Are You Eligible To Vote Dec. 15?

No doubt the question will be asked, "Am I eligible to vote in the December 15 Cotton and Tobacco Referendum?" According to program regulations, any producer who engaged in the production of tobacco and cotton in 1964 may vote in the referendum. Engaged in production means a person who actually shared in the crops or proceeds of the crop produced on the farm as owner-operator, cash tenant, landlord of a share-tenant, share-tenant, or sharecropper.

A landlord of a standing rent, cash rent, or fixed-rent tenant shall not be eligible to vote. The Franklin County ASCS Committee is in the process of selecting polling places in each community and these will be made known to the growers within the next few days.

Polling places will be sufficient to assure that all eligible voters have an opportunity to vote without having to travel very far.

Franklin County has recorded its first National 4-H Winner in history this week as Franklinton High School senior took top honors at the National 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Carroll Mode, 17-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Mode of Franklinton, is a 4-H National Winner in Electricity. She received a $500 scholarship at the electric banquet in Chicago Tuesday night of this week. Carroll is spending a week in Chicago and will arrive home December 4, 1964. This trip was awarded to her for being the State Electric Winner.

Miss Mode was the Franklin County electric winner five years ago and a district winner two years. She also has been the first place winner in the electric project in a 44-county area prior to this year. She has prepared 102 electric exhibits and presented 190 electric demonstrations. One of these demonstrations was the state winning demonstration this year. Carroll was asked to present this demonstration at National 4-H Club Congress this week in Chicago.

Along with this work, Miss Mode has started and worked very hard with the "Livewires" here in Franklin County. The "Livewires" is the name of the 4-H Electric Club. She has guided this club in well-informed tours, programs and workshops. Aside from the electric program, she has completed sixty-one projects. She has participated in the State Dress Review two years including this year and placed second in the girls' public speaking in the State this year. She also served on the radio committee at 4-H Club Week.

Miss Mode is the third Franklin County 4-H member to win a State award and to represent

North Carolina in national competition. Lindbergh Bunn of Justice, a student at the time at Edward Best High School, competed several years ago in the National Congress meeting in Washington, D. C. Erwin Fuller, Louisburg student, residing at Moulton at the time, represented North Carolina at the Congress held in Chicago a few years ago.

Some 33 N. C. boys and girls and seven adults are among the 1,500 delegates to Club Congress, which is being held at the Conrad Hilton Hotel.

Other national winners from North Carolina are C. J. Reynolds, of Biscoe, Route 1; Shirley Gene Bright, of Elizabeth City, Route 4; Roger Sharpe, of Harmony, Route 2; and C. G. Sorrell, of Durham, Route 4. All will receive a $500 scholarship from one of the more than 50 organizations which support 4-H work.

The Congressman is located in the Commissioners' Room and will be available there until 5 p.m. today to meet local citizens. Friday, Congressman Fountain will visit in the district-at-large, with no definite location announced. Next week he will be in Northhampton County and in the Kinston-Snow Hill area.

The purpose of the Congressman's visit is to get acquainted with the people in the Second District and to discuss current problems with them.

Welfare Christmas Program Announced

Mrs. Jane M. York, Director, Franklin County Welfare Department, announces that the Christmas program for the needy in the county will be essentially the same as last year. There will be no prepared Christmas boxes given to persons coming to the office. Cash donations are being requested in order for the department to bring cheer to all county children who are in Foster Homes and institutions which include those who are in orphanages and schools for the mentally and physically handicapped.

Adults who are in mental hospitals will also be remembered in this way.

There will be a worker available at all times (8:30 - 5:30 Monday through Friday) to receive telephone calls with regard to those needy families in the county for whom they might like to provide; however, the agency will be unable to receive gifts at the office for distribution.

Mrs. York said that she was confident that the community would cooperate as the response last year was most gratifying.

New Commissioners, Other County Officers Take Office Monday

Two new county commissioners will be sworn in next Monday when the board holds its regular monthly meeting. Richard H. Cash of Youngsville and E. M. "Buck" Sykes of Cedar Rock will replace Norris W. Collins of Franklinton and W. P.

Childers of Centerville shortly after 12 noon Monday.

Collins stepped down from the board in order to run for the House of Representatives against James Speed and James Moss in the Democratic Primary last May. He was eliminated in that race in the first primary. Sykes defeated Childers in the Primary to win his first seat on the board. He had failed to win a seat against Childers in the last election. The new members will take office at 12 noon or as soon as all old business is taken care of by the present board. Childers, under the rotating system, has been chairman of the board for the past year. A new chairman is expected to be chosen at the Monday session.

Cash was a member of the County Board of Education when elected to the seat on the board of Commissioners. He was serving his second term. Lee-lan Woodlief of Youngsville was named by the Democratic Executive Committee to fill Cash's unexpired term on the Education Board.

Present Commissioners that will continue to serve are: Norwood Faulkner of Louisburg; Claude Arnold, Louisburg business man, representing Harris-Dunn Townships; and George Harris, representing District 3, Hayesville-Sandy Creek.

Cash will represent District 2, Youngsville-Franklinton, and Sykes will represent District 4, Gold Mine-Cedar Rock. Both men are tobaccoists.

Other county officers, all incumbents, will begin their new terms shortly after noon Monday. Veteran Alex Wood, who led the ticket in the primary and the general election, defeating former Deputy Sheriff Ralph Beasley in the primary, will begin another term as Register of Deeds.

W. H. "Jack" Taylor, unopposed in the primary and general elections, will be sworn for another term as County Solicitor. W. F. Shelton, also unopposed, will enter another term as Judge of Recorder's Court Monday.

All Township Constables elected in the recent voting will take office Monday, either for a new term or another term in the case of several incumbents. Lloyd West, Louisburg merchant, who won a seat on the County Board of Education from Mrs. T. H. Weldon to represent the Hayesville-Sandy Creek District, will not take office until April, 1965, when the Education Board reorganizes.

Lions Club Entertained By Student

The Louisburg Lions Club met at the Murphy House last Tuesday evening at 6:30. Ken Barnes, a sophomore and liberal arts major at Louisburg College, entertained the Club with ballad singing and guitar playing.

Since Ken has been at Louisburg College, he has frequently been in demand. He has played and sung before various groups and has been a leading actor of the Louisburg Players.

The Club was reminded of the Christmas Party to be held at the Benjamin N. Duke College Union Building, the college cafeteria. Also, Lion Aubrey Tomlinson installed a new member, John W. Collins, the manager of First Citizens Installation of Louis and Trust Company in Louisburg.
