

Stallings, Parrish Speak Vows

Miss Wanda Lou Parrish and Lt. William Ivan Stallings of Fort Riley, Kansas were married Sunday at 4 P.M. in the White Level Baptist Church. Rev. Harold Steen officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake S. Parrish of Route 1, Castalia, N. C. and the groom, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Stallings of Route 2, Spring Hope, N. C.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of English net over peau de soie. The bodice, covered with re-embroidered alencon lace etched with pearls, was fashioned with a scalloped sabrina neck and long tapered sleeves which were enhanced with motifs of cutout lace and ended in points over the hands. A center panel of lace sprays and scalloped designs lavished the cage silhouette which was bordered at hemline with satin. The removable aisle-wide wateau attached at the shoulder with satin bow was adorned with triple scrolls of lace and frame of satin and extended into a full chapel train. Her bouffant veil of English silk illusion was caught to a cluster of organza bows which held a demi-cap of pearl leaves with lace inserts topped with a bejeweled lace rose centered with pearl and borealis crystal stems.

Miss Patricia Parrish, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Martha Stallings, sister of the groom, Miss Cynthia Parrish and Miss Sherry Parrish, cousins of the bride, Miss Carolyn Denton and Mrs. Janie Moss, cousins of the groom. Their formal gowns were of shocking pink silk chiffon over peau taffeta. The empire bodice of chant-lace curved at the lifted waist with satin band was styled with oval neck and to-the-elbow sleeves. The "A" silhouette was enhanced with an attached Mock coat marked with satin bows at the shoulder, which extended into a full cage back. Their headpieces were Victorian bows of silk chiffon with bubble veils of silk illusion.

The bride's mother wore an aqua knit dress, an orchid corsage, and matching accessories. The groom's mother chose a blue crepe dress, an orchid corsage, and matching accessories.

Mr. Stallings was his son's best man. James Stallings, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer. Ushers were Wayne Parrish, brother of the bride, Jimmy Stallings, brother of the groom, Steve Crowder, cousin of the bride, Cecil Wilson, cousin of the groom, and Steve Bobbitt.

Following the wedding, the couple left for a wedding trip to Manhattan, Kansas where they will reside.

The bride is a 1967 graduate of Edward Best High School and is a dental assistant. The groom, a 1966 graduate of Edward Best High School, attended Chowan College at Murfreesboro, N. C. and is an officer in the United States Army.

Health And Beauty

Certain experiments in the field of nutrition lead us to believe that there is an important connection between nutrition and mental health.

Improper diet can cause a lack of the necessary nutrients to supply the tissues they are unable to use the nutrients they do receive to best advantage. Thus a dangerous chain reaction is brought about.

General poor body health is thus brought about, and this in itself is almost always a factor in mental illness.

Experiments with glutamic acid and glutamine indicate that nutrients may play some part in the ailment of epilepsy. If this is true, it would seem possible that countless other defects may be helped or prevented by careful attention to diet.

For many years it has been common knowledge that the vitamin B family was important to the nervous system—so much so, in fact, that it is often called the nerve vitamin.

Some doctors tell us that the tranquilizing drugs may have an effect on the way our bodies make use of various vitamins. This is, more or less, just a theory.

One thing almost all doctors do agree on is that to depend too strongly on tranquilizers is a dangerous thing. It would be hard to find one adult in the world whose life did not contain some degree of tension. We must learn to live with our tensions and to conquer them whenever possible.

then turned the program over to Mrs. James Clayton who spoke to the group on Edith Wharton, an American novelist from the "four hundred set" in New York. Mrs. Clayton first gave a biographical sketch of the novelist's life, explaining that Mrs. Wharton first began her writing career as an emotional outlet. In 1921 she was awarded the Pulitzer Prize for her novel, The Age of Innocence. Her most representative novels deal with the social and psychological conflicts of wealthy society in New York.

Mrs. Clayton chose to discuss with her club members Mrs. Wharton's Ethan Frome, a domestic tragedy dealing with three people of the poorer class of rural New England caught in a triangle from which there was no escape. Critics agree that Ethan Frome is probably the best written and most popular of her novels, but Mrs. Wharton did not agree with the critics.

Although the club members felt, as Mrs. Clayton revealed the plot, that the story would have an unhappy ending, the author's crushing use of irony and symbolism made the conclusion a complete surprise. Guests and members present were the following: Mesdames Paul Elam, L. M. Word, H. J. Lewis, Anne W. Davies, Wilbur Jolly, Norwood Jones, C. W. Howard, Michael Palmer, Gladys Bailey, G. M. Beam, Jr., G. M. Beam, Sr., James Clayton, B. L. Patterson, Norman Chadwick, Fred Lohmuller and Dr. Ann Blumenfeld.
