet Union and the United States?"

Following the morning sessions the NCEA members divided into division and department study groups. Included were the following: divisions of Classroom Teachers, Directors of Instruction, Principals and Superintendents; and the departments of Agriculture, Administration, Educational Secretaries, Elementary Education, English, Guidance Service, Health, Physical Education and Recreation;

Home Economics, Industrial Arts, Industrial Education, Mathematics, Modern Foreign Languages, Music, Retired Teachers, School Librarians, Science, Social Studies, Special Education and Food Service.

The NCEA East Central District includes ten counties--Durham, Franklin, Granville, Harnett, Johnston, Orange, Person, Vance, Wake and Warren.

Democracy's Brightest Hour: The Presidential Elections

By Clint Fuller

Part IV

It has often been said of presidential elections that after the election is over, the platform of the party is forgotten. There is some indication that this has been true with some elections. However, the only tangible evidence of what a candidate plans to do should he win the election, is what has been promised by the candidate himself through the party platform.

In an effort to be all things to all people, political parties often indulge in promises designed to win the election, and this leads to platforms very similar. Writers have referred to this practice as "me-too-ism." But, regardless of this, most platforms do offer some choice to the voters. The two major party platforms this year probably differ to a greater extent than has any in the more recent past.

The main points in the Democratic Platform this year are as follows: GOVERNMENT SPENDING: "Federal spending must be accounted for in economy, efficiency and integrity." TAXES: "Further reduction of taxes and removal of inequities in tax laws; wartime federal excise taxes to be reviewed."

CIVIL RIGHTS: "The Civil Rights Law of 1964 deserves and requires full observance and effective enforcement. Lawless disregard for the rights of others is wrong and will not be tolerated."

MEDICARE: "We will continue to fight for inclusion of hospital care for older Americans in the Social Security program."

ECONOMY: "Continue this present expansion of the American economy toward its potential, without a recession. See ELECTIONS Page 6"

present expansion of the American economy toward its potential, without a recession. See ELECTIONS Page 6"

Times Observes Newspaper Week

This is National Newspaper Week, set aside each year as a time to pay tribute to the newspapers of the nation for their contribution to the American way of life. The Franklin Times, now in its 95th year of service, is joining other newspapers across the country in observing Newspaper Week. Newspapers serve to keep the public informed. A free press insures a free people. Whether it be a rural newspaper, published once a week or semi-weekly as in the case of The Times, or whether it be a large city daily, nothing can take the place of a community's newspaper.

There are almost 10,000 daily and weekly newspapers that fall in the category of hometown newspapers. The Franklin Times is one of these. These newspapers bring to their readers a diet of local news and advertising, of much more interest to Aunt Charlotte than the foreign crisis in Viet Nam, which is being thoroughly

See TIMES Page 6

Shooting Page

Preparing Negative

Press Ready

Press Run

Mailing