the Board of County Commissioners finally approved a tentative budget for 1967-68 last night around 10:30 p.m. In a special called meeting which began at 2 p.m. Wednesday afternoon, the Board rehashed almost every item in the proposed budget and heard from Mrs. Jane York, Welfare Director, and Warren Smith, Supt. of Schools, on budget cuts for the two departments.

Late Wednesday night, County Accountant Kenneth Braswell said he helieved that the rate would be $1.64 or eight cents above last year's $1.56 rate. Braswell said it would by sometime today before total budget figures could be ready for release.

The Welfare budget, target of much trimming along the way, was given approval after several adjustments were made late Wednesday. The school budget cut of two cents was held. Commissioner Brooks Young urged that one cent be placed back in the school budget to aid in maintaining reaccreditation, but Commissioners refused to agree.

The board did approve a $10 increase in travel for the Sheriff and his deputies and the Dog Warden. Also approved was expenditure from the current budget of $1,000 to assist the Town of Louisburg in paving the streets around the courthouse.

Recedes Tar River

Tar River, rising to tie a seven-year record of 18.20 feet here this week has receded today to a more normal 5.1 ft. at 7 a.m. . Weekend rains caused an unusual rise in the muddy Tar at the Main Street bridge.

Last Sunday's reading at the bridge was reported as 1.70 ft. By Monday the river had risen to 8 ft. and by Tuesday morning the reading was re-ported as 16.3 ft. It continued to rise reaching the 18,20 ft. late Tuesday, which tied the 1963 record.

It began receding Wednesday and read 16.80 ft. at 7 a.m. Flood stage is reported at between 21 and 22 ft. The last flooding conditions here occurred the week of May 8, 1958 when a 5 1/2 inch rain banks, flooding homes in the Shannon Village section of town. Water also damaged a basement storage area in Murphy's Super Market and caused Louisburg Milling Company, located near the dam, to remove several motors. Crops were damaged in the area and water covered the highways in several sections of the county.

The Tar flooded again the week of August 26, 1955 with damage running similar to that of 1958. Accounts of the flooding refer to the river being short of the all-time high in 1934. Readings in these flooding incidents are not

No damage has been reported due to the recent rise.

In other actions, the Board put off any actions concerning what members termed "rumors" about certain procedures used by Deputy Tax Collector W. J. Debnam in collecting past due taxes. The "rumors" referred to reports that Louisburg businessman Graham Holmes had given Debam two checks, one in 1965 and another in 1966, which were made payable to "Franklin County," but were cashed or deposited in Raleigh. Holmes says that it was sixty in the local tax office on one of the checks. Another reported question-

The study is being conducted in conjunction with the recently inaugurated community mental health demonstration project. This project has been launched in Franklin County by the Community Mental Health Section of the University of North Carolina Memorial Hospital at Chapel Hill with the cooperation of the Franklin County Board of Commissioners.

The information collected through the study, which will begin soon, will be used to plan better services as the project moves forward. All information obtained will be kept confidential.

question raised was whether or not such procedures are legal. County Attorney Charles Davis, who with Chairman E. M. Sykes had been directed to look into the complaints last week, reported that he found nothing wrong. He did however say that it was a matter of interpretation as to the legality of this type procedures.

Debnam was not present at the meeting and it was decided, without motion, but agreed on by all members, that he would be requested to attend the July meeting for a discussion of these complaints plus renewal of his contract, which expires June 30.

County Eligible For Aid

Word has been received here by letter from Charles S. Edwards, Economic Development Coordinator for North Carolina that Franklin County "will continue eligible to participate in the programs of the Economic Development Administration for, in all probability, at least an additional year beginning July 1st". The letter continued, "It is important that new and continuing town and county officials and other leaders throughout the county be acquainted and reminded of those extra economic strengthening and job-creating opportunities afforded by the programs of this Agency".

"The ages-old major methods of increasing tax flow into local, state and national rates. EDA was created to assist with increasing these tax totals by making possible new and improved job opportunities." The letter was addressed to County Commissioner Chairman E. M. Sykes, with a copy sent to W. J. Benton, Development Industrial Director and this newspaper.

County Gets Almost *350,000 For Road Improvements

Highway Division Commissioner J. B. Brame of Durham met here Wednesday afternoon with the Board of County Commissioners to discuss the 1967-68 Secondary Roads Programs. Brame informed the local governmental body that Franklin County is to get $348,250.00 for secondary road improvements in the coming fiscal year.

Accompanying Mr. Brame

here were: M. T. Adkins, Division Engineer; F. W. Adkins, District Engineer and James (Hoss) Alford, local highway official.

In addition to the 12.91 miles of secondary roads slated for improvements, some discussions were held concerning NC-56 and the already scheduled US-401-NC-39 project. The Division Engineer explained that it might be as late as early 1969 before work was actually begun on the US-401 project because of remaining field work, design of roadway, and obtaining rightof-ways.

He stated that some improvements would be made to NC-56, although it would not be a complete job. He indicated that some leveling of the highway would be accomplished using primary maintenance funds.

Horse Show Is Success

The Louisburg Lions Club convened at the Murphy House last Tuesday evening to discuss the results of the Horse Show and the year's work in general.

Lion M. G. Wilder termed the Horse Show a tremendous success despite the fact that this show was the first one ever staged in Franklin County by the Lions Club. He felt sure that another show next year would reap even greater profits. He also commended all the members who played a role in the show's success. Lion jects, slated to come from county bond money, includes 11.7 miles of paving and 1.2 miles of lesser improvements. The Commissioners approved the schedule of secondary projects, passing a requested resolution which is being forwarded to highway officials today: Added to the list recommended by state officials was State rural 1252 which runs from Vance county into Franklin. This dirt road had gained approval by Vance County Commissioners and in order to complete the road, Franklin was asked to add its endorsement.

In a separate resolution, the Commissioners gave approval to a dirt road running from Lickskillet in the northeastern part of the county to a state rural paved road. This improvement had been suggested by Rep. James D. Speed to the highway officials and quickly gained approval of the local county officials.

Roads and streets included in the proposed secondary program for the coming year include: Wes Sandling Road; Jim Thompson-Road; Wilder Street; Hayes Street; Franklin Avenue; Peach Tree Street; S. D. Pearce Road; Mitchell Store Road; Cottrell Road; Thompson Road (listed twice, once under total secondary and once under "base, pave and erosion control").

Booby-Trapped Intersection

Louisburg, like so many other towns and communities, has its own share of booby-trapp intersections. The fact that more accidents don't occur here, is a tribute to the care tak local and visiting motorists. The scene above is an example. The intersection is lo at East Nash Street and the Shannon Village road. Note the white car partially hidden is shrubbery and give thought to the potential danger for an unsuspecting motorist who gives only a casual glance in that direction before pulling into Nash Street. Shrubbery beautifies but it could also spell disaster when placed in the wrong location. Stoff Photo by Cl
