150th ANNIVERSARY

In the early days of our nation, farmers on the frontier had to be always alert to the dangers of crop damage from wild animals and the ever-present threat of raids from marauding Indians.

In 1816, Eliphalet Remington started making firearms in his father's forge near Utica, New York. To Americans of the time, guns were a household necessity, both for protection and for bagging game for the larder.

Can't Be Done
A group of foreign manufacturers being shown an American plant saw a machine that took a piece of steel and in one operation stamped, punched and shaped it into a finished product. After they had watched it for a while, an apparently bitter argument broke out. The guide asked the interpreter accompanying the party what the shouting was all about. "Some of them," said the interpreter, "insist that it can't be done."

Tiny Santa Trapped
Memphis, Tenn.--An eight-year-old boy could not resist when a roof repairman offered him $2 to play Santa Claus. The man tied a rope to De-Laurence Lott and lowered him into a chimney to retrieve a dropped hammer. All wasn't well, for it took firemen 45 minutes to tear down the chimney to retrieve the stuck "Santa."

Red-Faced

Las Vegas--It took 25 sheriff's deputies and four tear gas grenades to flush a man from an apartment. Too late, they learned Alphonso A. Monaco, 38, a beautician, broke into his own apartment because he'd lost his key. An off-duty detective reported the break-in.

Want Walls

Rutland, Vt.--Lt. Gov. John J. Daley was asked the reason for walls around the prison, and he explained: "They offer a sense of security to some inmates." Others on the State Prison Farm ask to be put back behind walls when they get "itchy feet."
